LOANS BY R. F. C. OVER BILLION IN FIRST 5 MONTHS

Illinois Banks' Aid 132 Millions.

Complete figures on R. F. C. loans to banks in Chicago and suburban territory will be found on page 10.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 26.—[Special.]—Details of the Reconstruction Finance corporation's transactions, revealing that the governmental relief agency pledged a total of one billion 126 million dollars in the first five months of its existence, were made public for the first time today before the house of representatives. Speaker John N. Garner gave publicity to the records in spite of the known wishes of the corporation directors that secrecy be kept inviolate.

The records show that the Central Republic Bank and Trust company of Chicago received last June a loan of $90,000,000. Of this sum $23,576,238 has been repaid, leaving a balance of $66,423,761 outstanding.

Illinois Life Borrower.

Another Chicago institution, the Illinois Life Insurance company, which recently failed, received $420,000 of an authorized loan of $425,000 from the corporation.

Of the total amount pledged in the five month period from Feb. 2, 1932, to July 21, 1932, Illinois banks, insurance companies, mortgage and building and loan organizations received $137,319,500. Of this total $132,480,500 went to banks.

Additional loans were given several Chicago banks, running their total loans over the million mark.

The huge loan to the Central Republic bank, of which former Vice President Charles G. Dawes was chairman, was made in two installments. The first, for 16 million dollars, was authorized July 25. Two days later the second, amounting to 74 million dollars, was authorized.

Garner Rules for Publicity.

The corporation's statement was sent to Speaker Garner in compliance with a special resolution adopted by the house. In making the statement public Mr. Garner said that since the loans granted after July 21 had been published under an amendment to the original R. F. C. act the earlier loans should also be made public.

Of the $218,944,523 borrowed from the corporation by the railroads, $11,722,149 has been paid back.

In Chicago the corporation made 117 separate loans, of which the majority were to banks. The total number of loans for the state was 396. The largest loan made to a downstate bank was $3,400,000 to the Moline Trust and Savings bank. The Rock Island Bank and Trust company, a neighboring institution, received $1,000,000.

Report Avidly Studied.

Following its introduction in the house the voluminous report, composed of 150 finely printed pages, was an object of avid study by the representatives. It was considered unlikely that any investigation would be suggested until the members have sufficient time to read and digest the statement.

Criticism of some of the larger loans was voiced by some of the members. Representative Howard [Dem., Neb.], who sponsored the special resolution through which the loans were made public, pointed to the loan of $64,498,000 to the San Francisco Bank of America.

Attacks 64 Million Loan.

"It seems strange," he said, "that the corporation should make a loan of 64 millions to a syndicate of foreigners and want to keep it secret, while a farmer who borrows $200 for crop production is blacklisted and his loan posted throughout his country. I still see no reason to make fish of the farmer and beautifully feathered fowls of the big foreign borrowers."

The corporation also submitted its regular December report showing approval of loans and allocations in that month of 154 million dollars.

Chilean Senator Kills Engineer in Pistol Duel

SANTIAGO, Chile, Jan. 26.—(AP)—A pistol fight here today resulted in the death of Marcos Orrago, an engineer, and in serious injuries to Senator Jose Maza. Police said it was a quarrel over private affairs. The engineer, they said, fired two shots at the senator, whereupon Maza fired six shots, killing his assailant. The senator's condition was said to be serious. He is widely known in Latin America and frequently he has represented Chile on missions abroad. He wrote the constitution of 1925.

CHICAGO SAVES $437,000 FROM SENATE ACTION

Pass Economy Bill by 43 to 0.

BY PERCY WOOD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 27.—[Friday.]—[Special.]—Post-midnight legislation insured a savings of $437,000 to Chicago taxpayers early this morning when the Illinois senate passed a bill to eliminate registration for the aldermanic election, now required by law next Tuesday.

At exactly 12:03 o'clock, Lieut. Gov. Donovan banged his gavel in the brightly lighted senate chamber—the one consequential light in the otherwise darkened statehouse. A group of senators who had remained in charge, just to make certain that the bill reaches Gov. Horner's desk later today or tomorrow, filed through the echoing halls and took their seats.

Majority Leader Graham of Chicago then explained the provisions of the economy measure briefly, and without further delay the roll was called. The bill passed by a vote of 43 to 0.

To Use November Polls.

Thus was completed a series of swift legislative moves necessary in order that the bill be signed in time to abolish the registration. Last November's poll books will be used for the aldermanic election Feb. 28 and changes of address must be made by new registration with the election commissioners. Others who will be entitled to vote, but who are not on the poll books, may also add their names to the lists by appearing at the city hall.

Other measures of the economy program, including the nomination of successors to Gov. Horner's place on the Probate bench and Judge Allegretti's seat on the Municipal bench by county and city conventions, are expected to be passed later, perhaps next week.

During its session yesterday the senate passed a joint resolution presented by Earl B. Searcy [Rep., Springfield] which calls upon tax levying officials of municipalities to fix a tax rate which will reduce real estate taxes "at least 50 per cent."

Horner Gets Report.

Gov. Horner and the legislature also received the report of the Illinois commission on taxation and expenditure headed by Senator Martin R. Carlson [Rep., Moline], which proposes consolidation and simplification of local governments in the state and reductions in the cost of the state government.

Claims that if its recommendations were carried out the state would be saved $16,000,000 during the current biennium without serious injury to the functions of government, were made for the report. These include reductions totaling almost $5,350,000 in the appropriations of seven state departments and the abolition of commissions and divisions now authorized which would save another $1,400,000.

Among the suggestions for Cook county were the abolition of the office of coroner, and the simplification of the school governments.

A majority of members of the commission were Republicans. The Democratic members presented a minority report disagreeing with some of the reduction items as injurious to good governmental operation.

Benjamin F. Lindheimer, whose appointment as chairman of the Illinois commerce commission was confirmed by the senate yesterday, today mailed his resignation as president of the Chicago board of local improvements to Mayor Cermak. He will assume his new position tomorrow.

INVENTS CORPSE TO GET A LOAN AND HE GETS IT

Police circles were considerably exercised last night when it was reported the body of a man who had died of gunshot wounds was about to be delivered at the undertaking establishment of John Egan, 5908 South Kedzie avenue. Egan is a candidate for alderman in the 13th ward.

Investigation disclosed that a stranger had gone to the Egan parlors and, after making arrangements to have a body that was once named McCassidy delivered, had attempted to borrow a few dollars from Roger Jacobs, assistant to Egan. Failing, he went across the street to a filling station and persuaded Joseph Mathy, night attendant, to let him have $7, to be used in transporting the body.

The police are sure there was no body and that the story was invented to enable the teller to get the loan.

U. S. Demands All Records of Halsey-Stuart

The banking committee of the United States senate late yesterday subpoenaed officials of the Halsey, Stuart & Co. investment house to produce all records of their bond business in Washington next Monday.

By terms of the subpoena, Halsey-Stewart, one of the three largest bond houses in the country, are required to clear out the vaults of their office at 201 South La Salle street immediately, pack the books in vans or a railway express car, and have them ready for inspection by the banking committee in the senate wing of the national capitol Monday afternoon.

Investigating Insull Crash.

James E. Stewart, chief investigator for the senate committee, said last night that the subpoena was issued in connection with the senate inquiry into the collapse of the Insull utilities system, in which Harold L. Stuart, president of Halsey-Stuart, was a principal factor with Samuel Insull. Mr. Stewart added that the subpoena called for all of Halsey-Stuart's books.

Harold Stuart was in New York last night, but the secretary of his company, C. T. MacNeille, on whom the subpoena was served, remained in conference to a late hour with attorneys for the concern on whether to obey the subpoena or resist it, thereby incurring the possibility of a contempt citation from the senate.

In the event the company decides to resist it is reported that its officers will invoke the fourteenth amendment as a defense, claiming that obedience to the senate subpoena would force them to suspend business, thereby depriving them of their property without due process of law.

Several Weeks of Bickering.

Investigator Stewart whipped out the subpoena yesterday following several weeks of bickering between members of his staff and Halsey-Stuart officials over the right of his investigators to scrutinize the records during business hours, it was learned.

When Investigator Stewart first served his demand for entry to the Halsey-Stuart offices, Mr. Stuart made objection on two points, it is said. In the first place, he pointed out, when Halsey-Stuart threw open all their books to the senate investigators in the matter of the Wardman Properties, Inc., last summer, the investigators took advantage of the privi-

NEW WARRANT IS ISSUED FOR MARTIN INSULL

A new warrant asking extradition of Martin J. Insull from Canada was reported issued yesterday by Justice Kingstone of the court at Toronto. Insull is under indictment here for larceny and embezzlement.

The warrant, according to Toronto dispatches, was procured by Edward Bayly, deputy attorney general at Barrie, Ont., and special counsel for State's Attorney Courtney of Chicago.

While Mr. Courtney could not be reached last night, it was understood the purpose of the warrant was to transfer jurisdiction of the extradition matter from the provincial court at Barrie to the higher court at Toronto. Another hearing on the case, already continued five times, is scheduled for early in February.

Under Mr. Bayly's reported plan of procedure the present warrant, under which Insull is at liberty on $50,000 bond at Barrie, would be dismissed by his own application, leaving him free to press his case before the Toronto court.

$8,000 Year Senate Barber Bill; U. S. Pays

Washington, D. C., Jan. 26.—[Special.]—Members of the senate during the fiscal year ending June 30 consumed, at the expense of taxpayers, 500 aspirin tablets, one bottle of bromo seltzer, one package of soda-mint tablets, three pounds of bicarbonate of soda, two bottles of mouthwash, three pints of medicated alcohol and five gallons of witch hazel, the annual report of the secretary of the senate reveals.

The report, which is a limited edition—one for each senator and none for the public—was off the press only today, and was a topic of considerable sarcastic discussion, not for publication, among such senators as see a touch of humor in a barber bill of $8,000, and a mineral water bill of $8,850 [including ice], run up at the taxpayers' expense by a senate which is on record [vocally] as favoring the utmost economy in the federal establishment.

Salaries of Senators.

Some other items in the report were salaries of senators, $1,149,000; other salaries, $1,893,000; reporting proceedings of the senate, $60,340; kitchens and restaurants, $64,237; California redwood for manufacture into boxes, $599; postage, $800, and stationery, $44,147.09.

The appropriation was $4,116,455, of which $128,227 was still on hand at the end of the fiscal year.

A careful study of the report indicates that Washington water does not agree with senate members. They like mineral waters, and all the standard kinds are included in the bill.

Just how many bottles were consumed is not given, but the total, at 25 cents a bottle, indicates that the number was in excess of 25,000.

Shaved, Singed at U. S. Expense.

Where senators are shaved and singed at government expense lends itself to the most abstruse speculation as to profit and loss and distribution of barber attention.

An analysis of the item for barbers' salaries alone would indicate that the government is losing money.

If each of the 96 senators were shaved every day except Sunday and paid at the market price of 25 cents a shave, it would cost in the aggregate $24 a day or $144 a week.

The haircut bill, allowing a haircut a week per member, would run to $48 in one week.

During a thirty week session, the total market cost of haircuts and shaves would be $5,760. As a matter of fact, the salaries of barbers, who are listed as skilled laborers, actually amounted in the fiscal year to $8,400 and the senators pay nothing for it.

Varner Corry Wins Freedom in 2d Trial

Red haired Varner Corry, 17 years old, who shot and killed a policeman who interrupted him as he was taking a forbidden swim in the pool at the John Marshall High school on Memorial day, 1931, was found not guilty of murder last night by a jury in the Criminal court of Judge Thomas J. Lynch.

The case was given to the twelve men known, from their propensity for music, as "the singing jury," at 3:20 p. m. yesterday. [During their free moments outside the courtroom the jurymen frequently joined in chorus, their favorite melody being "Sweet Adeline."]

Late in the afternoon, no agreement having been reached, the jurymen sent out for dinner. It was furnished and Judge Lynch decided that he would have dinner, too. Shortly after the jurymen's dinner dishes were cleared away it was announced that a verdict was ready. It was then barely past 7 o'clock, but the court was not prepared to receive the decision until about 8 p. m.

Parents Thank Jurors.

Young Corry was led in from the lockup, where he had been alternately praying and weeping while awaiting the verdict. He showed immediate relief when it was made known he was acquitted. As his father, Robert Corry, and his mother, a school teacher, crowded forward to thank the jury and Attorney James M. Burke, defense counsel, Varner made a brief statement.

"I am going to be good from now on," he said. "I have learned my lesson and I'll never touch a pistol again."

The man the boy killed was Policeman Edward Smith, sitting alone in the rear of the courtroom as the rest of the crowd, which had cheered the verdict, moved up to the rail was Mrs. Helen Smith, widow of the slain man. An inquirer requested her to comment.

"What can I say?" she asked slowly. "I only know my husband is dead."

Jurors Silent on Verdict.

Raymond Kelley, 1630 East 75th street, foreman of the jury, and other members of the body were asked on what ground the verdict was reached. The youth had admitted the shooting, but said he "didn't realize what he was doing." Was it his youth, the feeling that he had already been punished enough, or a theory that his mental processes were not normal that gave him his freedom?—this was the question propounded to the jurymen.

All said that they didn't have to tell why or how they had reached their decision—and wouldn't.

The charge of murder was tried before Judge Joseph Sabath about a year ago without a jury and young Corry was sentenced to eighteen years in prison. An appeal to the Supreme court brought a reversal and an order for a new trial.

During the trial just ended Corry testified that he had gone to the school on the holiday to return the pistol which he had stolen from an instructor's desk. Defense counsel argued that he was at the time under the influence of lurid movies and hair raising books and consequently could not tell right from wrong, and moreover was terror stricken when caught by Policeman Smith.

Prosecutor Attacks Defense.

Assistant State's Attorney Charles S. Mueller in the closing argument for the prosecution ridiculed this contention. Corry intended to use the gun if detected, he declared, and the policeman walked into a death trap. He did not demand a death penalty, but was successful in having a possible manslaughter verdict, requested by Attorney Burke, kept out of the jury's instructions.

The youthful killer has been in jail since the killing—just a few days less than twenty months.

WINS 'PATRICIA' IN RAFFLE; THIEF PREVENTS FEAST

Edward H. White, 5338 Ellis avenue, attorney and retired brigadier general of militia, last night requested the aid of the police in a search for a small white pig answering to the name of Patricia.

"I won Patricia in an Elks club raffle," said Mr. White. "She had a red nose, white hair, pinkish white skin, and a white tail. She was three months old and weighed thirty pounds. I had invited about a dozen friends to join me Sunday and feast on Patricia, but when I got home I found she had been stolen from the back yard."

DE VALERA IS IN; FAILS TO OBTAIN FULL CONTROL

Election Is Seen as Blow to Britain.

BY JOHN STEELE.

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, Jan. 27.—[Friday.]—With more than half the results of Tuesday's election of a new dail eireann in and the counting of ballots dragging on, the Irish vote, while proving a landslide for President Eamon de Valera's Fianna Fail party from the viewpoint of votes cast, will by no means cause a great overturn in the seats in the dail, according to latest calculations. At the same time the result is a distinct blow to Great Britain.

Early this morning, with 41 seats still undecided, the party standing was: Fianna Fail [De Valera party], 56; Cumann na nGaedheal [former President William T. Cosgrave's party], 34; Labor, 6; Center, 8; Independent, 7, and Independent Labor, 1. At this stage of the tabulation De Valera's own party had exactly half the seats decided. The supporting six seats of Labor gave him a handy margin, however.

Comparison with Old Dail.

The full dail consists of 153 members. In the last dail the Fianna Fail had 72 members and with 7 Laborites managed to form a government with only a slender majority. The Cumann na nGaedheal had 57 seats, Independents, 11; Independent Labor, 2, and the Farmers' party, 4.

The Fianna Fail may win one or two more seats from the Center party and Cumann na nGaedheal, but it may just as likely lose some on second preference counts, so that the original prediction of a very small majority in the dail for the victor still holds good.

At the same time there is no doubt what the mind of the country is. Had the election been held on the American system of straight voting in single member constituencies, De Valera would have been swept into complete control of the dail and the election would have been an undoubted indorsement of his policy by a large majority of the Irish people.

Future Policy Uncertain.

What De Valera will do with his new prestige he has not yet told and no one knows. He certainly has not got and has not asked for a mandate for a republic, but he will be in a stronger position to negotiate with Great Britain on land annuities and other questions in dispute.

Some think he may try to settle the economic war with Britain and appeal again to the country before long on the issue of a republic.

A notable feature of the election is the return of every one of the present cabinet ministers with increased majorities, while Cosgrave's former ministers either have gone down in defeat or are fighting hard to retain their seats.

Ernest Blythe Beaten.

The greatest losses to Cosgrave were the defeats of Ernest Blythe, former finance minister under Cosgrave, and Prof. Michael Hayes, former speaker of the dail. Both are outstanding men and even their opponents are sorry to see them go.

Desmond Fitzgerald, Cosgrave's former minister of defense, is in trouble in Carlow, Kilkenny, but the final result is not yet known. Frank MacDermot, founder of the Center party, which is pro-Cosgrave, is still fighting in Roscommon, but the count was suspended today and MacDermot may win third or fourth place.

At least two women were elected. One is Mrs. Concannon, Fianna Fail member, who defeated Prof. Hayes. The other is Mrs. Redmond of Waterford, a Cosgrave follower. Mrs. Collins O'Driscoll, a sister of the late Michael Collins, still has a chance to win.

Probably an approximation of the final result will be known tomorrow night, but Donegal, West Cork, and Mayo, which have many outlying islands, may not be completed until Saturday night or even next week. They are not, however, likely to affect the final result as known tomorrow.

VOTE SYSTEM EXPLAINED.

The transferable vote system employed in the Irish Free State elections is designed to do away with the "wasted vote" which is cast either for a candidate who already has his quota or for one who already has been hopelessly eliminated. It also tends to give minorities a better chance for representation.

The number of seats in the dail to which a district is entitled varies in proportion to the population. To illustrate the workings of the electoral system it may be assumed that three members are to be chosen from the district under consideration.

Each voter indicates his preferences by writing the figures 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, etc., before the names of the candidates on the ballot. Even though only three are to be elected, he may mark an indefinite number in the order of his preference, because the fourth or fifth choice may figure in the count after the judges have begun their process of elimination.

The officials' first step is to determine the quota necessary for election by dividing the total valid ballots by the number of representatives to be chosen and adding 1. Then the ballots are sorted according to first choice.

If no one has made the quota, the process of elimination begins. The candidate with the least number of votes is ruled out and all of his ballots are scanned for second choice. The eliminated candidates' votes are then distributed among these second choices. If even then no one has a quota, the next lowest candidate is eliminated and the process of distribution is repeated.

Surplus Is Divided.

After a candidate has attained his quota, his votes are set aside and the officials attack the remaining ballots to bring two more candidates to the top (inasmuch as three are to be chosen from the district under consideration). It may happen that the second or third choice on any one ballot has already attained his quota or been eliminated. In that case, the officials simply take the next available choice, even though it be fifth or sixth.

If at the first sorting a candidate has more votes than he needs for election, his surplus is distributed among those who are marked second choice on his extra ballots. A chance drawing determines which of his ballots are considered part of the surplus (and therefore to be distributed) and which of his ballots are considered part of the quota (and therefore to be set aside).

END ARGUMENTS IN HAYES ALIMONY CASE TOMORROW

Arguments on the legal aspects of the alimony case involving Municipal Judge Howard W. Hayes and his former wife, Mrs. Grace Houston, 1400 Lake Shore drive, will be concluded tomorrow morning in the court of Circuit Judge Philip Finnegan.

Mrs. Houston, who resumed the name of her first husband, from whom she also was divorced, asks that Judge Hayes be sentenced for contempt of court because he is more than $1,000 in arrears in alimony. Judge Hayes asks that the provision of the divorce decree granted to his former wife in 1918, giving her $225 a month alimony, be set aside. He says Mrs. Houston's contention that she has no independent means of support was a misrepresentation.

Evidence was introduced showing that over a ten and one-half year period after the decree was granted Mrs. Houston deposited in a bank a total of $116,093, which, according to E. D. Adcock, counsel for Judge Hayes, was more than the judge's income for that period.

Attorney William L. Bourland argued that any improvement in the financial condition of Mrs. Houston after the decree had no bearing on the case, inasmuch as it was a "consent decree," binding both parties, who agreed neither would ask for a change so long as Judge Hayes made $9,000 a year. Judge Hayes estimated his 1933 salary at $7,800.

Retired Engineer Missing After He Collects $2,500

The Austin police were asked last night to search for Robert Edwards, 55 years old, 5223 Fulton street, who was last heard from at 10:30 a. m. yesterday after he presumably collected $2,500 from an attorney. His stepson, Kenneth Walbridge, of the same address, said the last heard of Edwards was a telephone call at that hour in which he said he was at Madison street and Kedzie avenue, that he had seen the attorney and that he would return home in half an hour. The attorney, according to the stepson, is H. L. McCarthy of Salem, O., and the money was Edwards' share from the sale of a bankrupt firm in the Ohio city. Edwards is a retired locomotive engineer.

House Wets Get 2 Hours to Debate It Today.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 26.—[Special.]—House wet leaders were laying plans tonight to slash at least 20 per cent or $1,800,000 from the proposed nine million dollar appropriation for enforcement of the liquor laws.

They won an initial victory today, when by unanimous consent the house agreed to reserve two hours at the beginning of tomorrow's session exclusively for the battle. The liquor law appropriation will be taken up as soon as the house meets, with an hour for debate allotted to the wets and an hour to the drys.

New York to Fire First Shot.

Representative Anthony J. Griffin [Dem., N. Y.], will fire the first shot in the wet bombardment with an amendment to cut the $9,100,000 appropriation by 20 per cent, bringing it 25 per cent lower than the amount requested by the budget bureau. Failing to achieve the 20 per cent slash, the wets will attempt to pass an amendment providing for a 13 per cent cut, bringing the reduction in the liquor enforcement fund to the same level as cuts made in the department of commerce appropriation.

Should the house decline to effect even the 13 per cent cut, Representative John Holden Tinkham [Rep., Mass.], will offer an amendment to strike out $125,000 which director of prohibition Amos W. W. Woodcock recently testified was expended for the purchase of liquor as evidence; another to strike out $70,000 used for purchase of stoolpigeon information, and an amendment prohibiting the use of any of the appropriation for wire tapping activities.

Recommit Supply Bills.

Representative Fred A. Britten [Rep., Ill.], is to offer a motion to recommit the four department supply bills carrying the dry fund should all efforts to reduce the liquor appropriation fail.

Mr. Britten explained that wet leaders will not attempt to cut enforcement money off entirely at this time, because the liquor laws still are on the statute books and it is felt that complete elimination of money to enforce the law should await repeal of the prohibition act.

MASTER REPORTS ON GUNN-JONES ESTATE CONTEST

Circuit Judge Hugo Friend yesterday received the report of Master in Chancery Jacob Arvey upon the suit in which 13 relatives of the late Kitty Gunn-Jones, who died at the age of 74 in September, 1930, leaving a $1,000,000 estate, seek to invalidate her marriage to Maj. George W. Jones and prevent him from retaining her fortune.

Mrs. L. E. Thompson and Mrs. Jessie Koch, Mrs. Gunn-Jones' sisters, and eleven other relatives charge that she was incompetent at the time of the marriage in July, 1925, and unable to enter into the marriage contract. They charge that Jones is thus not entitled to the estate as her husband.

For eight months testimony was taken before Master Arvey and his report, recommending the finding that Mrs. Gunn-Jones was sane at the time of the marriage, was filed yesterday. The master also found that Mrs. Gunn-Jones was a good business woman. He urged that the insanity charges be heard by Judge Friend without a jury and the judge ruled there was no reason for a jury trial after the long hearings before Master Arvey. Arguments on other phases of the report will be heard soon.

WOMAN ROBBED OF PURSE.

Mrs. Robert Blomberg, 6107 St. Lawrence avenue, was robbed of her purse, containing $7, yesterday by two youths who halted her in the 6200 block in Langley avenue.

WOMAN DRY STIRS WEST VIRGINIANS FOR U. S. DRY REPEAL

Charleston, W. Va., Jan. 26.—[Special.]—One of this state's self-styled original drys, Mrs. S. W. Price, Democratic delegate from Fayette county, aided the wet block in the state legislature today. She acted to advance to second reading a house resolution to memorialize congress to submit the question of outright repeal of the 18th amendment to the states.

She also aided in eliminating all references to the saloon. Her reason, she told the delegates, amid applause, was this:

"I'd just as soon have liquor in the saloons as in every basement in the land.

"I was one," she declared on the floor, "who believed in President Hoover's 'noble experiment.' I apologize."

Speaker Ralph M. Hiner had difficulty in restraining the applause. "The amendment," Mrs. Price added, according to the speech as printed in the house records, "has made us a nation of liars and hypocrites. When the Shrine meets, the liquor flows. When the boys meet, it flows; when the lawyers meet, it flows; when the medical society meets, it flows; when business men meet, it flows. I know. I speak your language.

"Men, don't lose your heads, for we women ask you to do something about this horrible mistake."

The resolution, before a house preponderantly wet, is expected to pass tomorrow and be sent to a wet senate for concurrence.

PRISONER FREED; KILLS MAN WHO SOLD HIS DOG

New York, Jan. 26.—[Special.]—Affection for a dog brought Bernardo Machese into court here today, charged with murder.

When Machese was sentenced to Elmira prison for grand larceny in January, 1931, he entrusted the care of his spotted mongrel pup to a friend, Cosmo Castagna, of Brooklyn.

Castagna promised the best of treatment for Machese's canine pal. In turn Machese promised to pay Castagna amply when he was free again, and went to prison in better spirits.

Last summer Machese, free on parole, hastened to claim his dog, but failed to find him at Castagna's home. Castagana told Machese that the pup had wandered away. Machese, however, learned that Castagna had sold the dog. He went to Castagna's home and shot him dead, according to the police. Machese denied it in court.

REFEREE ORDERS CONTINUANCE OF INSULL HEARING

Garfield Charles, federal referee in bankruptcy, ordered a second continuance yesterday in the matter of electing a trustee for the $250,000,000 Insull Utility Investments, Inc.

The referee told the 300 Insull investors who jammed his chambers at 100 West Monroe street that he was adjourning the case to Feb. 9 to permit the United States District court to review his decision disqualifying Calvin Fentress, whom the creditors elected trustee before the first adjournment a week ago.

Samuel Insull Jr. and six Chicago bankers, whom Samuel Ettelson, former corporation counsel, had subpoenaed to establish his charge that the Insull Utility Investments receivership was arranged by Samuel Insull Sr. and the banks, were sworn as witnesses and instructed to return on Feb. 9.

It is understood that the review of the referee's decision will be made by Federal Judge George A. Carpenter, rather than by his colleague, Federal Judge Walter C. Lindley, who originally named Mr. Fentress receiver of the company.

NATIONAL PARK SERVICE PLANS EXHIBIT AT FAIR

An exhibit of the national park service for a Century of Progress will include a model of Mount Rainier, 9 feet high and 20 feet wide, illuminated by variegated lights to show the mountain as it appears from noon to twilight. An announcement of plans for the exhibit was made yesterday in an Associated Press dispatch from Washington, quoting Horace M. Albright, director of the park service.

Mr. Albright said that a glacier of ice will extend down the mountainside in the exhibit, and a snow storm will be reproduced by pressing a button.

In the geology section in the hall of science at the exposition the earth sciences as shown in the national parks will be exhibited in eleven models, some of them showing the Grand cañon, the Carlsbad caverns, Kilauea volcano, the Yosemite valley, and the petrified forests of Arizona.

SALVATION ARMY REPORTS ON HELP GIVEN DURING 1932

The Salvation Army's service to Chicago during 1932 is reviewed in the annual report made public yesterday at a meeting of the army board in the Palmer house.

"The report helps us to appreciate the immense amount of service which the army has given to the needy in the last year," said Lewis E. Myers, chairman of the board, who read the report. "We treated 75,105 persons in free dispensaries, 39,293 persons in hospitals, and 4,098 in dental clinics. We gave aid to 2,805 discharged prisoners and found employment for 5,840 persons.

"We gave out 90,278 baskets of food, distributed 2,355 tons of coal, and even located 189 missing persons. In family relief we cared for 25,293 cases."

Commissioner W. A. McIntyre told how the army is called upon in these days, more than ever before, for social service.

"There is an appalling situation among young girls today," the commissioner said. "In the last year 2,667 unmarried girls entered our homes and hospitals, 2,344 of whom have already become mothers."

Mr. Myers was reelected chairman of the board, John F. Gilchrist was reelected vice chairman, John J. Mitchell treasurer, and Sangston Hettler secretary.

BIBLE SOCIETY PLACES 102,329 COPIES IN YEAR

The Chicago Bible society distributed 120,329 copies of the Bible during 1932. Of that number 76,715 were given away. The figures were made public yesterday at the annual luncheon of the society at the Morrison hotel by the Rev. J. L. McLaughlin, secretary of the society.

Dr. McLaughlin said unemployment has increased the demand for Bibles. Also it was reported that larger numbers were needed in hospitals, jails, and various charitable homes and institutions. The society has filled all requests for Bibles, Dr. McLaughlin said. Bishop Ernest Lynn Waldorf of the Chicago area of the Methodist Episcopal church was a principal speaker at the luncheon.

PLAMONDON, IN NEW PARK JOB, MAKES BOND PLEA

Chairman Has Strenuous First Day.

Alfred D. Plamondon, new chairman of the Lincoln park board, gave evidence yesterday that the new administration will be vigorous and businesslike. Within a few hours after receiving his formal appointment from Gov. Horner, Mr. Plamondon made an address in which he urged residents of the park district to vote "yes" in an impending referendum on a refunding bond issue, to keep the park board from going into default next April 1.

Earlier in the day, in his offices at 307 North Michigan avenue, the new chairman said: "I feel as if I had been tossed into a whirlpool. I had no idea when I accepted this job that it would require such strenuous work so soon."

Active in Dry Law Fight.

Mr. Plamondon is president of the Plamondon-Gabriel company, building interior designers and decorators. He is perhaps best known to Chicagoans for his activity as head of the Illinois division of the Association Opposed to Prohibition. He has been a resident of the Lincoln park district for thirty years and has always had an intense interest in the welfare of the park system.

"There will be no frills in my administration," he said, "and the taxpayers need fear no extravagant policies."

An informal meeting of the new board was held last night in the Chicago Athletic association. The other new board members are: Frank Bobrytzke, director of the Polish Business Men's association; Walter J. Cummings, West Towns Railway company; G. Bernhard Anderson, attorney; Martin H. Kennelly, president Werner Brothers-Kennelly company; Louis H. Harrison, president of the Covenant club; and William Schlake, president of Illinois Brick company.

Pays Tribute to Wright.

Before saying anything about his own plans for the park system Mr Plamondon paid a gracious compliment to the outgoing board, headed by Warren Wright. "I believe that Mr. Wright and the men associated with him did a fine job," he said.

Mr. Plamondon expressed confidence that the legislature would pass the pending refunding bond issue measure, but was apprehensive over the prospect of getting a referendum before the voters and winning their approval. To prevent a default the park board must have $1,339,000 to pay principal and interest on the bond issue falling due April 1. It appears at present that the only chance to get the refunding referendum before the voters in time is at the aldermanic primary, if the primary is not postponed until June by the legislature.

What Bond Default Means.

"I do not believe the voters realize a default next April would mean that the park board could not sell its securities to trust and insurance companies thereafter for fifteen years," said Mr Plamondon. "If that happens we are sunk."

The refunding bond issue would also provide for retiring an issue falling due in 1934, on which the principal and interest payment will be $1,448,000.

Mr. Plamondon was born in Chicago March 10, 1868, and was educated in the Chicago public schools. Later he was graduated by the Pennsylvania Military college. Two years ago he established a summer camp for Chicago poor children at Winter, Wis.

"I've had a pretty busy life," he said yesterday, "but it appears that from now on I am going to find out what work really is. I expect to get a big kick out of directing the affairs of Lincoln park. It has been my home so long that I consider myself a part of it."

ARMY AND NAVY TAKE POSITIONS FOR WINTER "WARFARE" IN HAWAII

HONOLULU, Jan. 26.—(AP)—Coast artillery units moved out tonight from their regular posts near Honolulu to man strategic positions commanding the Oahu island coast in army and navy winter maneuvers which will begin Sunday. Tractors dragging anti aircraft armament roared into position, while hangars vibrated to the thunder of airplane motors under test. The army signal corps began lacing the island with a network of communication.

Ten thousand officers and men from Schofield barracks, the nation's largest army post, will take the field tomorrow over an island terrain somewhat resembling the back of a turtle with a dent down the center.

Before Sunday a string of scouting minecraft will be beyond the horizon to watch for the "black" attacking fleet, coming from San Diego. This fleet consists of seven cruisers, two aircraft carriers, and twelve destroyers. The attack is expected by the "blue" defenders to come from the air Monday or Tuesday. Scout defense planes will patrol 150 miles out to sea.

U. S. APPELLATE COURT DENIES FACTOR'S PLEA

The United States Circuit Court of Appeals yesterday dismissed the latest plea of John [Jake the Barber] Factor to escape extradition to England for trial on a charge of defrauding British investors of $7,000,000 in stock deals. Attorneys for Factor argued that the charge—receiving money knowing it to have been fraudulently obtained—is not extraditable under the 1932 treaty between Great Britain and the United States. This treaty, the attorneys said, became effective after the removal proceedings were started against their client. Factor, who is at liberty in bond, may ask for a review on the motion in the court of appeals or take his case to the U. S. Supreme court.

SOLOMON SMITH RECEIVES A NEW THREAT LETTER

Guard Banker's Home to Trap Extortioner.

Two operatives of the Secret Six and a squad of Lake Forest policemen last night were standing guard over the north shore home of Solomon Smith, president of the Northern Trust company. Mr. Smith on Wednesday received a new extortion letter demanding that he leave $5,000 at the gate of his estate, which is at 1185 North Elm Tree road, Lake Forest.

"If you double cross us and set detectives on our trail, as you did before, you will never live to see the sun set tomorrow," read the note, which was received at the Smith town home, 1242 Lake Shore drive.

Banker's Wife Hurt by Bomb.

On Nov. 9 a bomb sent through the mail to that address exploded as it was being opened, and Mrs. Frederika Shumway Smith, wife of the banker, narrowly escaped serious injury. On Nov. 19 there was a letter referring to the bomb and threatening death unless Mr. Smith paid $4,000.

A long investigation by the Secret Six failed to disclose the identity of the extortioners.

The latest note specified that the money, in $20 and $50 bills, should be placed at the green gate on the east side of the Lake Forest residence. The money was to be picked up by the letter writers yesterday. The Secret Six operatives appealed to Chief of Police Frank Tiffany for aid early in the morning. A dummy package was planted and the policemen hid themselves in the vicinity, ready to seize any person who came for it. It was indicated the vigil would be kept all night and today.

Similar to Earlier Note.

Handwriting experts said that the lettering on the new note, written in ink in a large hand, was the same as that on the earlier extortion demand. It was believed that the first note was inscribed by some person accustomed to write a foreign language.

"For God's sake, Solomon," read the new missive, "we need money and need it bad. We already have sent you a package that your wife got. We have sent letters before and they went unheeded."

Then followed the instructions about the payment and the threat of death. Mr. Smith, according to the Secret Six operatives, is much concerned over the repetition of the threats. Chief Tiffany, despite the presence of his men on guard, refused to discuss the matter other than to say he would give residents of Lake Forest full protection whenever they needed it.

COURTNEY GOES ON RECORD AS REGARDS ABLIN

State's Attorney Courtney's investigation into the alleged racket of David [Cockeyed Mulligan] Ablin has received new impetus, it was learned yesterday. Ablin is said to be planning to exact tribute from Chicago filling station owners through the organization of the Chicago Service Station Operators' association.

While State's Attorney Courtney, his secretary, Frank Ford, and Capt. Daniel Gilbert were in Henrici's restaurant at 71 West Randolph street on Wednesday night, a man approached them, his hand outstretched.

"How are you, Tommy?" he asked the state's attorney. "I hope everything is all right."

State's Attorney Courtney mumbled some answer to the man's queries and the stranger departed.

"Who is that man?" Courtney asked Capt. Gilbert, "I don't like his looks."

"That," replied Gilbert, "is Dave Ablin."

"42" GANGSTER SLAIN BY VICTIM OF SHAKEDOWNS

Is Shot by Restaurant Man in Chase.

Joseph Pape, 23 years old, 912 South Marshfield avenue, a member of the "42" gang with a record of arrests on charges of murder, rape, and robbery, died of bullet wounds as police were taking his fingerprints yesterday in the Bridewell hospital. He was shot an hour before by a restaurant owner from whom he tried to extort $5 "to get a pal out of jail."

Joseph Tuso, owner of the Milano restaurant, 1465 South Morgan street, killed Pape after driving him from the restaurant to the third floor of a commission house in the neighboring South Water market. One of Tuso's bullets also struck Frank Biggio, 120 North Mayfield avenue, a commission merchant and friend of the restaurant keeper, who was eating lunch when Pape entered the restaurant. Biggio, shot in the left shoulder, was not seriously hurt.

Sergt. Edward Balata of the Maxwell street police, who investigated the shooting, was asked if charges would be made against Tuso.

"Certainly not," he replied. "He did a good job. That fellow Pape should have been shot long ago."

Record of Slain Hoodlum.

Pape's record in the bureau of identification contained 33 "bad character" cards. The records of major gangsters frequently contain no more than five. Pape was never convicted of any of the felony charges placed against him, but had a long record of convictions for minor offenses, starting in 1925. His brother, Tony, was sent to Joliet penitentiary last year after pleading guilty to participation in the murder in December, 1931, of Policeman James Caplis during a holdup of a café.

Tuso told police that Pape had "shaken him down" for small sums of money frequently during the last three months under threats to bomb his restaurant or to shoot him. Pape entered yesterday at the lunch hour a hand thrust in a pocket as if clutching a pistol.

"I've got some friends in jail," he said. "Do your bit."

"I gave you $5 yesterday for them," replied Tuso.

"These are some other friends," said Pape. "I want some dough."

Tuso turned to his cash register as if to get the money. Instead he grabbed a revolver and whirled on Pape.

"You've shaken me down long enough," he said, and opened fire.

Bullet Strikes Friend.

One of his bullets struck Biggio, his friend, but Pape fled, unhurt.

Tuso followed, and outside the door met Policeman Thomas Ryan of the Maxwell street station, who followed him in the chase. Pape fled into the commission house of the Charles Abate company, 4 South Water Market, and ran up to the second floor.

There he seized Tony Quattrocci, an elevator operator, and tried to hold him as a shield, but Quattrocci tore himself away. Tuso shot Pape in the abdomen. Pape fled again, to the third floor. Tuso followed and emptied his gun at the fugitive. Policeman Ryan then reached the scene and called a patrol wagon to take Pape to the Bridewell, where he died ten minutes after his arrival.

Ask Sweden for $30,000 for Chicago Fair Exhibit

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Jan. 26.—The committee planning Sweden's participation in A Century of Progress exposition at Chicago has applied to the government for an appropriation of $30,000. The total expenditure has been fixed at $50,000. Private subscriptions have reached $20,000.

PRINCES GATHER AT DOORN TO CELEBRATE KAISER'S 74TH YEAR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Jan. 26.—Many of the former German princes crossed the border into Holland today to help former Kaiser Wilhelm II. celebrate his 74th birthday tomorrow. The former crown prince, Friedrich Wilhelm, Eitel Friedrich and August Wilhelm were among the Hohenzollerns, while Prince Louis Ferdinand, who recently returned from America, Archduke Albrecht Württemberg, claimant to the throne of Württemberg, and his son will also be among the ex-kaiser's guests.

A "patriotic film" will be shown at Castle Doorn after a banquet tomorrow night.

Berlin's monarchist diehards have been asked to "celebrate quietly in view of the seriousness of the economic situation in Germany, which deeply grieves his majesty, who shares all the anxieties of his former subjects."

SWEETHEART NO. 8 OF "FATAL KISS" GIRL NEAR DEATH

The jinx of Margaret Mary Collins, the "kiss of death girl," seven of whose sweethearts have been killed in gang wars, has not lost its power. Judge Donald S. McKinley was told yesterday that Sol Feldman, 25 years old, number eight on Margaret Mary's list, is near death in the Mother Cabrini hospital.

Attorney Samuel Hoffman appeared in court to explain the inability of Feldman to appear on a burglary charge. Feldman was shot by police after he had taken two fur coats from the window of a Michigan avenue fur shop. Apparently recovering, the hoodlum was allowed to leave the hospital two weeks ago and go to his home at 2125 Pierce avenue. He suffered a relapse Wednesday. Physicians discovered the bullet wound in his lung had become abscessed and rushed Feldman to the hospital for an emergency operation last night.

Among the sweethearts for whom Miss Collins has worn mourning were Dean O'Banion, Eugene [Red] McLaughlin, John [Dandy] Sheehy, David Jerus [Jew Boy Bates], and Samuel Katz.

MAYOR EXPECTS TO RETURN TO OFFICE TODAY

Mayor Cermak last night expected to be able to return to his office in the city hall today after spending yesterday in bed with a sore throat and an earache. A fear that the earache might have been caused by an abscess was allayed after an examination had been made by Dr. Walter H. Theobold, an ear specialist.

The mayor was taken ill on Wednesday evening, and at the suggestion of his physician, Dr. Frank Jirka, who is also his son-in-law, called Dr. Theobold. Both physicians ordered him to bed, and he went to his home at 2348 Millard avenue. Because of his illness, it was necessary to postpone the cabinet meeting which he had called for yesterday to discuss the city budget.

Although advised to stay in bed until Monday, the mayor said he would try to get to the city hall today to attend a meeting of the heads of the major local governments which he has called to discuss suggested legislation relating to the financial affairs of the Cook county governments.

POLICE GUARDING JURY PICKED TO TRY HUMPHREYS

Eleven Men Locked Up in Loop Hotel.

Eleven jurors selected to try Murray Humphries, recently named public enemy No. 1, on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon, were taken to a loop hotel last night and guarded by a detail of police from the state's attorney's office—a proceeding unusual in Municipal court cases. Judge Harold P. O'Connell is presiding at the trial.

The state's determination to leave nothing undone to obtain a conviction of the hoodlum who has succeeded Al Capone was apparent in the selection of the jurors. All day Assistant State's Attorney Charles S. Dougherty questioned veniremen, seeking their views on law enforcement, and whether they had fear of sitting in judgment on a gang chieftain.

Many of the veniremen called, it was apparent, tried to avoid serving on the jury—and succeeded, disqualifying themselves by their answers. Prosecutor Dougherty used four of his six peremptory challenges in removing prospective jurors of whom he had doubts.

Cautious at First.

Defense Attorneys W. W. Smith and Everett Jennings, representing Humphreys, appeared equally as cautious in questioning the prospective jurors but late in the afternoon they appeared willing to take any one who said he would give Humphreys a fair trial.

Attorney Smith asked each prospective juror if the fact that Humphreys did not testify in his own behalf would weigh against the defendant. He explained that a defendant need not go to the witness stand to deny the charge against him, but could rely on others to disprove it or upon the state not being able to prove the defendant guilty "beyond a reasonable doubt and to a moral certainty."

These questions indicated the course the defense is expected to take. On Wednesday the defense attorneys made a motion that the evidence—a gun—be suppressed on the grounds that Humphreys' constitutional rights were violated when the policemen searched him. This motion was overruled. Humphreys and nine other hoodlums were arrested Nov. 1, 1932, at an office in the One La Salle building.

Arrest Is Questioned.

The legality of Humphreys' arrest was sustained before the selection of the jury. Under one theory of the law the legality of the arrest may not be raised before the jury.

If Humphreys were to go to the witness stand and admit that a gun was found on his person, it was explained, he would be precluded from appealing the decision of Judge O'Connell which upheld the right of police to search him. For that reason, it was understood, Humphreys will stand on his constitutional rights and refuse to testify. The trial will resume this morning with the selection of a twelfth juror.

GUARDS OF NEW FAIR MEET WITH THOSE OF 1893

Ten guards of the World's Columbian exposition of 1893 met half a dozen guards of A Century of Progress exposition at luncheon yesterday in the trustees' room of the administration building of the Fair. Most of the old timers wore the faded blue uniforms and tarnished sabers which saw service in 1893. Among the guards of 1893 were Municipal Judge Alfred O. Erickson, Dr. S. H. Goodnight, dean of men at the University of Wisconsin; Samuel W. Flint, chief engineer, Chicago and North Western railway; Samuel T. Smetters, city design engineer, and Dr. Martin L. Ophim. After luncheon they were escorted on a tour of the grounds and buildings of A Century of Progress.

KANE CO. OFFICIAL ENDS LIFE AFTER FRAUD IS BARED

Harrold Davis Found Dead in Office.

Harrold H. Davis, 32 years old, Kane county supervisor, chairman of the county forest preserve committee and also a member of the county board of education, was found dead yesterday in his insurance office in St. Charles. Police said he had committed suicide by swallowing poison.

The suicide followed discovery on Wednesday afternoon that Davis had raised a county check for $8.50 to $850, county officials said. Davis had used the money obtained with the check to make a payment to the widow of Hans Jensen, St. Charles contractor, of whose estate Davis was administrator.

Davis was ordered recently to turn over to Mrs. Jensen money from the sale of estate property. On Wednesday afternoon he appeared at the office of the county clerk in Geneva and obtained a check for $8.50 made out for forest preserve labor. He told the clerk, Charles Lowry, that he was in a hurry and said there was no need to stamp the check with the usual protecting machine.

Has Check Countersigned.

He then raised the check to $850, county officials said, had it countersigned in the office of the county treasurer, and cashed it at the Batavia National bank. The fraud was discovered soon after Davis left the Geneva courthouse. He was taken into custody at the home of Mrs. Jensen in St. Charles, where he had taken the money.

Sheriff Harry Crawford said that Davis admitted that he raised the check, and Mrs. Jensen returned the $850 to the county. On suggestion of State's Attorney George Carbary, Davis was allowed to go to his home and told to return to the office of the state's attorney today. He returned to St. Charles and purchased some poison in a drug store, the authorities said.

Officials Make Audit.

County officials said that a hurried audit showed no irregularities in the accounts of the forest preserve. A like investigation is to be made of the Jensen estate. Davis is survived by his wife, Bernice, and two sons, William, 10 years old, and David, 6 years old. His mother, Mrs. Perry H. Davis, also lives in St. Charles. A brother, Chester Davis, is an official of the Chicago Title and Trust company.

WOMAN ROBBED IN STATE ST. BY PURSE SNATCHER

Mrs. Elizabeth E. Davis, who came to Chicago from her home in Ottumwa, Ia., for a shopping tour was robbed by a purse snatcher yesterday. She lost all her money, $65 and a lifetime pass given her by the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad after the death of her husband Frank E. Davis, a veteran conductor of the Burlington road.

Mrs. Davis reported her loss to Desk Sergeant Lawrence McCarthy at the central police station. She said the thief had removed the purse from her opened handbag as she was walking along State street.

Sergt. McCarthy wired to friends of Mrs. Davis in Ottumwa, who sent her money with which to return home.

FARM AID BILL SEEMS DOOMED AT THIS SESSION

Congress May Vote Relief for Mortgage Owers.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 26.—[Special.]—The possibilities of farm relief legislation at this session of congress have simmered down to some sort of relief for debtor farmers and even that may not get through.

The domestic allotment bill appears to be doomed, so far as this congress is concerned. If it gets through the senate it will be materially changed from the form in which it passed the house and probably will expire either in the log jam of legislation in the last hours of the session or as the result of a presidential veto.

Some Sort of Inflation.

The gossip on Capitol hill is that the custodians of Mr. Hoover's political prospects for 1936 are going to see to it that neither farm relief legislation nor the beer bill reaches the White House, in order to spare the President the dilemma of writing vetoes that would embarrass him with important classes of the electorate four years hence.

For some time the farm organization leaders have been asserting that there must be either some sort of inflation providing the farmers cheaper money with which to pay their debts or legislation for scaling down farm debts. The cold reception accorded by the senate to the remonetization of silver and to other proposals of inflation in the course of the silver amendment debate has demonstrated that there will be no inflation at this session.

These developments have brought to the fore the farm debt relief bills upon passage of which the farm bloc now will concentrate its effort. The Democratic program embraces a series of measures the principal one of which is the bill introduced yesterday by Senator Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas, Democratic leader of the senate, which provides for a billion dollar emergency agricultural finance corporation to refinance farm mortgages and make additional loans to farmers.

R. F. C. Would Take Over Loans.

Also pending is an amendment proposed by Senator Robinson to the bankruptcy bill under which farm indebtedness would be scaled down.

In the house a movement is afoot to provide the Reconstruction Finance corporation with an additional 2 billions to finance cash liquidation of farm mortgages on a basis of 75 per cent face value.

The R. F. C. would take over loans settled on that basis, the lenders getting the cash and the borrowers repaying the R. F. C. at a low rate of interest over a period of 30 years.

SEND ILLINOIS PROTEST TO SENATE AGAINST ALLOTMENT PLAN BILL

Bloomington, Ill., Jan. 26.—[Special.]—The following telegram was sent by Thomas R. Cain to the United States senate agricultural committee today:

"As president of the Farmers National Grain association, comprising some 4,000 elevators and having 400,000 farmer stockholder members in ten midwest states and an equal number of farmer patrons, I desire to have read before your committee and placed on its records the following statement:

"Agriculture is in dire distress. It cannot survive further experiments. The allotment plan bill now before your committee is a huge, costly experiment—a price fixing tax increasing measure, doubtful in accomplishment, requiring huge administrative machinery. Farmers are opposed to it both because it is ineffective and because it places Washington officialdom in direct control of every farm in the country. The farmers lose control of their own affairs under such a plan.

"A country revolution is brewing not against government but against false farm leadership trying to hang upon us an allotment or other unsound legislative experiments.

"The way to aid agriculture is:

"1. Establish reciprocal tariff adjustments to restore foreign markets now closed to agricultural products.

"2. Maintain full tariff protection for agriculture and shut out foreign substitutes now displacing farmers products in this country.

"3. Repeal the agricultural marketing act abolishing the farm board and subsidiaries and taking the government out of the farmers' market.

"4. Reorganize rural credit institutions and provide financial assistance to prevent general farm foreclosures.

"5. Reduce governmental expenses.

"Farmers Grain Dealers Association of Illinois,
"LAWRENCE FARLOW, Secretary."

Urges These 3 Amendments.

Charles W. Holman, secretary of the National Coöperative Milk Producers' federation, told the committee these three amendments are absolutely essential to make it operate for butter fat:

1. Empowering the secretary of agriculture to reduce the amount of the adjustment charge in case a large unmarketable surplus occurs.

2. Restoring to the bill a restriction on production on the part of new producers in case this country should go on an export basis in dairy products.

3. Providing an excise tax upon domestically produced oleomargarine so as to maintain the present price relationship between butter fat and oleomargarine.

Mr. Holman said that the bill would return 171 million dollars to the American dairy farmers in the first year in which it is effective.

W. F. Jensen of Chicago, secretary of the American Association of Creamery Butter Manufacturers, testified that the "processors in our line have suffered almost as much as the farmers," and expressed the belief that the bill would not work in its application to butter fat.

TOWN ON SOVIET BORDER IS TAKEN BY MANCHUKUO

TOKIO, Jan. 27.—[Friday.]—(AP)—Manchukuo troops advancing from Tsitsihar occupied Heiho, opposite Blagovestchensk, Siberia, last Wednesday, according to dispatches received by vernacular newspapers today from Mukden.

Heiho for a long time was the headquarters of Ma Chan-shan, Chinese general. It is the last important town on the Siberian border to be brought under the control of Manchukuo.

The Japanese also have shown new activity in the province of Jehol, between Manchuria and China proper. Extending their bombing raids westward from Kailu, an air squadron yesterday bombed a Chinese concentration at a road junction southwest of Tienshan. It was reported the Chinese were scattered.

ROOSEVELT FOR SINGLE TRANSIT CONTROL BOARD

Wants Rail, Water and Air Problems Unified.

BY JOHN BOETTIGER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Warm Springs, Ga., Jan. 26.—[Special.]—The President elect's first thrust at the costly Washington bureaucracy, he indicated today, will be to effect a consolidation of the many bureaus dealing with various types of transportation.

Mr. Roosevelt revealed that for weeks he has been conferring with many authorities—the latest of them being Walker D. Hines, former director general of railways in the second Wilson administration, on a plan to bring all the federal government's transportation activities under a "unified national transportation policy."

Under this plan, Mr. Roosevelt revealed, the railroads, steamship lines, commercial aircraft, waterways, motor transportation, and other allied interests will be brought under the supervision of a single federal body. Mr. Roosevelt made it plain that he had no intention of creating a new cabinet post to take those duties. He has not yet decided in which branch of the government it would fit best.

Hopes for Economies.

The chief purposes of this move, he declared, will be to promote efficiency and to eliminate overhead expense. Many hundred thousand dollars of tax money are spent under the present system and Mr. Roosevelt said he hoped drastic economies might be effected.

A second similar grouping of bureaucratic activities also is being studied by Mr. Roosevelt. That, he revealed, would consolidate federal policy affecting radio, telephone, and telegraph, power, and pipe lines. The supervision of power sales is rated by Mr. Roosevelt as one of the matters he will push energetically.

The new transportation agency would take charge of the activities now supervised by the interstate commerce commission, the federal shipping board, steamboat inspection service, and aircraft supervision. The two latter now are under the department of commerce, the waterways bureau is under the war department.

Asked concerning the probable failure of the present session of congress to adopt farm legislation, Mr. Roosevelt repeated he still had hopes of legislation to affect crops planted this spring. Otherwise a special session of congress could adopt a bill applicable to winter wheat.

Counts on Good Fortune.

Commenting on the prospects for a smaller crop of winter wheat, the President elect repeated a friend's observation: "God is working with the new administration."

Mr. Roosevelt revealed today that a reunion of his law class, 1907, at Columbia, will be held at Warm Springs Saturday night. Among those to attend will be William J. [Wild Bill] Donovan, Republican candidate for governor of New York, defeated by Gov. Herbert H. Lehman and George Z. Medalie, Republican district attorney of New York.

LOCOMOTIVE ENGINEER ENDS LIFE.

Valparaiso, Ind., Jan. 26.—[Special.]—Henry Fisher, 56, engineer for the Pennsylvania railroad, committed suicide today by shooting himself in the head with a revolver. Two months ago he tried to kill himself by inhaling gas. Friends said he had been despondent since his wife divorced him.

CALL DEMOCRATS IN CAUCUS TODAY ON U. S. ECONOMY

Senators to Pass on 785 Million Reductions.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 26.—[Special.]—The Democratic party in the senate was brought fairly up to the fork of the road today, with continued extravagance on the one hand and on the other a cut of at least 500 millions below the budget estimates of appropriations for 1934.

Democratic senators, at a conference tomorrow, must decide as a party policy whether or not to support the resolution presented today by Senator Millard E. Tydings [Dem., Md.], calling for total appropriations for the next fiscal year to be held within the 2 billion, 949 million which President Hoover has tentatively estimated as the expected 1934 revenue.

Added to the cuts recommended by the budget, the Tydings resolution would mean a total cut of 785 millions below estimated expenditures for the present fiscal year.

Will Be Led to Hurdle.

The determination to make government economy an immediate issue was taken following a day of fiery debate during which Senator Tydings charged that it was political fear which kept congress from cutting costs and asserted that if he was to be bludgeoned into voting against what he considered right "to hell with this job."

Asserting that government costs must be cut either at this session or the expected special session, Senator Joe T. Robinson of Arkansas, Democratic leader, issued the conference call, declaring:

"I will do my part; I shall lead them to the hurdle; it is up to them to jump."

The debate was precipitated by the commencement of debate on the treasury and postoffice appropriation bill, first of the 1934 supply bills to start through the senate.

Should the Democratic conference and then the senate decide that this and the other nine annual appropriation bills be cut still further, some of the measures at least are likely to go over until the special session.

Test Congressional Courage.

Admittedly, a 500 million dollar cut is but a start toward balancing the 1934 budget. The $2,949,000,000 of estimated revenue is predicated on receipt of 320 millions of foreign debt payments and increases of 150 millions, 81 millions and 30 millions in receipts from income taxes, miscellaneous internal revenue taxes and customs respectively. The expected deficit of 491 millions estimated on the basis of the budget does not include debt retirements of 534 millions.

The principal drain on congressional courage takes place when the 869 millions for 1934 veterans' appropriations are considered. No large cut is possible without a cut of this largest single appropriation, yet to date nothing has been done toward passing Mr. Hoover's budget recommendation for a veterans' cut of 127 millions.

It was the veterans' appropriations which caused the outburst of Senator Tydings, himself a decorated veteran.

"The only reason we don't go into it is political fear," he shouted. "What are we afraid of? What is this job of being a senator worth if we can't be captains of our souls? Well, if I can't, I don't want the job. If I can't vote my sentiments here, to hell with this job."

Sees 2 Billion Deficit.

Senator Tydings predicted that the 1934 deficit, including sinking fund, actually will be close to two billions. It was a choice between further taxation or economy. He called on Liberty bond holders to take cuts as well as veterans by turning in their high interest bearing securities for bonds bearing a lower rate.

Senator William F. King [Dem., Utah] backed him up. So did Senators Burton K. Wheeler [Radical Dem., Mont.] and Kenneth McKellar [Dem., Tenn.], the latter with a demand to abolish ocean and air mail subsidies. So did Senator C. C. Dill [Radical Dem., Wash.], who denounced a sales tax, admitted the impossibility of higher income taxes, and declared: "No man can face his constituents today and say there shall be more taxes." So did Senator Sam Bratton [Dem., N. M.], with a proposal to save 75 millions by consolidating the agriculture and interior departments.

Senator David I. Walsh [Dem., Mass.] summed up the issue in proposing a Democratic caucus.

"We must understand," he said, "that this is a vital problem. It means determining to keep in the federal government only those agencies that are absolutely essential."

TOBACCO TAX RETURNS DROP FOR YEAR 1932

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 26.—Tobacco tax collections in 1932 amounted to $387,271,269, as compared with $424,532,735 in 1931. The peak was $449,016,098 in 1929, the internal revenue bureau announced today.

Cigar taxes yielded $12,562,288, a reduction of $3,827,000 from 1931; cigaret taxes, $310,573,823; a reduction of $28,800,000, and manufactured tobacco and snuff taxes, $62,787,419, a drop of $3,400,000.

Collection of cigar taxes in New York state amounted to $1,062,034, a reduction of $497,000; cigaret taxes, $1,935,887, a drop of $650,000, and manufactured tobacco and snuff taxes, $442,319, a decrease of $15,000.

North Carolina was the leading source of revenue from tobacco produce. A total of $171,864,395 was collected from cigarets, a drop of $44,000,000 from 1931, and $21,505,024 from manufactured tobacco and snuff, a decrease of $1,900,000. Practically no cigars are produced in North Carolina.

Virginia paid $83,073,211 in cigaret taxes, a reduction of $1,100,000; Kentucky, $32,998,288, an increase of $21,532,000, and New Jersey, $11,074,447, a drop of $3,114,000.

Pennsylvania was the leading cigar producer, taxes of $3,693,773 having been paid in that state, a drop of $1,259,000.

2 SCHIRESON AIDS ASK LENIENCY OF LICENSE BOARD

Two physicians cited for malpractice and for association in a facial rejuvenation business with Henry J. Schireson, whose medical license has been revoked, yesterday presented to the medical committee of the state department of registration and education statements throwing themselves on the mercy of that body.

They are Dr. E. K. Langford and Dr. L. N. Cohler. Neither appeared, but their attorney, B. J. Cramer, said they agreed to accept any ruling by the department. Assistant Attorney General Philip Ringer, however, objected to their absence, asserting that while their statements were in general satisfactory, they made no mention of their association with Schireson.

"In effect," he said, "Cohler and Langford admit the charges, but we recommend additional evidence to get Schireson tied up with them."

The hearing will be resumed tomorrow at 9:30 a. m. Besides Cohler and Langford, three other physicians connected with the American Institute of Facial Rejuvenation were cited. They are Theodore Burnstein, H. M. Golden, and T. W. Cogger. All but Cogger have admitted the charges.

INFLATION TO BE NEXT FARM URGE, O'NEAL ASSERTS

'Honest Dollar' to Mirror Price Levels.

BY PAUL POTTER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Peoria, Ill., Jan. 26.—[Special.]—Inflation will be the next major offensive movement on the part of the farm organizations and the Democratic leadership in congress, Edward A. O'Neal, president of the American Farm Bureau federation predicted here last night. He spoke at a banquet attended by 1,200 farmers at the annual Illinois Agricultural association meeting.

O'Neal, with not a little boastfulness, outlined to the farmers how the farm organization leaders had been given complete support by President Elect Roosevelt in pressing through congress the domestic allotment plan of crop control. This measure, designed to return to farmers over a billion dollars a year, he said, was certain to be followed by the enactment of a rural credits program that would bring farmers another billion and a half dollars a year.

Follow Credits Report.

The next step, O'Neal said, would be to obtain an "honest dollar" by adjusting the valuation of the dollar to reflect the changes in commodity price levels. This type of inflation, he declared, as in the case of the three rural credits measures before congress, "is practically copied from the report on rural credits made at the last annual American Farm Bureau federation convention."

O'Neal reported that he had been assured in Washington Wednesday that the surplus control and farm department measure would be "rushed through before March 4."

Called Sound Program.

Henry I. Harriman, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, told the farmers that it was a sound program for the national government to adopt a program of crop production readjustment.

The state farm bureau meeting, which concludes tomorrow, is expected to approve the stand of J. C. Watson at Springfield yesterday seeking to distribute revenue from a 2 per cent retail sales tax on the basis of property valuation by counties.

Earl Smith, president, in his annual address, indicated that the next step by the state association was to obtain a tax on incomes.

Smith rapped Cook county for being delinquent "at least 22 million dollars with about 17 millions almost due on 1932 valuations, which however, it will not place in collection for more than a year."

DAY IN CONGRESS

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Senator Tydings [Dem., Md.] proposed slashing appropriation bills to level of federal income.

John J. Hopkins, special assistant to Secretary Mills, opposed before ways and means committee automatic tariff increases on goods from countries with depreciated currencies.

Reconstruction corporation made public loans totaling $1,195,000,000 authorized from Feb. 2 to July 20, 1932, at start of operations.

Chairman Byrns of house appropriations committee introduced vetoed first deficiency bill without provision for congressional approval of tax refunds above $20,000.

Senate manufacturers' committee agreed on two year $500,000,000 unemployed relief program.

ANTI-DUMPING TARIFF EFFORT STIRS UP FIGHT

Even Hoover's Stand Is Viewed Two Ways.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 26.—[Special.]—The Hoover drive for legislation at this session to slow down the flow of low cost goods into the United States from countries whose currencies have depreciated in value bogged down today in wordy controversy.

One Republican congressional group, claiming the support of President Hoover, favored a blanket increase in the tariff on all commodities imported from countries whose currencies have dropped a certain amount below the dollar.

Treasury Offers Scheme.

Another group, backed by the treasury department, favored legislation authorizing the tariff commission to investigate each class of articles imported from depreciated currency countries and to impose higher tariffs only in cases where needed to make effective the tariff against certain products.

Leaving the White House today, Representative Bertrand H. Snell of New York, Republican minority leader, stated President Hoover agreed with house Republicans who favored a boost in the tariff against countries off the gold standard, where currencies have been impaired. He left the impression the President favored the Hill bill, automatically increasing import duties in proportion to the depreciation of foreign currencies.

Meanwhile, before the ways and means committee of the house, two administration spokesmen voiced opposition to the Democratic Hill bill. In effect it follows the line of procedure said by Representative Snell to be favored by the President. The spokesmen supported the Hawley bill just introduced. That provides that the readjustment of tariff rates be effected by the tariff commission rather than by the secretary of the treasury. This, in substance, is the position of Secretary Mills.

Predicts Retaliation.

These spokesmen were John J. Hopkins, special assistant to Secretary Mills, and Dr. John Lee Coulter of the tariff commission. Mr. Hopkins declared the Hill bill too rigid and provocative of retaliatory tariffs on American goods. The Hawley bill, introduced by Representative Willis C. Hawley [Rep., Ore.] would provide for the investigation of each article separately by the tariff commission.

Dr. Coulter, member of the tariff commission, likewise advocated legislation along the lines of the Hawley measure and joined with Mr. Hopkins in condemning the Hill bill as "unworkable."

JURORS DIFFER ON AMOUR GUILT OF INDIANA PASTOR

Recess to Today Without Reading Decision.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Muncie, Ind., Jan. 26.—[Special.]—With amateur evangelists exhorting crowds in the lobby of the court house and religious fervor at seething point in this community, the grand jurors considering the evidence against Pastor G. Lemuel Conway were reported today to be deadlocked amidst fierce arguments over the question of indicting the Methodist minister for assault with intent to rape an 18 year old high school girl.

For three days, the jury has listened to evidence concerning the parson's offer to coach Miss Helen Huffman, a high school senior, in the arts of love. The stern faced minister, who is 55 years old and father of six children, became an impetuous Don Juan in a parked car on a lonely country road last Dec. 29, according to the girl's story.

Jurors Differ in Views.

Some of the jurors were reported insistent that an indictment be returned at once. Others have objected, declaring that it is a case of the minister's word against the girl's, although the Rev. Conway's denial of the charges has not been given from his own lips to the jury.

The jury adjourned at 5 o'clock tonight without reaching any decision and will resume deliberations tomorrow morning.

Meanwhile, among the loafers swarming in the lobby, a number of soapbox orators have appeared. The crowds lister solemnly to sermons of the Aimee McPherson type in which the audience is advised that the prince of darkness is actively engaged in Muncie and that the Rev. Mr. Conway's predicament is proof of the power of the evil one.

Local Paper Keeps Silent.

There is a church on every second corner in Muncie and the man who is not a regular attendent at divine services is regarded with suspicion. The church going element is so strong that the local morning newspaper has avoided almost any mention of the case which is upon every one's tongue.

The Rev. Conway has not appeared in public since last Tuesday morning. In the parsonage next to the Madison Street Methodist Episcopal church of which he was the spiritual head, word was again given out today that the minister is "out of town."

100 Jailed in Calcutta for Holding Forbidden Meeting

CALCUTTA, India, Jan. 26.—(AP)—About 100 persons, including 40 women, were arrested today when they attempted to hold a meeting despite a police ban. The police charged the group with lathis.

Mine Women Put On Demonstration

HORNER PLEASES 4,000 WOMEN OF COAL FIELDS

Talks to Leaders, Sends Them Away Happy.

BY PARKE BROWN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 26.—[Special.]—After 4,000 women from the Illinois coal fields had marched in a calm, orderly manner through Springfield streets Gov. Henry Horner today received fifty of their leaders, talked with them about the several points of the petition they presented, and sent them away pleased with the treatment they had received.

Tonight most of these women are dancing on the crowded floor of the state arsenal with their miner husbands, sons and sweethearts, smiling over their successful pilgrimage to the capital, joyful over the success of the demonstration, and inclined to return to their homes, there to argue that Gov. Horner be given greater powers to settle the differences between the Progressive miners, the camp from which they hail, and the United Mine Workers.

Strong Contrast to Turmoil.

The day's events provided the strongest possible contrast to the turmoil created yesterday by a handful of agitators who asserted their alleged right to represent the idle by staging a rough-house in Gov. Horner's offices, a disturbance which resulted in the arrest of several trouble makers and the delegation's being escorted to the city limits early today.

The manner in which the governor talked with the presidents of fifty locals of the Women's Auxiliary of the P. M. A. delighted his hearers in the large outer room of the executive offices.

The governor began by urging the women to be seated while he stood before them and directed that an additional chair be brought so that Mrs. Agnes Burns Wieck, who organized the demonstration, could be seated beside him.

Before reading a petition signed by the officers of the auxiliary, Mrs. Wieck thanked Gov. Horner for receiving the delegation and continued:

"I want to thank you particularly on behalf of the women and children of Christian county, who, because of what you already have done, sleep better at night and no longer live in fear."

Petition Urges 4 Points.

The petition urged four points:

"Immediate and full restoration of civil liberties"; increased and more equitable distribution of state aid; legislative creation of unemployment insurance paid by the state and the employers, and opposition to the sales tax.

Before she had concluded Gov. Horner had answered the delegation on each of these points, his argument being chiefly against them, but he began by expressing his grave concern over the situation in the mining sections and telling of his devoting much of his time to an effort to solve the problem. He said he had taken up this task not because two unions are in dispute but "because human beings are at stake."

In talking of the "restoration of civil liberties" he cautioned his hearers that a good citizen will seek to exercise his own liberties only in a manner consistent with the rights of others. He pointed out the extraordinary conditions that prevail in these times and said that those in charge of the relief work are "trying to do a good job and trying to do it unselfishly and with justice to all."

Insists on Sales Tax.

The governor told the women that he could not agree with them in their opposition to the state sales tax, saying that it is the only way that will produce the money required for necessary relief.

"I don't know at this time," he said, "of any escape from the sales tax as a temporary measure to provide relief."

Then he made one suggestion that he might be willing to act as arbiter between the two unions, referring to the unyielding attitude of both during the negotiations thus far.

"I could settle this whole thing, or some other man could," he said, "if both unions would say, 'We place this in your hands.'"

"You've got to help me," he said in closing. "I shall expect you and your men and the women and the men of the other union to keep the peace. A cause can succeed only if it has behind it a strong public sentiment and public sentiment is against disorder and violence."

800 OHIO FARMERS BID $14; RETURN SOLD GOODS TO NEIGHBOR

Bowling Green, O., Jan. 26.—(AP)—Eight hundred Wood county farmers silenced a finance company bidder by their numbers today. They bought about $800 worth of a neighbor's property at auction for $14—and told him to keep it.

Whether the sale was legal, however, was a debated point tonight.

Wallace Kramp, who resides four miles west of here, conducted the auction by agreement with the Inter-City Finance company and others to satisfy an $800 mortgage on his property.

Prosecutor Raymond E. Ladd and Sheriff Bruce Platt were there, "to maintain order," they said.

A spring harrow, brought a bid of 15 cents, until John Crom, manager of the finance company, bid $1.35.

"That's the guy that owns the mortgage," some one shouted.

Farmers stopped the bidding and escorted Crom some distance away.

The bidding was resumed. Horses went for a dime and plows for a nickel. When Kamp's property was disposed of, the total was $14.

Intoxicated Robbers Get $300 from Dress Shop

Two robbers, who appeared to be intoxicated, late last night entered the dress shop of Harry Lang at 3025 Lincoln avenue. Lang, his wife, his daughter Helen, and Miss Katherine Flare, a clerk, were all forced into a rear room at the point of pistols. The robbers then fled with $300 taken from the proprietor. They overlooked $800 which Mrs. Lang had in the pocket of her fur coat.

NATIVES AMBUSH AUSTRALIAN GOLD HUNTERS; 8 SLAIN

CANBERRA, Australia, Jan. 26.—(AP)—Two white prospectors and six native carriers were dead as a result of fights in the New Guinea goldfields today, and the government took steps to increase the strength of police forces in the area, fearing further outbreaks.

Dispatches from Rabual, seat of the administration in the mandated territory which was formerly German New Guinea, said an exhausted native bearer had staggered into the government post at Surprise Creek and told authorities a party of nine other natives had ambushed and clubbed to death two prospectors. A search party, sent to the scene of the ambuscade in the Horo Bed district, found the bodies of the two white men and discovered three dead natives nearby, indicating the prospectors had become aware of their danger in time to make a desperate fight for their lives, only to be overcome by superior numbers.

On the return journey the search party itself was attacked, but emerged unhurt after killing three natives and wounding two others.

BEGINS INQUIRY INTO SALES OF TURKEY FARMS

Assistant State's Attorney James J. Cherry, in charge of the Blue Sky division of the prosecutor's office, yesterday started an investigation of three concerns engaged in the exploitation of turkey farms in Texas. Three complaints have been received, the prosecutor said, from investors who said they had not received the promised profits.

Federal officials were also scanning the advertising of the companies for possible postal law violations. Prosecutor Cherry said a preliminary investigation of books of the companies had convinced him that they had sold between $65,000 and $135,000 worth of turkey farms.

He explained the method of operation as follows: One company contracted for the purchase of 10,000 acres of land near San Antonio and leased the properties to the second company. This concern has subdivided the land into half acre plots, and the sale of the subdivision has been turned over to the third company. The second company has advertised to stock each farm site with 100 turkeys, the prosecutor said, and has agreed to manage the farms for one-half the net proceeds.

TRAP BURGLAR, HE KILLS TWO WOMEN, OFFICER

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 26.—[Special.]—Entering a house late tonight with the apparent intention of holding up the place, a man found himself trapped, shot and killed two women and a policeman, seriously wounded a third woman and then escaped. The dead are Patrolman Fred Donlon, 28; Yetta Cooper and another woman, still unidentified by the police. An intensive man hunt was immediately launched. Two guns were found at the doorway of the house, but Dolan's pistol is missing. The police assumption is that the man emptied both his weapons and after killing the patrolman stripped him of his pistol and fled.

Whole nation responds to trial offer on antiseptic by makers of VapoRub

WE MAKE no extravagant claims for Vicks new Antiseptic. Instead, we have supplied to druggists . . . at less than actual cost . . . 5 million trial bottles . . . so you can test it in your own home. Since this trial offer was announced 10 days ago, many thousands of people, in every section of the country, have taken advantage of it.

Best Vicks Could Produce

Vicks Voratone is simply the best oral antiseptic our chemists could produce. And they were aided by bacteriologists and pharmacologists of our 16 allied organizations . . . in America, England, Germany. They examined the whole field of oral antiseptics. Some they found were too weak . . . some too strong for regular use in the mouth . . . most were very good . . . but all were much too expensive!

Priced for the Times

So they produced a balanced antiseptic . . . mild enough to be used day in and day out without risk to delicate membranes . . . strong enough to do everything an oral antiseptic should do. You can use Vicks Antiseptic for all the customary uses . . . in your customary way.

And Vicks Antiseptic has this additional advantage . . . Born in a depression year, it is priced accordingly. Large 10-ounce bottle . . . a usual 75¢ value . . . only 35¢.

VICKS VORATONE ANTISEPTIC

UNUSUAL TRIAL OFFER BY LOCAL DRUGGISTS

A 25¢ Value for Only 10¢ While Limited Supply Lasts

To make it easier for antiseptic users to test Vicks Antiseptic, a limited quantity has been supplied to each of America's 70,000 druggists, in a special trial size, at less than 10¢. Each bottle contains 2½ ounces—a usual 25¢ value. The price, while they last, is only 10¢.

Regular Size . . . a 75¢ value . . . Only 35¢

AT LAST! PILES

ACTUALLY REDUCED WITHOUT SURGERY!

Now it is possible to do more than merely soothe Piles. Now it is possible actually to reduce the swollen or enlarged blood vessels, which Piles are, without the cost of an operation. Now, for the first time, a home medicinal treatment is available which not only stops the pain and itching of Piles, but at the same time actually shrinks the enlarged veins.

Pazo Ointment is a complete and effective treatment for Piles because it does three things. It soothes the sore and inflamed parts. It heals the irritated and torn membrane and tissue. It shrinks or reduces the swollen blood vessels. Thus, it not merely relieves Piles, but actually tends to correct the condition as a whole. The relief you seek is supplied in Pazo Ointment—and the method of application. (See picture below.) Thousands say that Pazo gave them the first real relief they ever had from Piles. Thousands say it saved them the need of a painful operation. One trial of Pazo will convince you that it is YOUR relief, too! All drug stores sell Pazo Ointment in the Collapsible Tube with Special Pile Pipe, complete for 75c. Try it today.

Perforated Pile Pipe Attached to Collapsible Tube Makes Application Correct and Easy.

The PAZO Collapsible Tube and Perforated Pile Pipe make it very easy to apply the Ointment high up in rectum, where it can reach and thoroughly cover all the affected parts. Complete interior treatment in all cases of Piles is plainly important.

ADVERTISE IN THE TRIBUNE

NO INTELLIGENCE TEST REQUIRED FOR STATESMEN

Seem to Be Exempt Class of Public Servants.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 26.—[Special.]—An interesting thing about the office of statesman which I have never seen mentioned is the fact that a man may run for the senate or congress and may be elected and installed in office without ever being required to prove himself moderately sane or intelligent or even reasonably honest. Letter carriers, doortenders, and even elevator starters in the government employ are subject to tests which might possibly turn back a considerable number of the membership of both legislative houses.

I do not know exactly how these tests could be applied, but there are many experts on the government's pay rolls who doubtless could work out standard formulas for the purpose. The problem would be to get them adopted by the very people who would be required to pass the examinations. There are always some nuts in the houses of congress and, to hear the opposition tell it sometimes, there are a few conspicuous maniacs, but a nut statesman possesses a certain cunning and there is never one so goofy as to ratify requirements for office which would be beyond his own qualifications.

Kindergarten Has Rules.

Children aspiring to advance from the kindergarten to the first grade of the elementary school are required to know their A-B-C's up to K and to count as high as ten, at least. They are also supposed to have accomplished the idea that, in a general way, it isn't right to take that which isn't theirs. If they show violent or generally pernicious tendencies they are regarded with suspicion by modern educators and some symbol of the fact is noted on their credentials, such as a modest "L," meaning "subject has larcenous leanings," or a "C," meaning "seems to be a crack-pot."

It is no distortion to say, however, that, so far as any formal examinations are concerned, the senator or congressman may assume the responsibilities and opportunities of this potentially dangerous public position, who cannot prove any fitness beyond a certificate of election. This is a low form of recommendation, considering some of the specimens which it has certified up to now.

Locating Burden of Proof.

It may be a disturbing thought that there are imbeciles sitting in the halls of the United States congress at this time, but for all that any record shows to the contrary there may be many. In fact, taking the record as the test, the burden of proof is thrown upon the membership.

William Travers Jerome told one time of his campaign to "crack" Harry K. Thaw. He was convinced that Thaw was not quite right, but he realized that the defendant would be able to pass any of the routine tests, so he set out to break Mr. Thaw down. It took a long time in court, but in the end Thaw blew up and Mr. Jerome satisfied himself that his judgment had been right.

I leave it to your own observation, but have you noticed in Washington of late the antics of any statesman who bears a resemblance to Mr. Thaw? The resemblance may be only incidental and insignificant as far as the statesman's sanity is concerned, but if a policeman is required to stand inspection as to his fitness for his work it would be worth while to inquire into the mental health of a public man who is in a position to cause much worse harm than any policeman can do.

Delaying Public Welfare.

If, for instance, a traffic officer were to stand at the corner of 5th avenue and 42d street, New York, at the rush hour, and deliberately hold up traffic until it was clogged as far south as Washington square and as far north as Central park; if he were to pass the time telling very bum jokes, shooting his cuffs, sticking out his tongue and making faces at the chauffeurs; if in the midst of all this traffic he were to hold up the fire engines and the rescue squad on their way to save people from disaster, would he not be summarily relieved of his post and taken down to Bellevue for observation? you may be quite sure he would be.

Furthermore, it seems to be a rule of all well-regulated police departments that the members shall be reasonably sober when they report for duty and shall submit themselves readily for inspection whenever their sobriety is challenged. In the office of statesman there is no such requirement, although, here again, the opportunities for dangerous misdoing by a member who has overhoisted are much more serious.

No Sniffing Committee.

Moreover, a policeman's honesty is not involved with his indulgence provided he takes his drams strictly on his own time, whereas a dry statesman if he get drunk at somebody's tea party and falls into the fire screen convicts himself of an ethical indecency which ought to be grave enough to impeach him.

But there is no sniffing committee in the halls of government nor any official chalk line drawn by the U. S. bureau of standards to test the brothers at odd and unpropitious moments and certify them back to their constituents as having been plastered, if they were, at a given date and time, contrary to their vows and their political pretensions.

Statesmen assume for themselves many privileges and petty forms of graft, not forgetting the installation of their loved ones on the government rolls for nominal duties as absentee employés at very material rates of pay. It is even possible for them to hoard their stationary allowance by using the free stationary of their committees and use the hoarded credit to buy fountain pens, handbags, and other items of common retail commerce out of the official canteen as Christmas presents for their social and political creditors.

The test of honesty would have to be a shrewd and subtle one.

Once there was a reform mayor in a western city who chased the tempters out of his office with a ball bat when they tried to bribe him with stock to betray his solemn trust. But one day a stranger came in and riffled a roll of ten dollar bills and he fell.

Bank at Quincy Is Closed; Deposits Are $2,500,000

Quincy, Ill., Jan. 26.—[Special.]—The State Street Bank and Trust company failed to open today. The bank is capitalized for $300,000 and deposits are $2,500,000. Low cash reserve and lack of governments bonds were blamed for the bank's closing. The bank reduced its capital from $500,000 to $300,000 a year ago.

Princeton, Ky., Jan. 26.—(AP)—Mrs. Lonnie Dickson, 43, passed the 72d hour today and still was sneezing almost incessantly, but her physicians said her condition was improving and the rate of sneezing had diminished to 16 times a minute.

FRENCH RENTERS STRIKE; DEMAND HOMES BE FREE

Want Government to Pay for Apartments.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Jan. 26.—France is perhaps better off economically and financially than any other country in this depression ridden world. Unemployment and wage reductions so far are insignificant compared to those elsewhere. There is much less reason for revolutionary effervescence than anywhere else.

But scratch a Frenchman and you find a rebel, particularly if you happen to scratch him near his pocketbook. On Dec. 13 he rose and rioted against paying war debts. Only yesterday he put on another of a fine series of riots and demonstrations against paying proposed new taxes and accepting wage reductions at the hands of the state owned utilities.

Rent Strike Launched.

Now he refuses to pay his rent. A movement for reduction of rents is spreading, particularly in Paris. Nor is it a mild request. It is peremptory and amounts in some localities to a strike. Apartment house dwellers are refusing to pay the rent for the three months' term which began Jan. 15—house rent terms being made to coincide everywhere through official decree. The rebellion is aimed particularly at the municipally erected and maintained apartment houses.

The most spectacular incident in this new and spontaneous uprising is the refusal of 280 apartment dwellers in a group of municipal apartment houses in the Porte d'Italie quarter in the southern part of Paris to pay the next three months' rent. That insurrection has as its immediate provocation the bad construction and inefficient maintenance of the apartment houses.

Government Pays Losses.

These apartment houses are one manifestation of the paternalistic attitude of the French government towards its working classes in the lower paid ranks. The city cedes the ground for them and furnishes capital for construction to a housing corporation it has organized. The housing corporation is nonprofit making, but it is not even able to make expenses, so low are the rents made for the occupants. The national government makes good the difference, a huge drain on city and national budgets.

But not even with these subsidies are the apartment houses a success. Built since the war, many of them already need extensive repairs. In fact, some have become notorious as chronically being in need of repairs. That is particularly the case with the group at the Porte d'Italie. The occupants have become sick and tired of stumbling over wheelbarrows and cement troughs and lumber piles in front of and inside their apartments.

Organize a Syndicate.

The tenants organized a "syndicat" of dwellers in municipal apartment houses, another of the long list of French "syndicats" for the protection of their members. The "syndicat" of telephone users is a notable example. The new "syndicat" already counts more than 700 members, and recently it sent a delegation to Prefect Renard of the Seine department to protest. Renard temporarily suspended payment of the rents in question until he shall have investigated.

But the protest is more than a mere request for investigation. "We will not pay at all!" declares Raoul Meunier, secretary general of the syndicate.

A feature of the rent insurrection is the growing tendency of the idle to hand in their unemployment cards to the building owner or manager in lieu of rent. Paternal as the French government is, it has not yet made provision for that. But there are two bills now before parliament to take care of it.

The favorite solution suggested is that the government declare a rent moratorium for the idle.

CLEVELAND GROUP ASKS STEEL COMPANY TO CONTINUE PLANT

New York, Jan. 26. — [Special.] — Mayor Ray T. Miller headed a Cleveland delegation that appeared today before the board of directors of the United States Steel corporation protesting against the closing of the Newburg steel plant, transferring its production to Lorain, O.

The protest was made on the plea of humanity. Mayor Miller, Father William A. Scullen, pastor of the Holy Name church, and three Cleveland councilmen said it meant throwing 1,600 men out of work.

The steel heads replied that they were compelled to look at the situation as a whole, on the policy that economical operation was the only way to preserve the most jobs. But they took the matter under advisement.

FRENCH FINANCE CHIEF AGREES TO CUT TAX BOOST

PARIS, Jan. 26.—(AP)—The government's chances of getting a new lease of life on financial measures appeared to have improved tonight with the acceptance by Finance Minister Cheron in principle of a proposal for seven billion francs [$273,000,000] in new taxes and economies instead of the ten billions [$390,000,000] he had previously demanded.

Appearing before the chamber of deputies, Cheron said that unless the budget was balanced France soon would have to live on borrowed money.

Sections of the chamber opposed the finance minister's plans for balancing the budget, including reductions in the pay of civil servants and the levying of new taxes.

GILBERT NIMMO DIES.

Anna, Ill., Jan. 26.—[Special.]—Gilbert Nimmo, aged 25, an honor graduate at the University of Illinois in 1930, later a student professor in Cornell university, died at his home here today from a form of rheumatic fever.

POSTMASTER GENERAL INHERITS $75,000 OF J. H. BAGLEY ESTATE

Washington, D. C., Jan. 26.—(AP)—Postmaster General Brown will get about $75,000 from the estate of Joseph Henry Bagley, former vice president of the American Bank Note company, who died Nov. 23 and named the cabinet officer as the residuary legatee of his estate.

The value of the estate was disclosed this afternoon when the American Security and Trust company, the executor, filed a petition for the probate of Bagley's will. The company places the assets of the estate at $113,754 and declares Bagley owed a brokerage firm $20,644 and had other debts, including funeral expenses totaling $7,500. Deducting the debts and specific bequests of $15,000, Postmaster Brown will be left about $75,000. Bagley's nearest relatives are nieces and nephews living in Chicago.

FARMERS DELAY FORECLOSURE ON DENTIST'S HOME

Le Mars, Ia., Jan. 26.—(AP)—Because many of them owed Dr. G. W. Cunningham dental bills, 25 farmers today induced Sheriff R. E. Rippey to postpone a foreclosure action against Cunningham's home.

It was the first time farmers resisted the foreclosure of city property here. The farmers said they acted in the case because it was their inability to pay that endangered the dentist's home.

Plymouth county farmers on several occasions have prevented the foreclosures of farm property, once dragging a prospective bidder from the courthouse steps and threatening to lynch him.

SEEK TO ENJOIN SHERIFF AND MINE UNION OFFICIALS

Benton, Ill., Jan. 26.—[Special.]—An injunction was filed today in the circuit court of Franklin county by James Murray and 300 others allegedly aligned with the progressive miners movement against Sheriff Browning Robinson, international state and district officials of United Mine Workers of America, restraining them from interfering with the progressives in this county.

The petition says the defendants are attempting to control, through coercion, duress, intimidation, and force, the general supervision of all persons working in and around the Franklin county mines.

The petitioners also allege that an emergency exists whereby laws are maliciously violated contrary to every constitutional right; that free speech and assembly have been denied and that the sheriff forces men to work in the mines.

The sheriff has 100 irresponsible citizens commissioned as deputy sheriffs who patrol the highway with machine guns for the purpose of arresting, shooting, and intimidating citizens, the petition charges. The petition also alleges a reign of terror exists in the county and that John L. Lewis has caused men in sympathy with the progressives to be thrown out of employment.

Mrs. Hutton's New Pastor at Angelus Temple Quits

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 26.—[Special.]—The Rev. A. P. Gouthey of Seattle, whom Aimee McPherson-Hutton left in charge of spiritual affairs when she left on a world cruise, today was packing his luggage to leave Angelus temple permanently. Gouthey declined to elaborate on his statement that "a personal reason" dictated his departure. He declared that rumors of differences between him and Dave Hutton, Mrs. McPherson's husband, were untrue.

WOMAN STRUCK BY AUTO; GLENCOE DENTIST SEIZED

Dr. Thomas H. McClure, 450 Sheridan road, Glencoe, a dentist with offices at 30 North Michigan avenue, was arrested by the Summerdale police last night and charged with leaving the scene of an accident after his automobile struck and critically injured Mrs. Gertrude Fisher, 28 years old, in front of 5050 Sheridan road, where she lived.

Another motorist followed Dr. McClure's automobile and enlisted the aid of Policeman George Grebrt. The chase ended at Sheridan road and Loyola avenue. Dr. McClure said he felt something hit his automobile but thought it was a rock.

There were no automobile deaths in Cook county yesterday and the toll for the year remained at 60.

One Sure Way to End Coughs and Colds

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains in addition to creosote other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble, and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any coughs or colds, no matter of how long standing, are not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (Adv.)

PAIN DEADENED CHEST COLDS LOOSENED WITHOUT DRUGS

Get quick relief from neuralgia pain, sciatica pain, neuritis pain, rheumatic pain, lame back, stiff neck, headache, strains and chest colds by rubbing plenty of Baume Bengué (pronounced Ben-Gay) on the spot. It doesn't blister or stain. Rub it in till it sinks down and soothes the pain or breaks up the chest cold. Take no drugs, for any drug that is powerful enough to "deaden" pain or loosen a chest cold may not be good for you.

But beware of imitations. Ask your druggist for Baume Bengué by name (called "Ben-Gay" in English). There are many analgesic baumes, mostly cheap imitations of Ben-Gay made out of synthetic drugs. That is why they are cheap. That is also why they are ineffective. Insist on Ben-Gay and you will get real results.

FOR ITCHING SKIN

From infancy to old age Resinol Ointment furnishes quick effective relief. No parts too delicate, no surface too irritated for it to soothe and heal. Ask your druggist for

N. O. R. P. E. CALLS ON CONGRESS TO CUT OUT "PORK"

Middle West Conference Demands Action.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Warfare on "pork barrel" appropriations engineered by organized minorities and log rolling promoters in Washington was opened in the middle west in a message sent last night to leaders in congress after an all day session in Chicago of chairmen of the National Organization to Reduce Public Expenditures from twelve states in the upper Mississippi valley.

The memorial sets forth that to cut the cost of government and the tax load is the fastest road to business revival, and it demands that congress balance the federal budget by cutting costs instead of raising taxes. Action by the present lame duck session of congress is urged instead of waiting until the new administration goes into power in March.

The N. O. R. P. E. takes the ground that delay in applying the knife to the budget retards financial recovery.

Congress Is Promised Help.

Help is promised congress by the memorial in the battle against organized minorities. All through the middle west business, agricultural and labor organizations are to be called upon to refrain from advocating projects that would add to the tax burden. The movement is to be spread among the 900 organizations now identified with the N. O. R. P. E. in the 48 states, with a view of united action against the "pork barrel" in all the states.

It is proposed to expand the drive for governmental economies to cover the full range of waste curtailment all the way down to village and school districts instead of limiting it to federal and state expenditures. Estimates of the N. O. R. P. E. are that in 1932 forty cents out of every dollar of the national income was grabbed by the tax collector, federal, state or local.

Message Sent to Congress.

The message sent to Republican and Democratic leaders at Washington over the signature of George W. Rossetter, general chairman of the N. O. R. P. E. and president of the Chicago Association of Commerce, and of the chairmen of eleven other states was as follows:

"Representing tax paying citizens and industrial, commercial, agricultural, and tax associations in twelve states, namely, Wisconsin, South Dakota, Nebraska, Missouri, Michigan, Tennessee, Kentucky, Iowa, Indiana, Minnesota, Illinois and Ohio, a regional conference of state chairmen and the executive committee of the National Organization to Reduce Public Expenditures in session in Chicago today petitions the congress of the United States to effect such reduction in the appropriations for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1934, as will preclude treasury deficits. Such action by you, in our judgment, will do more to restore confidence and aid recovery than any other possible procedure.

Action Called Necessary.

"We feel that the present fiscal situation, with current expenditures greatly exceeding current revenue, demands such action. To support you in what we believe to be your sincere desire to meet this emergency, we are calling upon all organizations within these twelve states to refrain consistently from advocating projects which must add to the burden of public expense and we are suggesting to the representatives of the National Organization to Reduce Public Expenditures in the other thirty-six states that they take similar steps to discourage such projects also.

"We are convinced that a budget balanced by reducing expenditures rather than by increasing the tax burden now borne by the general public will result in the greatest benefit to the entire country."

Besides Mr. Rossetter the message was signed by the following state chairmen of the N. O. R. P. E.: John L. Barchard, Wisconsin; William Wilson, South Dakota; J. G. Aldrich, Nebraska; Conrad H. Mann, Missouri; J. E. Beukema, Michigan; C. C. Gilbert, Tennessee; W. B. Belknap, Kentucky; James W. Hubbell, Iowa; J. E. Frederick, Indiana; B. B. Sheffield, Minnesota, and Frank B. McMillan, Ohio.

In several of the states the movement to cut governmental costs is meeting with success, according to some of the state chairmen.

Make Progress in Wisconsin.

Speaking for Wisconsin, E. H. Kreuger of Milwaukee said that with taxpayers organized in 100 cities and counties, local taxes in the last year have been reduced 20 per cent, with indications that 1933 will bring further reductions of at least 25 per cent more.

From Michigan Mr. Beukema of Muskegon, representing 42 business organizations, reported that already 97 bills have been introduced in the legislature at Lansing designed to reduce the budget by eliminating or consolidating many of the existing bureaus.

In South Dakota the efforts of the N. O. R. P. E. have been reflected in a reduction of the state budget by more than a million dollars, according to Mr. Wilson. He added that to date every effort to seek aid from the Reconstruction Finance corporation has been defeated by South Dakota taxpayer organizations.

Mr. Mann, whose home is Kansas City, called attention to the Missouri plan for economies in state government, the program, one of the most comprehensive presented to the conference, having, he declared, the support of hundreds of taxpayers organized in every county and city precinct.

Richard Dix Seeks Name for New Baby Daughter

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 26.—[Special.]—Richard Dix, movie star, and his wife, the former Winifred Coe, nonprofessional, today were debating a name for a daughter, weighing seven pounds and ten ounces, born last night at Good Samaritan hospital. "We have the field now restricted to a choice of three names," Dix said. Dr. Maurice Siemons said daughter and mother were doing nicely.

Seize Auto Thief

AUTOMOBILE THEFTS.

Automobiles stolen, 81; recovered, 68; stripped, 17 [from Chicago police records for twenty-four hours ending at midnight Wednesday].

Court case: Edwin Bayer, charged with larceny of an automobile, held to the grand jury by Judge John Gutknecht.

The theft of a new $1,200 automobile on Tuesday, in which a salesman was victimized by a man who asked a demonstration of the car, was cleared up yesterday and the thief lodged in jail. He is Leon Ellzey, 48 years old, 1313 Ridgeland avenue, Berwyn, who said he was a civil engineer. Ellzey was identified by H. H. Moritz, an employé of a motor company at 4701 Washington boulevard, the salesman.

Policemen Theodore Wolf and Frank Kerber of Oak Park saw the car in a garage at 838 North boulevard, Oak Park, and questioned Ellzey's sons, Seborn and Robert, employés there. They admitted their father had brought the car there and the elder Ellzey was arrested in his home.

Ellzey said he had contracted with three men to drive them to Florida as passengers and that he stole the automobile for that purpose. He said a job awaited him in Florida.

BLATCHFORD TO RESIGN POST AS SCHOOL TRUSTEE

The resignation of Carter Blatchford from the board of education will take effect within the next day or two, it was reported yesterday. Mr. Blatchford said last night that he had not yet written his resignation, which is to be submitted to Mayor Cermak.

Lewis E. Myers, president of the board, has sent in his resignation, effective on passage of the 1933 school budget. This action is expected Monday. Mayor Cermak will gain control of the board through the appointment of new trustees to replace Myers and Blatchford, who are appointees of a former administration. The mayor at present has four appointees on the board. The two new members will give him a majority of the eleven trustees.

The new appointments may be announced at the next regular board meeting on Wednesday.

Thomas V. Sullivan, attorney for the school board, conferred with B. L. Rosset, president of the Metropolitan Trust company, upon plans for obtaining a loan from the Reconstruction Finance corporation to pay the back salaries of teachers and other school employés. The amount of the loan to be asked has not been determined. Mr. Sullivan and Mr. Rosset probably will leave for Washington Sunday to make the application. The loan would be made direct to the trust company, which in turn would purchase tax anticipation warrants to use as collateral for the loan.

U. S. TAXPAYERS IN ANGRY MOOD, BANKERS TOLD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 26.—More taxpayers' strikes may result from failure to reduce the cost of government and taxation, according to warnings sounded by speakers at today's sessions of the annual eastern regional savings conference of the American Bankers' association.

"Taxpayers are in an angry mood," Prof. H. W. Dodds of Princeton university said, "and the distressing thing about it is the small amount of constructive suggestions that comes out of this hue and cry."

Prof. Dodds is a member of the commission appointed by Gov. Moore to make a survey of state finances in New Jersey. He told how that commission favored a reduction of $15,000,000 in the cost of government. He considered that a fair showing, since the survey was concerned with a budget of $50,000,000.

Another speaker was State Senator Samuel H. Wragg of Needham, Mass., chairman of the committee on municipal finance of the Massachusetts legislature. He also is chairman of its joint special committee on public expenditures. He asserted that unless the tax burden is lightened "there are possibilities of more taxpayers' strikes."

ALKY SYNDICATE SLUGGER HELD TO U. S. GRAND JURY

Walter Leonard, 25 years old, 1705 West 19th street, alleged slugger for an alcohol syndicate in the Marquette police district, was held to the grand jury yesterday by United States Commissioner Walker on a charge of liquor law violation. His bond was fixed at $10,000.

Testimony showed that Leonard and two others beat Stanley Hodur, a grocer, 1650 West 18th street, when he refused to buy their alcohol. The government also charged that some 20 windows in stores and restaurants had been broken because the owners refused to buy alcohol from Leonard.

"This defendant told the merchants that he was stronger than the police, the state, and even announced that he was stronger than President Hoover," Assistant United States Attorney Albert W. Bosworth told the court.

RUSSIA LAUNCHES DRIVE TO CAPTURE CHINESE TRADE

U. S., Europe, and Japan Face Loss of Markets.

BY JOHN POWELL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TIENTSIN, Jan. 26.—Soviet Russia apparently has made extensive plans for fighting the American, European and Japanese "imperialists" for the trade of the Chinese republic. That impression is being created in the various Chinese ports by the fact that shortly after China's resumption of relations with Russia on Dec. 12, there appeared in Shanghai harbor several ships loaded with soviet products, chiefly lumber from Siberia.

Much of this lumber was cut in lengths unfamiliar to the Chinese timber trade and there was considerable talk about its being the product of Siberian prison camps. The price was considerably lower than competing products from the United States and Canada.

Forsee Petroleum Competition.

Although soviet produced gasoline and kerosene have practically supplanted the American and British products in north Manchuria in the past two years, soviet petroleum products have not been widely sold in China proper, despite the fact that the price is lower by five cents a gallon. This has been due to the uncertain legal status of dealers as a result of the lack of Sino-Soviet diplomatic relations. In Tientsin one Chinese dealer in soviet kerosene was arrested and imprisoned for dealing in contraband goods. However, American and British oil producers make no forecasts regarding the future.

The fact that Chinese merchants have evinced considerable enthusiasm at the resumption of diplomatic relations has been chiefly responsible for the feeling that Russia will apply new tactics in its future dealings in China. After the break occasioned by the downfall of the czarist régime and the coming into power of the soviets in 1918, China resumed relations with Moscow on May 31, 1924. Russian activities in China from then on were predominantly "political" rather than commercial.

Soviets Overplay Hand.

The soviets had not conceived their five year plan and chiefly were concerned with converting China's millions to communism. This activity was directed by numerous so-called soviet "advisers" or experts. Schools for the teaching of Russian revolutionary doctrines were established and communist "cells" were created in Chinese labor unions, the Chinese army and elsewhere.

But the Russians over-played their hand and when the Chinese political and military leaders realized the real import of the soviet policy, there came a break, which resulted in the raiding of soviet consulates and even the embassy in Peiping. In Canton Chinese mobs murdered several soviet citizens and dragged their bodies through the streets.

Today, however, the Russians appear to be more interested in finding outlets for their goods than in a renewal of their campaign for the conversion of China to Red doctrines. The Chinese government has confirmed the appointment of D. B. Bogomoloff as soviet ambassador to China and the soviets have confirmed Dr. W. W. Yen as Chinese ambassador to Moscow. Dr. Yen, prior to his appointment as minister to Washington, D. C., was a merchant in Tientsin.

Russia Denies Trade Pact.

MOSCOW, Jan. 27 [Friday].—(AP)—An official communique today officially denied charges, said to have emanated from the Tientsin correspondent of a Tokio newspaper, that the soviet government and China have entered into a secret trade agreement at Peiping "aimed at strengthening the anti-Japanese boycott."

Describing the report as "a provocative invention from beginning to end," the statement declared that there was no soviet trade representative at Peiping and that no negotiations whatsoever regarding a trade agreement with China had been entered into anywhere.

OFFER PERSHING PIECE OF LAND AT BATTLE SITE

[Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.]

PARIS, Jan. 26.—A piece of land in the Marne district where the United States army fought during the world war will be offered to Gen. John J. Pershing as a gift symbolizing Franco-American friendship.

The fact that a French and American committee had formed to acquire and present the land was learned today when three members of the body, which supervised the gift to France from Americans of the huge statue at Meaux, presented a medal commemorating its unveiling to former Premier Herriot.

Herriot, when informed of the intention to honor Gen. Pershing anew, eagerly expressed willingness to join the group, to which several other members of parliament already belong.

ACID STOMACH IS DANGEROUS

Sufferers from Indigestion CUT THIS OUT

"Stomach trouble, dyspepsia, indigestion, sourness, gas, heartburn, food fermentation, etc., are caused nine times in ten by chronic acid stomach," says a well known authority.

Burning hydrochloric acid develops in the stomach at an alarming rate. The acid irritates and inflames the delicate stomach lining and often leads to gastritis or stomach ulcers. Don't dose an acid stomach with pepsin or artificial digestants that only give temporary relief from pain by driving the sour, fermenting food out of the stomach into the intestines.

Instead, neutralize or sweeten your acid stomach after meals with a little Bisurated Magnesia and not only will the pain vanish but your meals will digest naturally. There is nothing better than Bisurated Magnesia to sweeten and settle an acid stomach. Your stomach acts and feels fine in just a few minutes. Bisurated Magnesia can be obtained from any Walgreen Drug Store. It is safe, reliable, easy and pleasant to use, is not a laxative and is not at all expensive.

SANFORD COONS GETS DIVORCE ON CRUELTY CHARGE

SANFORD F. COONS.

Sanford F. Coons, 80 years old, retired cosmetics manufacturer, was granted an uncontested divorce from Mrs. Lillian M. Coons, 44 years old, 9813 South Winchester avenue, by Judge Harry B. Miller in the Superior court yesterday. Coons charged cruelty. Mrs. Coons got a $35,000 settlement, attorneys disclosed.

Coons and his daughter by a previous marriage, Mrs. Virginia Harbison, both testified that Mrs. Coons was subject to "raving rages," during which no one could talk to her, and that she habitually inflicted violence on her husband. Coons described a steamer trip to the Bahamas, during which, he said, Mrs. Coons dragged him from his berth as he slept and beat him so severely that he finished the trip under the care of a doctor. Another witness was Henry Bonhart, a Negro, who said that he "hustled up" for the Coons family for three years.

"One day Mrs. Coons hit Mr. Coons with a stick and broke his glasses," Bonhart said. "Mr. Coons had to run and hide in the garage. He never hit Mrs. Coons back. He just tried to get away from her."

Mrs. Coons was not present in court. Her attorney, Paul F. Koenig, presented a stipulation that she would not contest the divorce and withdrew her original bill for separate maintenance.

Some time ago Mrs. Coons obtained an injunction barring her husband from their home when she filed that bill. Coons, trying to enter one night, shot Humphrey W. Falls, a private detestive hired by Mrs. Coons, when Fall tried to bar his path. Coons was acquitted in court.

WARNS AUTOISTS NOT TO BLOCK FIRE ENGINES

Fire fans were warned yesterday by Acting Fire Commissioner Carmody that they were subjecting the department to unnecessary risks and were increasing the menace of accidental flames.

"Motorists who follow equipment and park near a fire," said the acting commissioner, "delay our getting into action. They blockade streets for any additional apparatus that must be called. This endangers lives and may be responsible for additional property loss.

"The uniform traffic code of Chicago forbids following fire apparatus closer than 500 feet. The ordinance requires private motorists to pull to the curb at the approach of fire equipment. And it prohibits any one from driving over a fire hose."

JUDGES DIVIDED ON NEW PLAN TO NAME RECEIVERS

Friend Opposes Change, but Sullivan Is for It.

A rift in the ranks of the Circuit and Superior judges over the appointment of corporations as receivers was indicated yesterday. Circuit Judge Hugo Friend declared himself against any proposal to discontinue the present method of appointment of such receivers. Other judges have advocated a change as a means of curbing excessive fees and other abuses of receiverships.

Circuit Judge Harry Fisher first advocated doing away with corporations acting as receivers at a meeting of Circuit judges several months ago. He proposed that each judge of the court appoint his own receiver as they appoint their masters in chancery. There are 20 judges in the court. From this list opposing lawyers would be asked to select a receiver for the property involved in a foreclosure action under his plan.

Committee Is Investigating.

The plan is being considered by a committee of judges of both courts conducting an inquiry into receiverships. Judges Fisher and Friend and Superior Judges Denis E. Sullivan and William J. Lindsay are members of the committee. Judge Sullivan has declared himself opposed to corporations acting as receivers because they cannot be held directly accountable to the court as can an individual and because corporations frequently delegate persons without proper qualifications to handle a receivership.

"I do not share Judge Sullivan's views as quoted," Judge Friend said. "I believe that in most instances, where litigants are in agreement on a receiver, the court should follow their wishes, exercising, of course, a proper supervision.

"Many of the evils that have crept into the receivership situation have arisen from the unwarranted interference by the court with the parties' conduct of their litigation. There should be no fixed rule in the appointment of receivers. Each case ought to be considered by itself. Some can best be handled by individuals and others by corporations."

Predict Strong Opposition.

Judges, who do not sit in the chancery division of the courts, where receiverships are heard, predicted Judge Fisher's plan would meet with strong opposition of lawyers and the public. They said the proposal would be attacked on the ground it tends to throw receivership appointments into politics.

It was pointed out that while each judge appoints his master he does so on advice of the county central committees. These committees will seek the appointment of the receivers to the judges and the receivers so appointed will owe allegiance to political parties, they said.

JACOBS PREPARES TO ASSESS BONDS IN FORECLOSURE

Plans to Add Them to Personalty Rolls.

County Assessor J. L. Jacobs yesterday ordered an investigation of bonds held by bondholders' committee of foreclosed properties for the purpose of placing personal property assessments against the securities. Such an assessment, if carried through, would add millions of dollars to the valuation of the county's personalty.

Such bonds were previously exempted on the theory that the property involved would be subjected to a double assessment in paying both real estate and personal property taxes. Assessor Jacobs has been told, however, that the properties in foreclosure rarely pay taxes and that all their income is being eaten up in litigation.

Attorney Makes Suggestion.

Attorney Newell Mecartney suggested the assessment of the bonds. He offered to give the assessor a list of large bondholders' committees on which work could be begun. The offer was accepted and the list will be presented within a week. Attorney Mecartney also urged an assessment on deficiency judgments secured on foreclosures against small homes.

Deficiency judgments are secured after the sale of a foreclosed property if the sale brings less than the amount of the mortgage. If a property mortgaged at $5,000 is sold in foreclosure for $4,000 the holder of the mortgage can get a $1,000 deficiency judgment against the owner of the property and force collection by taking the amount from whatever other property the owner may possess.

Gets County Attorney's Opinion.

Assessor Jacobs conferred with County Attorney Hayden Bell on the legality of assessing deficiency judgments and the bonds of foreclosed properties. Attorney Bell said he believed the assessment might be made.

Deputies of the assessor's office will search court records for the lists of bonds on foreclosed properties which are in the hands of bondholders' committees. Conferences are to be held with the committees for the purpose of fixing the value of the bonds against particular properties.

Crazed Father Kills Four Children with a Hammer

ST. PERPETUE, Que., Jan. 26.—(AP)—Suddenly demented, Lucien Girard, farmer of this Nicolet county village, today turned upon his young children, the police charged, and killed four of them with a hammer. A fifth was probably fatally injured. Girard was seized immediately afterward. The dead children ranged in age from 3 years to 2 months. The mother discovered the bodies on returning from a visit to a neighbor.

ARREST PENNY MACHINE OWNERS.

Two Park Ridge merchants were arrested yesterday when it was found they were operating penny ball machines in their places and paying premiums for high scores. They are John Kenelis, owner of a restaurant at 100 Main street, and Nicholas Nanos, who conducts a confectionery store at 120 Main street.

'31 TAX PROGRAM HELD UP BY NEW ATTACK ON ROLLS

Bistor-Pratt Group Wants Personalty Revision.

George F. Nixon and Fred W. Brummel, members of the board of tax appeals, agreed last evening to delay the certification of the 1931 personal property assessment books until after Jan. 31. Their promise was made to a group of taxpayers who appeared at a night hearing and demanded that the personal property rolls, as prepared by Assessor J. L. Jacobs, be "completely revised."

A week ago the board members promised a group of civic leaders and county officials that they would complete the hearings of the objections to the assessment by Jan. 28. It was pointed out at that time that the 1931 tax bills could not be sent out on schedule if the books were held longer. A delay in sending out the tax bills will necessitate the extension of the penalty date for the first installment of 1931 real estate taxes, now set for March 1.

Upsets Sargent Group Plans.

Extension of the penalty date, the board was told, would upset the plan upon which the Sargent committee on public expenditures bases its hopes of saving Cook county from the tax muddle. The personal property books are needed by the county clerk in fixing the tax rates from which the individual tax bills are calculated.

Those who appeared before the board last evening were James M. Bistor and John M. Pratt, officials of the Association of Real Estate Taxpayers. Representing their group with Attorneys Ferre C. Watkins and Perry K. Ten Hoor, they demanded that Assessor Jacobs be placed under oath and examined on the methods used to make the 1931 personalty assessment.

After insisting that they be sworn by the appeals board Bistor and Pratt testified that there were gross inequalities in the assessment. They charged that the banks and loop business houses had been given special consideration, and asserted that all the assessed valuations had been made from "telephone books, club membership lists, and public utilities bills."

The group demanded that a complete revision of all the assessed valuations now on the assessment books be made upon the directions of the appeals board.

Retire to Deliberate.

After hearing the arguments the board retired to Nixon's office, remaining fifteen minutes, and then returned to read the following statement: "The board realizes the seriousness of the charges made tonight and desires an opportunity to study the evidence. The assessment roll will not be certified until this matter is decided. Further hearings will be held on Tuesday, Jan. 31, 1933."

Assessor Jacobs then spoke, although earlier he had refused to reply to the charges of Pratt and Bistor. He said: "The assessor has developed methods to bring about a fair and equitable assessment with the money and time available and considering the limitations of the assessment statute. He asked the coöperation of all taxpayers, and assured them that treatment would be uniform.

"The making of this assessment is too important to be stopped by this or any group which is seeking to tear down government. I can't let them get away with statements made here tonight, most of which are inaccurate, many more of which are half truths.

"My answer is that for the first time in 30 years the county will have a live personal property roll on which every item is collectable. My office, working all this out in the short period of seven months, has maintained to the highest degree the integrity of the roll."

Lloyd L. Boyce, a witness in the Florence Mosher divorce trial, who was identified by lawyers as the owner of a monument company in Clinton, Ia., is in no way connected with the W. L. Boyce Memorial Art company, of Clinton, according to a letter from the owner, W. L. Boyce. The letter stated that Lloyd Boyce, who is a son of W. L. Boyce, was employed as a salesman two years ago but is not connected with the firm in any capacity at present.

A list of fees paid to bank receivers and their attorneys, printed on Jan. 22, said that State Senator Arthur A. Huebsch received $9,022 as attorney for the receiver of the Congress Park State bank. This was a stenographic error, Senator Huebsch's fee having been only $750.

RULE BAINS MUST FACE NEW TRIAL; SET FOR MARCH 20

John Bain, head of the chain of 12 closed Bain banks, his son, John H. Bain, and son-in-law, W. Merle Fisher, must stand trial March 20, on the charge of accepting deposits in the West Englewood State bank while the bank was insolvent. This was the ruling yesterday of Judge James F. Fardy in the Criminal court. Another defendant in the same case, who may win a separate trial, is Edward C. Barry, vice president of the West Englewood bank.

Judge Fardy overruled a motion of Defense Attorney Harry Olson, representing the Bains and Fisher, that the prosecution be dropped because it would place his clients in double jeopardy. The three men have been convicted of conspiracy in connection with the bank failures. The elder Bain was sentenced to five years in prison and his son and Fisher were fined $1,000 each.

Prosecutor Edwin J. Raber cited several examples of law to show that the charge of accepting deposits in an insolvent bank was different and could not be confused with the general charge of conspiracy.

The fourth defendant, Barry, was represented by the public defender, who indicated he would request a separate trial. The judge ordered that his motion be entered between now and the trial date.

Judge Fardy set the trial for March 20 at the request of Prosecutor Raber, who said that because of ill health he would have to take a long rest.

10 questions answered explain why PINEAPPLE-CANNED has more known health values than any other fruit

New Food Research Reveals Information of the Utmost Importance to Everyone's Daily Diet

1 When was it found that canned pineapple is so valuable in diet?

It has always been known that pineapple is generous in vitamin content and valuable in diet. Only recently, however, has it been proved by dietetic research that Canned Pineapple eaten daily actually has the power to correct many of the deficiencies which exist in ordinary diet.

2 What does the daily eating of canned pineapple do for one?

Canned Pineapple is known to do more different things to benefit health than any other fruit. It possesses, first, the property of helping to maintain the normal alkalinity of the blood. Canned Pineapple, eaten daily, is, for normal persons, an effective safeguard against the condition known as "acidosis."

3 Does canned pineapple do more than this?

Yes. Most fruits possess important dietetic values but Canned Pineapple is known to possess more than any other fruit. It contains the minerals—iron, copper, manganese, calcium, phosphorus. Iron, copper and manganese help to protect against nutritional anemia; calcium and phosphorus are indispensible to normal health.

4 Does canned pineapple influence the elimination of waste products from the body?

Yes. Canned Pineapple promotes the elimination of waste products from the body by stimulating kidney function.

5 Does canned pineapple contain vitamins?

Yes. Canned Pineapple is a generous source of vitamins A, B and C. Vitamin A, many authorities agree, is important in building resistance to colds, and it is often deficient in ordinary diet. Vitamin B is antineuritic in its action and a growth promoter. C is the antiscorbutic vitamin and pineapple is an excellent source of this vitamin.

6 How does pineapple aid digestion?

Canned Pineapple has a definitely stimulating effect on "protease activity." It accelerates protein digestion. For this reason it is an excellent fruit to eat with such foods as meats, eggs, beans. No other fruit or vegetable is known to aid protein digestion in a degree comparable to pineapple.

7 How does canned pineapple compare with fresh fruits in cost?

Canned Pineapple is more economical than most fresh fruits. It is available in uniform flavor and nutritional values, the year around. Not only has it more known dietetic values than most fruits but it is economical.

8 How should canned pineapple be eaten?

One of the remarkable things about Canned Pineapple is its effectiveness in small daily servings. From a culinary viewpoint its many established uses are commended but, for health, start or end one meal a day with a cup of crushed pineapple, or tidbits, or its equivalent, two slices.

9 Do the statements made here apply to all pineapple?

For daily use, Canned Pineapple is recommended. Canning temperatures cause a beneficial change. The dietetic importance of Canned Pineapple of all kinds and grades has been studied carefully.

10 Then it is actually true that canned pineapple has more known dietetic values than any other fruit for daily use by human beings?

Yes. This is the fact indicated by previous findings and established by recent nutritional research on human subjects. Canned Pineapple in its prescribed serving is now being added to the diet regimes of many great institutions.

The proper amount for daily diet is two slices or a Pineapple Cup of crushed or tidbits. Take it in this form or in salads or desserts

SHOW GIRL DEMANDS $250,000 BALM FROM RICH MARRIED MAN

New York, Jan. 26.—[Special.]—Betrayal, which followed a Paris champagne supper, was charged by Mary O. Clark, red haired Broadway show girl, today in a $250,000 breach of promise suit brought against Sewell T. Tyng. Tyng is the son of Mrs William Adams Kissam, wealthy member of the Vanderbilt society clan.

Mary, who came from Anniston, Ala., to display her shapeliness in Earl Carroll's "Vanities," George White's "Manhattan Mary," and the Shuberts' "Artists and Models," declared Tyng for two years promised to marry her.

It was not until she insisted that he wed her that she discovered he was married to the former Ruth Hapgood, daughter of Norman Hapgood, publicist and former United States minister to Denmark.

Miss Clark said she was working as an entertainer at the Club Abbey in 1930 when she met Tyng. Later she said, Tyng asked her to go to Europe with him and marry him abroad.

"My mother is one of the 400," he told me, "and she might try to interfere if she knew I was marrying a show girl."

Miss Clark said they occupied separate cabins and she kept her door locked. In Paris they went to the Folies Bergère, she said, and after the theater she went back to the hotel to retire, but Tyng came to her room and made advances.

"I ran into the street and tried to hide, but Tyng found me and promised he would behave if I would return to the hotel," she said. "He ordered champagne, and after I had taken a few glasses—I don't remember what happened."

NEW YORK ASKS $19,000,000 LOAN FOR RELIEF FUND

Washington, D. C., Jan. 26.—[Special.]—A New York state delegation was assured by the Reconstruction Finance corporation that favorable action would be taken shortly on its application for a $19,000,000 emergency relief loan.

The loan represents the first installment of $45,000,000 which the state expects to obtain from Uncle Sam for alleviation of distress.

Harry L. Hopkins, chairman of the temporary emergency relief commission, presented the New York request for emergency funds today.

The New York state authorities take the position that inasmuch as they contributed about 30 per cent of the taxes with which the 300 million emergency relief fund was raised, they are entitled to a $45,000,000 loan. New York state anticipates it will need 120 millions for relief work this coming year. The loan asked today is New York's first.

COUNTY WILL PAY PENSIONERS AND EMPLOYES TODAY

There will be a pay day for 4,500 county employés and county pensioners today, County Treasurer Joseph B. McDonough announced yesterday. The aggregate amount will total $745,812, he said, and the pay roll will be met through the fee earnings of his office.

Former employés of the clerk of the Circuit court and of the state's attorney's office, who were dismissed when Democrats assumed those offices, will be paid in full within two days, Treasurer McDonough said. That pay roll will amount to $200,000.

The county employés will be paid for the second half of July, the amount aggregating $426,453. Other amounts are $81,000 for the month of July to the nurses of the county hospital; $70,000 to jurors for the month of August; $48,000 for the mothers' pensions, and $120,359 for blind pensions.

Ex-Convict Shot in Gun Battle with Vigilantes

Leo West, 29 years old, a former convict from Fort Madison, Ia., was shot and seriously wounded yesterday in a gun battle with members of the Peotone vigilante committee on the Dixie highway between Beecher and Peotone. The vigilantes halted West's car after the former convict had tried to rob a gasoline filling station in Beecher. West was taken to St. Joseph's hospital, Joliet, with gunshot slugs in his head and face.

EX-CAPT. MUNRO IS ORDERED BACK TO SING SING CELL

New York, Jan. 26.—[Special.]—Despite his plea that a sentence to Sing Sing would cause him to be killed as a "squealer," Alexander Munro, former British army captain, inventor of a check protecting machine, today was ordered sent back to that prison for five years by Judge Otto F. Rosalsky. Munro had pleaded guilty to forgery as a second offender.

While he was in Sing Sing in 1930 serving a five to ten year sentence for check raising, Munro overheard two Negro convicts talking about the stabbing to death of 17 year old Rubin Kaminsky, during a brawl in the prison yard. He informed the authorities, and his testimony was instrumental in convicting the Negroes of the murder.

The testimony earned him a parole from the governor, which was granted him on condition that he return to Scotland, his birthplace, and never return to America. Munro did go home, but he returned. When arrested police said, they found nearly $100,000 worth of bad checks in his possession.

Boat and Liquor Cargo of $400,000 Is Seized

New York, Jan. 26.—[Special.]—With 20,000 gallons of uncut rye whisky, valued at $400,000, in tanks, the Diesel powered barge Ulster of New York was seized off Fort Johnson, N. J., early today by the crew of the coast guard chaser 4302. Five men found aboard the barge were arrested.

Woman Knocked Down as She Surprises Negro Robber

Mrs. Dolores Utter was struck and knocked down by a Negro burglar early today as she entered the front door of her home at 729 Irving Park boulevard. The man fled before her husband, Arthur Utter, who, putting his car in a garage, could go to her aid. The couple found that the man had taken jewelry valued at $700, a pistol, and several rare coins.

Stamp Collector Pays $50,000 for Rare Block

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 26.—(AP)—An unidentified mid-western stamp collector today paid $50,000 to the estate of John Kay, Detroit, nationally known philatelist, who died in 1931, for sixteen volumes of United States stamps comprising a portion of the Kay library. The collection sold included a block of 24 cent United States stamps said to be worth $15,000 alone.

SEIZE CON GAME SUSPECT IN HIS 7 ROOM FLAT

Clayton L. Smythe, said by police to be a real estate subdivider, was arrested yesterday in his apartment at 3530 Sheridan road on four charges of operating a confidence game made by residents of Belleville, Ill.

Lieut. John McGinnis and Sergt. Matthew Quilter of the detective bureau took the warrants to the building, and for two hours watched one of Smythe's expensive automobiles, which was parked in front. When the chauffeur drove away without his master, the policemen went to Smythe's apartment.

After some argument Mrs. Smythe admitted them, but refused to tell where her husband was. The detectives searched the seven room apartment and found no trace of him, until they noticed a bathroom, both doors of which were locked.

When Lieut. McGinnis shouted to Sergt. Quilter that he intended shooting through the door, Smythe opened it and surrendered. He refused to discuss the charges, and police were given no details regarding them by Belleville authorities.

Rheumatism
Aching Muscles Swollen Joints
PAIN EASED FIRST DAY

Excess uric acid and other poisons settling in the joints and muscles cause rheumatism. You cannot get rid of your suffering until these irritating poisons are driven out of your system. That's why external remedies and pain deadening drugs only give temporary relief.

What you need is RU-MA, the internal medicine that gets right at the cause. It acts directly on the liver, kidneys and blood and helps expel from the system the dangerous poisons that cause rheumatic suffering.

No long, discouraging wait while you wonder if that awful pain will ever stop, for RU-MA begins to act the very first day. Almost magically your muscles and joints limber up. That's why Walgreen's guarantee it to give you blessed freedom from crippling lameness, swollen, inflamed joints and rheumatic suffering or your money back. Take them up on this generous offer today.

ELMWOOD PARK OFFICIALS SUED; FRAUD CHARGED

Insurance Companies Ask an Accounting.

Officials and trustees of the village of Elmwood Park are charged with fraudulent handling of public funds in suits for an accounting filed in the federal District court yesterday on behalf of three Des Moines, Ia., insurance companies.

Besides the village, the following are named defendants: Charles P. Hoehamer, president, and Thomas Carey, Eugene Ceragioli, John Culerton, George W. Mulroney, Thomas V. Neil, and Albert Redmer, trustees; Arne O. Kvistad, clerk; Fred White, collector; Urban V. Bedard, treasurer; and Herman F. Bloechel, former treasurer.

Accused as Embezzler.

On Jan. 18 the village board adopted a resolution stating that Bloechel, the former treasurer, who has been held to the grand jury on charges of embezzling $9,356, failed to keep each special assessment fund in a separate account or to apply collections in each of the specific bonded indebtedness for

SAXON DIET SHUT AFTER RIOT; REDS BEAT HITLERITE

All Meetings Prohibited After Fatal Battle.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Jan. 26.—Reverberations from last night's political riot in Dresden, in which nine communists were killed and eleven wounded in a battle with police, reached the Saxon diet today.

The parliamentary session, which was debating the clash, was suddenly thrown into an uproar when two communist deputies attacked a National Socialist newspaper reporter in the gallery, who, so the Reds claimed, had made insulting remarks. Other deputies and spectators joined the fray and the session was ordered adjourned.

Prohibit All Meetings.

Previously, Socialists and communists had sponsored two motions designed to punish the police for their part in the bloodshed of the preceding night and to launch an investigation of the affair.

With much of the population of Dresden in a state of excitement because of the clash, police acted to prevent further rioting by prohibiting all open air meetings and parades. About 800 workers in the big Niedersedlitz factory walked out in a protest strike.

Police and communist versions of the affair conflict. Police declare that they did not fire until after they had been fired upon by Reds in the crowd of 1,000, which was at the meeting. Communists claim that police fired without provocation.

Government Threatens Action.

The clash, one of the bloodiest of its kind Saxony has experienced, also had repercussions in federal government circles. A spokesman said that if there is further bloodshed the government will renew the drastic emergency decrees regarding political rows which were in effect during Franz von Papen's régime as chancellor.

More excitement was created in political circles today by a report that Adolf Hitler had informed President von Hindenburg that he was ready to compromise and take part in a national cabinet without being chancellor. The report had scarcely been published, however, before Hitler's representative in Berlin issued a vehement denial.

CHINESE ATTACK JAPANESE INSIDE OF GREAT WALL

SHANHAIKWAN, China, Jan. 27 (Friday).—(AP)—Japanese reports said a strong Chinese force attacked Japanese troops holding Chiumenkow ("Pass of the Nine Gates"), in the Great Wall of China, about 12 miles north of here, early today. The Chinese were reported to have retreated after a three hour battle.

The Chinese were believed to be a portion of the command of Gen. Ho Chu-kuo, Chinese commander of the Shanhaikwan garrison, who was ousted when the Japanese occupied this city Jan. 3 after a terrific battle.

The Rengo (Japanese) News agency learned that reinforcements were being rushed to Chiumenkow from Suichung, Manchuria, by the Japanese.

A Japanese cavalry brigade which captured the northern section of Chiumenkow, including important entrances from China proper into Jehol province, Jan. 10, left a small garrison behind.

The cavalry brigade continued "mopping up" Chinese bands along the Jehol-Manchurian border, pushing northward to Chinsi, where it recently joined two other Japanese forces concentrating there.

BROOKLYN NEGRO ADMITS KILLING 6 YEAR OLD GIRL

New York, Jan. 27 (Friday).—[Special.]—Assistant District Attorney William S. McGuiness of Kings county early today announced in Brooklyn that Lloyd Price, a 22 year old Negro, with two former convictions for degeneracy, had confessed to the murder of Helen Sterier, a 6 year old girl whose strangled body was found early Wednesday in the basement of a tenement house in Brooklyn.

Price's confession followed a grilling by detectives. He was firm in his denial of any knowledge of the crime until just before he is alleged to have made a confession of the entire affair. He said that he had lured the girl to the cellar by offering her a pretzel, later found near the body, and a 25-cent piece.

Price was escorted by Acting Captain James J. Gagan and detectives to the premises where the Sterier girl's body was found and there reënacted the crime.

ROBBED OF $500 IN GOLD.

Burglars entered the home of James Georgacopolos, 920 North Laramie avenue, early yesterday and escaped with $500 in gold coins. Georgacopolos told police that the coins belonged to his wife and daughter.

Piles Go Quick

No Salves—No Cutting

Thousands who have piles have not yet learned that quick and lasting relief can only be accomplished with an internal medicine. Neither salves nor suppositories remove the cause.

Bad circulation of blood in the lower bowel causes piles. The hemorrhoidal veins are flabby, the bowel walls weak—the parts almost dead. To get rid of Piles an internal medicine must be used to stimulate the circulation, drive out the thick, impure blood, heal and restore the affected parts.

Dr. J. S. Leonhardt, after years of study, found a real internal Pile remedy. He called his discovery HEM-ROID, and prescribed it for 1000 patients with success in over 900 cases, and then decided every Pile sufferer, no matter how stubborn their case, might try his prescription with a money back guarantee.

HEM-ROID tablets have such a wonderful record of success that Walgreen's invite you to try HEM-ROID and guarantee money refunded if it does not end your Pile misery.

CHILDREN SAVE 130 PENNIES AND AID HUNGER FUND

Money Will Buy 26 Hot Lunches.

A pair of Highland Park children will be happy this morning to know that the pennies they saved have reached the Hungry School Children's fund and will buy a hot lunch for 26 hungry pupils.

The children are Marise and David Worth, 633 Vine avenue. Out of their allowances for candy, ice cream and such things they saved 130 pennies which they sent to the hunger fund.

Three grown-up groups sent generous gifts yesterday. These were $15, the proceeds of a charity bridge given by the Irene V. Marder Memorial club at the Madison Park hotel; $10 given by the financial division of the Chicago Mail Order company in memory of Mrs. Louie Marks, and $10 from the girls of the service group of the Pestalozzi Froebel Teachers college, who hoped their gift would make "some little children happier and more eager to learn."

The day's total of $50.05 fell short of the $20,000 mark, which should be reached today. Acknowledgment is made of the following gifts:

$15—Proceeds of the charity bridge given by the Irene V. Marder Memorial club.

$5.50—The Bookhouse for Children.

$1.30—Marise and David Worth, 633 Vine avenue, Highland Park, from pennies saved.

$1—Bridge Foursome Prize; Mrs. J. E. D.

25 cents—Anonymous.

Total	$ 50.05
Previously acknowledged	19,922.39
Grand total	$19,972.44

NEW MYSTERY BOMBING PLANES ORDERED BY U. S.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 26.—[Special.]—A guarded announcement by the war department of an award of a $2,080,890 contract for 38 bombing planes of a new type to the Glenn L. Martin company of Baltimore, confirmed today reports of the development of what is believed to be the most powerful military weapon produced by any nation since the war.

This new bombardment plane is reported to be capable of carrying a full load of more than 2,000 pounds of high explosive bombs at speeds in excess of 200 miles an hour—almost as fast as the best pursuit planes in production today.

This speed bulks so big in tactical circles that it is doubted if even the new Boeing P-26 pursuits, of which 111 were also contracted for today, can boast a margin of speed sufficient to enable them to cope with a squadron of the new bombers.

An estimate of the importance attached to this new plane by the war department is provided by the unusual nature of the contract. This is said to be without peace time precedent, providing, as it does, for the immediate construction of the planes on the basis of the performance of a single experimental prototype.

DOES RHEUMATIC AGONY DRIVE YOU CRAZY?

You cannot hope to get lasting relief from cruel, crippling rheumatic aches and pains if you are a slave to laxative drugs.

Medical authorities make no secret of the fact that often sluggish bowels contribute the poisons and acid conditions which result in painful, swollen, inflamed limbs and joints. You must stop these poisons at the source.

The Cream of Nujol treatment does this at a cost of only a few cents a day. Doctors specially recommend this new form of Nujol treatment for those suffering from rheumatic conditions. Cream of Nujol lubricates laxative-dried bowels, gives them new elasticity and activity, so that poisonous wastes are thrown off daily by natural peristaltic action. The new harmless Cream of Nujol treatment will make you regular as clockwork and will not interfere with your work or your play. Moreover, it is delicious and easy to take. Get Cream of Nujol tonight at any drug counter.

70 MILE GALE IN EAST LEAVES TRAIL OF RUIN

Towns Inundated; Ships Wrecked; 3 Drowned.

New York, Jan. 26.—[Special.]—A gale which roared up the Atlantic coast from North Carolina to this city over night, whipping the ocean to fury and inundating seaside towns, left behind it today a trail of wreckage and took the lives of three men.

The storm, raging over a wide area, also caused trouble to the navy dirigible Akron, forcing it to make a flight to the middle west during the night as it battled the gale and driving rain. Unable to land because of the storm, the big airship flew as far as Cleveland and returned safely to its base at Lakehurst, N. J., at 8:10 o'clock tonight.

Buildings Blown Down.

Sailing vessels were also swept ashore, small craft were smashed, buildings were blown down or undermined by the waves, piers and bulkheads were pounded to pieces, streets were flooded, and out at sea several vessels were in trouble.

New York City, New Jersey, and eastern North Carolina felt the full force of the gale, which reached 70 miles an hour.

A pilot and two apprentices were drowned this morning when, attempting to row ashore at North Long Branch, N. J., their twenty foot yawl was capsized by the heavy surf. The boat, three life preservers, and a pair of oars were washed ashore, but nothing more was seen of the three men.

Save Three on Houseboat.

Two men risked their lives in the harbor at Beach Haven, N. J., to rescue a man, a woman, and their 3 year old son from their houseboat, which was drifting to sea this morning.

The 16 members of the crew of the Sea Haven coast guard station on Egg island, seven miles south of Beach Haven, were imperiled when the island was inundated, and other coast guardsmen went to their rescue in boats.

Capt. Martin C. Horn and four members of his crew were rescued when the fishing sloop Maude E. was driven ashore at Lewes, Del., and quickly pounded to pieces.

Three days late, the liner American Merchant steamed into New York harbor today, bringing 22 British seamen whom she rescued from the foundering freighter Exeter City during last Friday's great gale in mid-Atlantic.

The Merchant came up the harbor amid the roaring sirens of other craft in honor of her commander, Capt. Giles C. Stedman, and the crew, who risked death in taking off the stranded men aboard the sinking ship.

WOMAN WHO BURNED DAUGHTER'S TONGUE SOBS IN COURTROOM

New York, Jan. 26.—[Special.]—A tall, spare woman, deserted by her husband, destitute and nerve wracked, appeared before Magistrate Harry W. Bridges at St. George, Staten Island, today, charged with burning the tongue and fingers of her 9 year old daughter. Weeping continuously, she sought to explain and justify her actions until she broke down completely.

The magistrate and the courtroom clerks listened attentively as she gave her name—Mrs. Lillian Bradley, 28 years old, of Pleasant Plains, Staten Island—and as she told her halting story. In the end she was committed to Kings County hospital, Brooklyn, for ten days' observation.

Worn with care and worry, she had waited Tuesday for her daughter, Mary, to return from school. Finally she came.

The mother's agitation had taken the form of anger by that time. She scolded the child, asked her where she had been. The girl gave an explanation the mother knew to be untrue. The mother took her into the kitchen, where she lit two matches. Holding the child with one long arm she applied the matches to her tongue and then to her fingers.

The child screamed, wrenched herself loose, and fled to a neighbor's.

2 OPTOMETRISTS INDICTED BY JURY IN SUPPLY FRAUD

True bills charging conspiracy were reported voted yesterday by the grand jury against Dr. Vincent A. Greene, 7016 North Clark street, and Dr. Walter H. Silge, 2001 Irving Park boulevard, both optometrists; and against Robert Carter, 20 years old, and John Fisher, 21 years old, former shipping clerks for the American Optical company, 10 South Wabash avenue.

The state charged that Fisher and Carter agreed to send supplies to Dr. Greene in return for $14 a week. Dr. Greene received $5,000 worth of optometrical supplies before the company officials discovered the fraud, it was charged. Dr. Greene confessed and said that part of the supplies were sent to Dr. Silge, according to the police.

The case was taken before the grand jury on order of State's Attorney Courtney despite the fact that charges against the four defendants were not prossed in the Municipal court on request of officials of the optical company. The company officials explained that $3,750 worth of the supplies were found in the office of Dr. Greene and said that cash restitution had been made for the balance of the stolen goods.

REPORT SECOND BUCKOVITZ BOY FLEES ASYLUM

Police last night watched the home of Walter Buckovitz, 19 years old, at 1623 Greenwood street, Evanston, after they had been informed that the boy had escaped for the sixth time from the Dixon state hospital for feeble minded.

Walter is a brother of Sigmund Buckovitz, 17 years old, now held for grand jury action on charges of raping and robbing a woman in an Evanston "L" station. Sigmund also was committed to the Dixon hospital by the Juvenile court, and was a fugitive from there at the time of his latest crimes.

Walter's Evanston police record began with a theft charge when he was 12 years old. He was arrested on several occasions for larceny and burglary, and was sentenced to the St. Charles School for Boys and other correctional institutions before he went to Dixon.

Bulgar Reds Riot as Police Bury Slain Deputy Secretly

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Jan. 26.—(AP)—A policeman was injured and a number of the participants were arrested today during a demonstration by communists in protest against the secret burial by police of the body of Christo Draikoff, Macedonian communist member of the chamber of deputies, who was assassinated by a political opponent Tuesday.

WHO'S WHO IN THE DEBT CONFERENCE.

It seems to be agreed between the administration now in office and the one soon to take office that there shall be a discussion of the debt with the British debtor and that it shall endeavor to come to some helpful conclusions before the next due date in the debt schedule. It does not seem to be so clearly agreed what the attitude of the negotiators respectively shall be or what the issue in its naked truth. On the contrary the British note published yesterday seems to indicate that no conclusive agreements can be reached in the conversations to which the British government has been invited by or with the assent of the President elect and that the question of payment upon the British obligation to the United States is to be thrown into the hopper of a world conference. The tone of the note is as condescending as if we were asking for concessions and this is in keeping with the studied effort in British comment, both official and unofficial, to make it appear that the United States is in the position of a wrongdoer. This opens the way to profitable bargaining at the creditor's expense, if not to default. The American people cherish no such delusion. If their government reflects their common sense and self-respect it will not enter upon negotiations with its hat in its hand. Whatever conditions may be, in principle the controversy is not complicated but simple.

The American position is, or should be, that a debt regarding which there is no possible moral or legal dispute is in a bad way because the debtor says he is in a bad fix. That is not an unknown situation as between creditor and debtor. It sometimes is the misfortune of both. It can be made merely the misfortune of the creditor.

Properly viewed, the situation is that the United States is making a distinct concession to Great Britain. There should be no color of triumph of British diplomacy in the matter. The United States should refuse to concede for a moment that it is saving its own hide in permitting the British debtor to present his claims for consideration. There has been a most earnest effort to make it appear that Great Britain is offering the United States an escape from a terrible fate. If we accept such a construction of the dilemma we are preparing merely to be duped.

Many a creditor has had to ask his debtor what in lieu of a proper satisfaction of the debt as contracted he was prepared to do. For the creditor to take the position that he faces no alternative except shaking his debtor by the hand and bidding him go home and forget it is to make a prime ass out of himself. Precisely that seems to be the objective of British diplomacy. Such ideas should be repelled from the very beginning. You cannot expect a debtor to refrain from imposing upon his creditor if he gets a chance. A protest against submission to such a procedure is not required now to outline or specify all the alternatives which may be within the capacity of the debtor. It is enough to say that every possible field should be canvassed before any conclusions are reached. No decision can be equitable which strengthens the debtor at the expense of his creditor.

We do not concede the slightest moral or legal irregularity in the contract which Great Britain has signed. No readjustment based upon any of the arguments usually advanced for cancellation can be taken into consideration. A man duly bound in honor and law to meet his notes says he can't do it. His creditor says he is willing to hear the story. The requirement is that the man in debt show his willingness to make as great a satisfaction of the claims as can be found within his power. Great Britain will appear on the scene to do that or it will be convicted of intent to discredit the whole structure of international financial arrangements.

MR. GLASS IN THE CAVE OF WINDS.

Senator Glass of Virginia sits controlled by visible restraints or rises to his feet in uncontrollable explosions. About him in the senate there is an eruption of economic and financial theory. Sometimes the Virginian can grit his teeth and bear it. At other times he cannot keep silent and must protest. The discussion proceeds out of the mists and goes back into them. We realize that we learned something in '96. It may not have been much, but it had its uses. Middle aged Americans recall the soap boxes such as were platforms in State street, and they have a fear of economic theories vigorously exploited by gentlemen who can at least talk.

Out of it arose a feeling that economic theories were better kept among the tabus of democratic society. They became catalogued among subjects which were better checked at the barroom door. The barroom was voted out, but the feeling in the matter of economics remained.

Certainly it has done no particular harm to have the tabu remain in some force because now of all times would a removal of it drive the American people into complete insanity. The discussions on the floor of the house and senate sufficiently reveal the dangers of popular theorizing. Throughout it all Mr. Glass when forced to bounce out of his seat seems to have the best of it. The miracles pop up all around him, but few of them survive his caustic inquiry or his mordant tone. His ideas may be heavily charged with the odors of the surgical operating room, but they do give clinical treatment to the magic which they are said to evoke within the chambers of legislation. The way he seeks to walk may be a rough one, but it is free apparently from precipices and quicksand.

IDLE ADOLESCENCE.

Thomas S. Rice, lawyer and student of crime conditions, writing in his weekly column in the Brooklyn Eagle, criticizes a recent proposal to raise the work age limit to 18. Present conditions of unemployment no doubt are chiefly responsible for this idea. With so many adults unable to find jobs, why permit employers to give any to youths?

Mr. Rice calls attention to the report of the United States bureau of identification showing that in the arrests of the nine months' period, February-October, 1932, for offenses serious enough to cause finger prints to be sent to the federal bureau, 20 per cent were of persons from 15 to 19 years of age. Mr. Rice predicts that if the work age is raised to 18 this percentage would rise 30 or 35 per cent.

"To compel boys," he writes, "whose families cannot support them in comfort and certainly cannot afford to give them spending money, to remain idle and without any means of making money legitimately, from the age of fourteen until eighteen, would be a criminal neglect of elementary observation of growing boys—and would result in many thousands of young criminals. It is only reasonable that a boy should want money for the ordinary simple amusements and extras that his associates have, and that is especially the case in an age accustomed to luxury such as we have just passed through."

Of course, proponents of such laws assume that these youths will remain in school, but even if they do they will not be free from the temptations to spend, and the higher cost of entertainment puts a new strain on youth. Mr. Rice's remarks on this aspect of youthful delinquency are significant.

"Before prohibition a youth with five dollars in his pocket could cut quite a splurge among the girls and he could buy a lot of beer, sandwiches, dancing and other entertainment for himself and his girl with two or three dollars. I know. After prohibition, when it became fashionable for young women of all classes to drink, and drinking was expensive, a youth with five dollars could not get very far. Four drinks for himself and the girl would cost a minimum of four dollars in a second rate speakeasy, and he had to tip the waiter. At best that speakeasy was a dingy and unattractive place. If the youth wished to show the girl a real time, with music, dancing and a meal, it would cost him from a ten dollar minimum up."

This is a realism to which the sentimental reformer is not inclined. As Mr. Rice says:

"None of the proponents of raising the working age to eighteen seem to have given a thought to the effect of keeping a growing boy of poor family idle when he is willing to work, from fourteen to eighteen, the formative years of his youth, when he is most in need of the mental discipline that comes from steady application to rewarded labor."

WHY NOT TAKE DOWN THE SHUTTERS?

The president of the Council of People's Commissars, Comrade Molotoff, is very scornful of the idea that further "study" be given Russian conditions before the soviet government is accorded diplomatic recognition. "Is it necessary," he asks, "to 'study' a country [government] which has been established for fifteen years?"

The answer in the case of the soviet republic, so-called, is yes. The bolshevik government has maintained from the beginning of its rule the most drastic machinery for the prevention of "study" of the bolshevik régime. It has only its own policy of suppression and espionage to blame if we, and, as he complains, Czechoslovakia, are still looking for reliable information. Of bolshevik propaganda and reports written in the Kremlin we have had a plenty, but other illumination has been painfully and partially gained. If Comrade Molotoff is impatient at the delay caused by our desire for more knowledge why not take off the official shutters? If the soviet régime is the marvelous success the Kremlin bosses advertise, if its seat is so firm and its conditions so felicitous, why the Gay Pay Oo, the iron censorship on news reports, the oubliette and the firing squad? It may be evidence of the incorrigible dullness of the bourgeois mind, but we still would like to know why the communist Utopia is afraid of the light.

Editorial of the Day

A DUBIOUS PROJECT.

[The Cincinnati Enquirer.]

Rapid growth of opposition to the great lakes-St. Lawrence waterway treaty is encouraging, as it indicates the project is to be examined in the senate in view of its real possibilities and will not be approved hastily on the assumption that new waterways are always great steps in national progress.

The waterway undertaking is open to attack for several reasons. It would virtually destroy the railway transportation system of the northeastern United States. If the real cost of the waterway is calculated and worked into the rates it probably would mean higher transportation costs for middle western grains than are now in effect on railways.

The government today is lending vast sums to the railroads, aware of the necessity for maintaining their financial integrity in the face of declining revenues. Why, then, should it appropriate an even larger sum of money to construct a new competitor for the railroads? Either the one or the other use of public funds is not justified.

There may be some sound arguments for ratification of the waterways treaty with Canada, but, if so, they are largely with Canada and a few lake ports. They should be balanced against the very grave objections to ratification. If the waterway is built and operates at rates lower than present rail rates it is certain that the public will be paying, indirectly, a subsidy to grain and other producers using the new route, at the same time dealing a severe blow to the railroads, in effect canceling the gains of the vast loans already made to the railroads, crippling the Mississippi valley system of waterways, and striking hard at every important trade center in the middle west below the lakes.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

Here to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

BUT IF SILVER is remonetized then maybe we won't see it any more and how are we going to pay street car fares, and buy cigarets and chewing gum and hot dog sandwiches? We're on a gold standard now and we never see any gold except when we stand in front of the looking glass and grin wide enough to catch a glimpse of the filling that the dentist put in our back molars back in happier days. And then, of course, there's a golden wedding now and then and sometimes a fussy old gentleman walks by swinging a gold headed cane. Now, if silver gets upstage and high fallutin' like gold when it's remonetized, then we're against it. We'd hate to stand around counting the pennies when we buy a new hat or pay the groceryman.

COMPOSITE PICTURE.

There is a caged black eagle in his eyes,
Longing to fleet across the gateless skies.
An eagle staring upward behind bars,
Craving the lash of winds and flash of stars.

And of his pale, young face, the lower part
Reveals the quick, warm pulsing of his heart.
A heart that holds a blooming garden, where
Pale angels walk with daisies in their hair.

ROSA ZAGNONI MARINONI.

CALIFORNIA has a bill in the legislature to protect bullfrogs and not permit hunters to catch more than twenty in a day. Thus we see justification of the government's interesting little brochure, "The Love Life of the Bullfrog." The California legislators no doubt read it and were moved to tears. Ah, there is nothing more wonderful than love. Consider a bullfrog only as the supply for frog legs and anybody would knock him off his log without compunction. But when you think of the bullfrog in love, planning the wee home in the mud and dreaming happily of the dear little frogs that will one day romp around his knee, Percy, Clementine, Cuthbert and the twins, then the hardest hearted legislator smiles sweetly and thinks back when he, too, was young and in love and he stands up in his place in the legislature and says: "Mister Sneaker, make them guys lay offen them thar bullfrogs."

A WOMAN died at the age of 110 out in Idaho the other day who had never seen a railroad, heard the radio, ridden in an automobile or seen a movie. If she'd never had any of those things in her life we don't see why she didn't live to be five hundred.

THA DUKE AND THA MAMA GO USED CAR SHOPPING.

Mister: An what's more she says if I got an idea that I'm gonna pick out tha new car without consultin her just as a surprise she's gonna hand me a surprise that will take 2 doctors to fix. So I says alright Cyanide and tha next time you buy a new coffee strainer don't forget to let me accompany you. I remember back in 1926 when we bought tha jallopy that just passed into the great beyond that tha only damn thing she was interested in was whether it had a vanity case. If there was a cupple wheels missing she woodn't of noticed it. After telling her that I wood go alone we started out. Tha used car guy near our house was very pleasant, that bird is 100 per cent a gentleman and a scholar. We walks in and he says: "Ga-deevning, youse guys interested or just rubber necking"; seems diplomacy is just bred in him. Tha Mama was all fer walkin' out on him and I says wait a minit this bozo might be one of those diamonds in the rough, an' she says if ya ask me he's just a bum in tha rough. Ennyway I pipes up and tells him we wood like to see a good used car an' he says: "Who tha hell woodn't." Then he inquires whether we got bucks or notes and are we trading in a used used car. So I tells him we have a very fine 1926 Hoozit-Six and before I can extoll its virtues he wants to know how much it weighs, then out comes his pencil and his figures show 1,450 lbs at a cent a pound equals $14.50. And here comes tha ketch: tha $14.50 ain't cash, its allowance on one of his babys so after looking at a fair lookin one an' askin' his price he pipes up with $214.50. Them's what I calls mathamatics A'la Gyp. I'm damn lucky the old jallopy didn weigh 40 tons as that wood of brought his can to about 10 grand. You shooda heard tha line of bull he shoots explaining tha pedigree of his pile of tin. Seems a millionaire had 4 cars and tha stock market wiped him out. Every time he took a trimming he wood dispose of one of his cars but as this particular bus was one of his pets he let it go last and when he brought it in he cried like a baby and actually kissed tha steering wheel before he left. When he finished tha Mama was in tears and tha dealer put on an act like as if he had a big lump in his throat. If he went any further I'da seen to it that he wood of had 2 lumps [one externally]. When I opens the hood tha gink wants to know what tha hell I'm lookin' for and I tells him I thought maybe tha former owner might of dropped a doz. er so of his diamond rings. When we get down to brass tacks tha deal stands at 100 bucks less tha asking price, $25 down, 18 notes with a chattel mortgage thrown in instead of a spot-light. This looked like a pretty good deal and I'm all for drawing up tha papers when tha Mama asks tha guy to run it outside. When we get out she says she woodn' have it for a gift cause it first looked like a baby blue and outside it was an ordinary navy blue. If I hadn't grabbed her arm and steered her down tha street I think our friend Shylock wood of broken several of her legs. I will now sing. DUKE BAKRAK.

THE REASON FOR PARESIS.

PROF. CHARLES P. EMERSON, president of the national committee for mental hygiene, tells us that the peoples of the orient can teach us many things about the prevention of insanity.

Insanity and emotional disturbance and social and moral delinquency are so undermining us that our social fabric is in some danger of miring up.

Nearly one-fourth of our insanity is the result of syphilis. This kind of insanity impairs judgment as one of its earliest manifestations. Many a man with early insanity of this kind seems so normal that his condition is not suspected until he has wrecked his business or squandered the accumulation built up to shield his employés, make his wife comfortable, and educate his children.

Orientals have more syphilis than we do, but it rarely involves the brain and spinal cord. Among the people of India paresis is very rare and locomotor ataxia is seldom encountered. It was once thought that there were several strains of the syphilis microbe, and that the one in India spared the nervous system, whereas ours did not. That idea is no longer advocated.

Another theory was that the syphilis microbe was new among the American people and, in consequence, they suffered greatly when infected by it, whereas other peoples had become more accustomed to it. That does not fit in with the view of the Columbian origin of syphilis.

Prof. Emerson said that our life of excitement and thrills laid the foundation for attack on the brain and spinal cord by this microbe once infection had taken place. The oriental, being more placid, taking life more calmly, never being either unduly optimistic or unduly cast down, did not suffer from general paresis as a result of infection.

If this contention be correct, a program of prevention should have two parts—one directed toward the repression of syphilitic infection, the other toward emotional reconstruction. Neither is a small job.

A considerable part of our insanity is the result of alcoholism. Certain of the oriental peoples are Mohammedans and use no liquors. The others have no religious prohibition of the use of liquors, but they have the mental poise to either refrain or to drink very temperately. When an oriental drinks to excess he rarely indulges in emotional outbreaks. His inhibitions are so firmly fixed that not even liquor can remove them.

HEAT IN ROOMS.

W. F. R. writes: Our bedroom, which we use as a sitting room, is heated by a large coal burning stove.

1. What temperature should be maintained?
2. Do you think this is a healthy method of heating?
3. Would wood be preferable to coal as stove fuel? We are an old couple in our seventies.

REPLY.

1. 70 degrees.
2. It has some advantages and some drawbacks. As compared with open fire heat it is less wasteful and less expensive. It heats the room better. Keep a tea kettle filled with water on the stove. The air in a room heated by a stove is apt to be too hot and too dry. Ventilate the room well.
3. It is not easy to keep up the heat in a stove when wood is used.

INGROWING NAILS.

A. M. writes: I would like to have some information on ingrown toenails. What is the cause of the ailment, a home remedy, and the danger of infection if neglected?

REPLY.

Wearing narrow toed shoes pushes the toenails around. Thus ingrowing nails are caused. To cure an ingrowing toenail wear broad toed shoes. At least twice a week lift the ingrowing corner of the nail and push a little cotton under it. If the nail bed is suppurating the feet should be washed, the nail corner lifted, and cotton inserted twice daily. Increase the amount of cotton slowly. The corner of the nail will eventually be lifted above the flesh it was cutting and when it has been the soreness will subside rapidly. The cotton tends to straighten the nail on the toe and that does away with the tendency of one corner to dig in. That is, if the shoes worn are broad toed.

PERSONAL PROPERTY TAX.

Chicago, Jan. 22.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Is there any age limit with respect to paying personal property tax? 2. What would be the charges for renewing a loan for $700 on some property? 3. Is it necessary to examine title again? M. R. M.

1. No.
2. If the matter is handled through a broker there is a tendency to charge what the traffic will bear.
3. No. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

UNPAID RENT.

Chicago, Jan. 21.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A young man, who is my tenant, owes nine months' back rent. Would it be wrong to barricade his apartment door and not allow him in until he made some arrangement to pay? M. M. W.

Yes. The proper legal course is to serve a five-day notice and follow it up with a suit for possession.

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

JANUARY 27, 1917.

CHICAGO.—After thirteen months of patient detective work the $30,000 Art institute jewel robbery was partly cleared up with the arrest of Aage Larsen, son of a distinguished Copenhagen family, as a participant. Two other men, one of whom disappeared from public gaze when Larsen was taken, are still to be arrested. Larsen had none of the jewelry in his possession. But he described with the minutest detail every article. His descriptions of the items in the Ida E. S. Noyes memorial collection, which was stolen on the night of Dec. 11, 1915, tallied precisely with the stolen jewels.

LONDON.—The most important engagement on the Verdun front since Gen. Nivelle's second surprise attack last November took place last night, when the troops of the German crown prince assailed the French lines west of the Meuse on a front of several miles and succeeded in capturing a mile of trenches on Hill 304. Although Berlin claims the repulse of the furious French counter blows, tonight's Paris statement states that most of the salients into which the enemy had penetrated were recaptured. The German losses are stated to have been enormous. All reports from the front agree on the intensity of the attacks and counter attacks and on the destructive character of the artillery bombardment which paved the way for the advance of the German infantrymen.

CHICAGO.—The opportunity of the generation came last night to the Chicago society world to do honor to their ancestors with all the hoops, bustles, cameos, and a score of other sorts of heirlooms to be found in the attic trunks of the city. It was the Lincoln inaugural ball, held at the Palmer house by the members of the Arts club of Chicago. Frederick B. Tuttle, a beau of several decades ago, led the couples forth, followed by Kellogg Fairbank with Mrs. George L. Dunlap, well known to the older society of the city. President Lincoln, whose part was taken by Richard Henry Little, who bowed solemnly as they passed his box, received the guests, who included a number of delegations, foreign and from the states. In the party of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Thorne were the most striking visitors. In the corps were Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence M. Viles, Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus H. Adams Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Edward I. Cudahy, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McBirney Johnston, and Mr. and Mrs. Harvey. Among those who were conspicuous at the ball for their cleverly arranged costumes were: Mrs. Howard Van Doren Shaw as Harriet Beecher Stowe, Mrs. Robert G. McGann, Miss Cornelia Conger, Mrs. William P. Conger, and Mrs. John Borden.

CHICAGO.—Marjorie Delbridge, the little white girl who was taken from her Negro mammy by order of the Juvenile court, was kidnaped from her new home last night. When the alarm went out it was found that Mammy Camilla Jackson, who had made a too, and it is believed that she carried the child away in an automobile with the assistance of sympathizers. Marjorie had been living for the last few days at the home of Mrs. Louis Brock of 6826 Cornell avenue. Judge Bowles had given Mrs. Brock custody of the child and was to have decided this morning as to where her permanent home should be.

CHICAGO.—Rousing warmth in the reception to the Seventh Illinois infantry in Cohan's Grand Opera house rebuked the frigid breeze that greeted the soldiers when they detrained from the North Shore electric at Randolph street and Fifth avenue. The regiment, returning from Fort Sheridan, where the mustering out was completed yesterday, was under command of Col. Daniel Moriarty. Judge Marcus Kavanagh, who commanded the regiment in the Spanish-American war, marched with the men from the elevated station to the theater, where the reception was held.

THE CURRICULUM.

Chicago, Jan. 24.—I have read Virginia Gardner's articles in THE TRIBUNE with great interest. I have visited many of the schools and I received the same impressions that she describes.

I have noticed a tendency on the part of the teachers and principals to ignore or discredit the part of the home in the training of children. They seem to think that all the children ever learn—whether it be driving a nail, setting a table, or sewing a seam, to say nothing of eating with a proper regard for dining ethics—must be taught in a formal fashion in school. The parents cannot be trusted to teach the children the fundamentals of living for which the home is equipped, and yet these same children carry home loads of home work in academic subjects to be done without the aid of reference books, maps, and other equipment available at school which the ordinary home does not possess.

With the crowding of two families into one home, which is very common today, the child has no quiet place where he can concentrate on his academic work. The school, on the other hand, spends vast sums of money in equipping the schools with dining rooms, kitchens, nurseries, bedrooms, workshops, and even beauty parlors. It seems to me that subjects that the children can best learn at school are pushed into the home, while their time at school is taken up learning to do the things that they can best learn at home.

A PARENT.

HIGHER PRICES EITHER WAY.

Rockford, Ill., Jan. 17.—In THE TRIBUNE of Tuesday was an explanation of how the domestic allotment plan, if enacted, would cost the poor consumer a certain unreasonable amount. Over in the financial section of the same issue are the opinions of traders in the grain market, who suggest that if this bill is killed certain natural conditions of supply and demand will operate to raise the price anyway. Who pays then? Most people will agree that this condition would be very desirable. Where, from the consumers' part, is there any difference? NOT A FARMER.

INQUIRY ABOUT A BANK.

Hillsboro, Ill., Jan. 17.—Does any one know why the Exchange State bank of Chicago does not pay the depositors who have been waiting since November, 1929, for their money? According to the report given out by the state, there is cash on hand amounting to ten per cent at this time. According to a story carried by THE TRIBUNE on Sept. 25, 1930, four true bills were voted against officials of the Exchange State bank charging embezzlement. What happened?

THE WEATHER FORECASTS.

Chicago, Jan. 18.—Why doesn't the weather man give Chicago a break? For exactly two months he has promised "rain or snow late today—tomorrow much colder." As a matter of fact the winter has been wonderful. Can't you shake the old guy up a bit?

COMMUNITY ORGANIZATION FOR RELIEF.

Chicago, Jan. 3.—It has been the aim of the writer to establish some organized means for the development of part time employment among householders for the reputable out of work residents of the community, and back in 1930 your paper published some articles recommending the development of community committees to promote this activity.

With this same thought in mind, beginning on July 4, 1932, the writer addressed the leaders of church, fraternal and other organized groups throughout the Chicago district, urging the formation of volunteer community committees and the use of their members in sustained canvasses in designated areas to develop the need of employment, clothing or supplies in that area, as well as means for its relief through emergency employment developed from residents of the area, as well as other means of relief such as shoes, clothing, etc. Then, with this and the formation of these community districts or areas, the suggestion was made that these committees be consolidated in a central organization to enable the convenient application of the surplus or deficit of emergent employment, clothing, shoes, etc., of one area to be applied against the deficit or surplus of another area through a central organization—and simply as a matter of convenience to designate such central organization as the Masonic employment bureau.

A number of these community organizations have been formed and have been operating with considerable success, although the subject has not been given the attention it deserves.

The writer and the organization that he represents will be only too glad to cooperate in the working out of plans suggested, and to act as a clearing house for the activities of community organizations. Through this means there will be no question of providing reputable men to do these odd jobs that can be developed, while outside of this, reputable men can be furnished at any time through this organization to take care of odd jobs that may develop in areas where community organizations may not be established, or may not be able to supply the reputable applicants through their own resources. ARTHUR M. MILLARD,
President Masonic Employment Bureau.

NEW PLAN GIVES CHICAGO 3 AIR LINES TO N. Y.

Postmaster General Works Out Extensions.

BY HUGH SEXTON.

Impending changes in the air mail network will provide three routes between Chicago and New York, which is now served by one, according to dispatches from Washington. The heaviest air mail, passenger, and express traffic in the world is between Chicago and New York. Postmaster General Brown, who will retire within six weeks, is planning the extensions.

The existing route between the two cities is operated by United Air Lines via Toledo and Cleveland, and is the shortest of the three. Postmaster General Brown has informed the House postoffice committee that he plans to award an extension to Transcontinental and Western Air Lines for the route from Chicago to Columbus, O., where a connection will be made with the existing New York to Los Angeles route of that system. That route is about 50 miles longer than the United route.

Plans For Third Route.

The third route will be created by extensions that Postmaster General Brown plans to award to American Airways from Detroit to Buffalo, and to the Martz Air Lines, owned by American Airway interests, which operate between Buffalo and New York City. American Airways now operates between Chicago and Detroit.

The American Airways system also operates a line between Buffalo and Albany, N. Y., and the postmaster general announced that he planned to extend that route from Albany to Boston, providing a new direct route from Chicago to Boston. Boston is a proposed terminal for the trans-Atlantic service planned by Pan-American Airways, via the great circle route, and that connection would be of value to Chicago when the oceanic line is put into operation.

Northern Route Proposal.

The creation of a northern transcontinental line that will pass up Chicago was seen by air line experts in another extension proposed by the postmaster general. That extension is from Muskegon, Mich., across Lake Michigan to Milwaukee. American Airways' lines from New York and Boston both pass through Detroit, where another route branches off to Muskegon. At Milwaukee the extension will connect with Northwest Airways' route to St. Paul and Minneapolis, Fargo, and Bismarck, N. D.

Future extensions of the northern route via Billings and Butte, Mont., to Spokane and Seattle, Wash., have been under consideration in the postoffice department. Seattle is proposed as the terminus of the trans-Pacific line planned by Pan-American Airways.

BRUNKER TURNS OVER CHILDREN TO HIS EX-WIFE

Barbara and Robert Brunker, the two children whose custody has been disputed in Chicago courts since the first of the year by their parents, Albert R. Brunker of Lake Forest and his former wife, Mrs. Frederick Ruppel of Pasadena, Cal., were believed last night to be speeding toward the west coast in care of their mother. Litigation has not ceased, however, and will be reopened in Reno next month by attorneys for Brunker, who relinquished the children yesterday under an order handed down by Superior Judge Charles A. Williams on Tuesday.

In Reno, where the former Mrs. Brunker's divorce decree was obtained, Brunker will seek to have the arrangement modified by which each parent was given custody of the children for six months. Following his action yesterday in taking Barbara and Robert to the Burnham building, where they were met by their maternal grandmother, Mrs. Gertrude Gaylord of Neenah, Wis., in the office of their mother's attorney, Brunker declared the court at Reno would be asked to decide which parent should direct the schooling of the two, the other to have them during vacations, so as not to interrupt their school terms.

Mrs. Gaylord went to the Drake hotel in a taxicab with her grandchildren to join her daughter, declaring Mrs. Ruppel's intention was to leave at once for Pasadena with them.

GERMANY PUSHES PLAN TO DISARM GREAT POWERS

BERLIN, Jan. 26.—(AP)—When Germany returns to the disarmament conference, which reconvenes next Tuesday, its delegates will insist upon disarmament of the most heavily armed nations, Chancellor von Schleicher declared today in an article for a periodical published by the German League of Nations society.

"We are now returning to the conference," he wrote, "to bring about as quickly as possible the signing of a covenant which will guarantee equal security through disarmament of the most heavily armed nations.

"There must no longer be two standards of right for the victors and the vanquished in the world war and Germany will not sign any covenant deviating from this principle."

Drop Conspiracy Charges Against 'Sonny Boy' Quirk

Charges of conspiracy against Martin [Sonny Boy] Quirk, south side beer hoodlum, and his lieutenant, Fred Farley, were nol prossed yesterday by Judge Donald S. McKinlay in the Felony court. The charges grew out of the alleged assault on Patrick Joyce, owner of a restaurant at 6440 Cottage Grove avenue, because, it was charged, he refused to buy beer from the defendants. Assistant State's Attorney Charles Dougherty told the court that Quirk had been found not guilty of assault and said that the state had no new evidence for the conspiracy case. Both Quirk and Farley are under indictment in the federal court for violation of the prohibition law.

Evan Perkins, Once Biscuit Company Official, Dies

Yonkers, N. Y., Jan. 26.—(AP)—Evan Perkins, 63, former traffic manager for the National Biscuit company, died today. He was born in Waupaca, Wis., and later moved to Chicago, coming to Yonkers ten years ago. Survivors include two sons, Raymond and H. J. Perkins, and a daughter, Vivian.

Aviation Notes

James G. Haizlip, who set a new transcontinental speed record of 10 hours 19 minutes last fall in winning the Bendix trophy race, described the record flight last night at a dinner at the Interfraternity club, 106 South Wabash avenue. The worst part of the trip, he said, was crossing the Allegheny mountains in fog. He is assistant to Maj. James H. Doolittle, aviation manager of Shell Petroleum corporation.

Twelve stewardesses are to be hired by United Air Lines to fly on the line's transports between Chicago and Dallas, Tex., it was announced yesterday by E. P. Lott, operations manager. They will start to work on March 1, when new twin motor high speed Boeing air liners are placed in service on the route.

Al Quodbach, Cafe Owner, Pays Alimony to Ex-Wife

Al Quodbach, café owner, turned $200 over to his former wife, Mrs. Marjorie Quodbach, in her attorney's office yesterday, thereby avoiding an appearance before Judge James J. Kelly in the Superior court to explain why he has fallen $3,809 behind in payments of a divorce settlement. The hearing before Judge Kelly was continued to Feb. 23 by agreement of attorneys. Quodbach promised to make further payments. Mrs. Quodbach divorced him in October, 1931, when he promised to pay her $2,000 and monthly payments of $300 until a settlement of $11,100 was made.

Frank Bicek Takes Oath as Circuit Court Judge

Frank H. Bicek, newly appointed judge of the Circuit court, was given the oath of office yesterday by County Clerk Robert Sweitzer in the courtroom of Circuit Judge John R. Caverly. Many judges and attorneys were present. Judge Bicek was appointed to fill the vacancy left by Judge Otto H. Kerner's election as Illinois attorney general.

LEAGUE TAKES UP ANGLO-PERSIAN OIL GRANT ROW

Conciliation Suggested to Settle Problem.

GENEVA, Jan. 26.—(AP)—The appeal to the league of nations by Great Britain against Persia's cancellaton of the Anglo-Persian oil concession was adjourned today until a later session after representatives of both countries had stated their cases before the council.

Dr. Eduard Benes, Czechoslovakian league representative, was appointed a reporter to recommend conciliatory procedure for solution of the question.

Great Britain is without the right to appeal to the league against Persia's cancellation of the concession, the Persian representative, Mizra Ali Akber Khan Daver, told the council, because the controversy is purely a domestic one between the government and the company.

Replying to the complaint of Sir John Simon, British foreign secretary, that the cancellation constituted confiscation and was a violation of international law, Daver, who is Persian minister of justice, asserted that the question was one of Persian civil law. He added that the oil company should have recourse in the Persian courts. The concession was canceled, he said, because the company failed to carry out its contract both in payment of royalties and an agreement to develop the whole concession.

Simon, invoking article 15 of the league covenant providing for settlement by conciliation, denied a number of the Persian government's fundamental allegations. He described the cancellation as unlawful discrimination against a British subject and thus an unfriendly act to Great Britain.

The controversy is of interest to international quarters for two reasons: First, because of Great Britain's primary concern—which Sir John did not mention before the council—based on the fact that British warships rely upon this concession for fuel supply and secondly, because many league members, particularly the weaker states, are watching to see what results a strong power like Great Britain can produce through article 15 as compared with the results China has obtained under the same article.

Two Chicago Convicts Bind Guard and Escape

Joe Benkowski and Frank Koehler, convicts sentenced from Chicago, escaped yesterday from Stateville penitentiary after overpowering and binding a guard. The convicts were working in the dairy barn outside the prison walls. They attacked the guard, bound him and took his revolver. Then, after threatening the driver, they commandeered a prison truck and drove away. Benkowski was sentenced for murder in 1919, and Koehler was sent to the penitentiary for larceny last year.

TRUCK BREAKS THROUGH ICE; THREE MISSING

Green Bay, Wis., Jan. 26.—[Special.]—Three men who rode out upon the ice of Green bay this morning in a truck are missing and all are believed to have been drowned. They are Lester Stiebo, Henry "Chub" Miller, and John Counard, fishermen.

The truck had been specially built for their work and contained a cabin. It was the custom of the trio to drive well out from shore and, after boring holes in the ice, to drop in baited lines. They would then retire to the cabin and emerge at intervals to draw in the lines.

They were seen driving out shortly before 8 a. m. When they were reported missing deputy sheriffs investigated. They found a large hole in the ice and at the bottom, twenty feet down, the truck. There was no trace of the fishermen. It is believed the ice was weakened by recent warm weather and by cross-currents. The place where the vehicle was found is off Edgewater Beach in Green Bay.

BY MARY MEADE.

Have you ever wished, as you walked nervously or urbanely as became your nature, into the dining car aboard a whizzing train that you knew what lay back of the scenes and how everything is ordered with such immaculate precision and properness?

Being of a curious and questing temperament I decided to find out one day recently, and while I did the inquiring reporter stunt on only one popular line, the facts turned up were so interesting and in a way so typical of the job of serving people in similar lines throughout the country that I'm going to tell you a bit about it.

Picture first of all a dining car department large enough to supply the needs of 140 dining cars, 26 all day lunch cars, 30 steamer restaurants, 7 hotel and station restaurants, 10 railway clubs, and 36 club cars! Annually over 2,000,000 meals are served on the dining cars of one line alone, more than 2,000,000 meals in the steamer restaurants, and 1,000,000 meals at the railway clubs by a staff of some 2,100 trained employes.

The main trouble nowadays seems to be in finding properly trained caterers, so railroads throughout the country are more and more learning to train their own men. Also a "school car" for waiters—an obsolete dining car completely set up in the yard for instruction—is to be found. "Make believe" meals are going forth with everything as it should be except food, which isn't present.

On the train proper I discovered the stewards must be ready to serve breakfast to hungry passengers at 6:30, which means the cooks are at work at five getting things going. While the cooks cook, others are cleaning the dining car, setting tables, and getting ready to welcome the early risers.

At 10 in the morning, with breakfast over, the car is again closed and much cleaning is under way. Silver is rubbed up, pantries cleaned, dishes washed, soiled linen stored away and clean linen spirited out of lockers. At 12 everything is ship shape again and luncheon waits odors of good food about until 2 o'clock.

Then more cleaning, and dishwashing, and cooking. No part time job for the dining car crew! Meanwhile trainmen are served between meals.

Then besides stewards, cooks, and waiters there are inspectors who have done their stunt at stewarding in their day. They keep an eagle eye out for errors and laxity in cooking and service, and run the "dining car school." Next on the scale comes the "instructing chef" and the "instructing waiter," who report to the "supervising chef," past master in the art of catering. He is the imaginative gentleman who gets up the menus, writes the instruction book for the stewards and cooks, and is responsible for the recipes.

There's a trick in walking the length of a vibrating train carrying a bowl of soup—and keeping it all within the bowl. Did you ever think of it? The answer is that waiters on dining cars acquire "sea legs" and so successfully learn the balancing act that very rarely do they run foul of an accident.

Back in the yards the dining car gets an even sterner going over. Inspectors hurry about checking up on kitchen, pantries, lockers, and ice boxes. All perishable supplies are removed and the kitchen and all woodwork are cleaned till they shimmer. Kitchen utensils are carried away to the line commissary and sterilized. Dirt is no longer, and germs curl up their toes and die.

But I'd truly "seen nothing yet" till I was introduced to the wonders of the market order. Just one railroad line, and yet it purchased daily: 900 dozen eggs, 2,150 pounds of beef, 640 pounds of lamb, 750 pounds of poultry, 690 pounds of pork, 685 pounds of fish, 825 pounds of bacon and ham, 710 pounds of butter, 530 gallons of milk, 570 pounds of coffee, 3,500 pounds of potatoes, 1,800 pounds of flour, vegetables, not including potatoes, 5,750 pounds; shortening, 600 pounds; sugar, 1,900 pounds, and apples, oranges, and grapefruit, 70 boxes.

Household Hints

Save tears by peeling onions under water.

"BITE" OF FRESH PEPPERS KNOWN TO OLD AMERICA

Delight of Many Epicures New World Native.

BY EVERETT SWINGLE.

To all those interested in their foods and who delight in those that are highly seasoned, step up and meet Capsicum Frutescens. The family is of the earliest American origin, in fact, native, and the offspring are known more commonly as peppers, red, green, or yellow.

The peppers as such should not be confused with the dried product usually ground up and used for spice. The fresh peppers ordinarily cooked, stuffed for baking, or used in salads, are of a family of perennials native to the American tropics and grown in summer in the northern states as annuals. The dried fruit pods ground up for black and white pepper come from a climbing shrub native to India.

Mexico and the gulf states take care of Chicago's winter supply of green and red peppers. In the summer time homegrown peppers have come to be plentiful, shapely and colorful additions to the table. The northern crop grops on what are called annuals, but the plants are but smaller copies of the more tropical perennial Capsicums.

Given to Old World by Columbus.

The old world as it was known in the time of Columbus received its first news of the hot peppers from that voyager's first trip which brought him to the West Indies. Columbus described this new find as having "a hotte kind of sharpness and bit'ng." Scientists delving into the mysteries of prehistoric cemeteries in Peru report finding the dried pods of the western hemisphere product.

The large podded sweet peppers are known by many persons as mangoes, produced in Florida, New Jersey, Louisiana, Iowa, and in most of the truck garden areas near large consuming markets. The tomato type pepper is sold largely as the pimento.

There are several other groups of peppers which vary as to spiciness or content of capsaicin which gives them their pungent quality. Variations also consist in size, shape and color. It is generally agreed that the smaller the pepper the more pronounced its spiciness, while the thick meated and large podded forms such as the tomato pepper have only traces of the capsaicin.

Cayenne Group Extremely Pungent.

In addition to those already mentioned there are those of the Cayenne group, often called chili or finger peppers, and characterised by their long curved pods which may be from four to twelve inches in length. Cayenne pepper, dry, is derived from the seed of varieties of this type, well known for extreme pungency.

The cherry group is another pepper that serves its purpose more for a winter house plant than for use in the kitchen, although eleven varieties are typical of the cherry pepper.

The "bell" pepper is of greatest importance commercially, according to studies, for this is the pepper that is ordinarily sold as a green or a red pepper, depending on the degree of ripeness. Some are also yellow.

Cuts of Fresh Pork Sell at Relatively Low Prices

In its regular weekly report, issued for the guidance of consumers, the committee on marketing information of the Meat Council of Chicago states:

"All cuts of fresh pork are recommended to the housewives of Chicago as the most economical meat buys over the coming week-end. Chuck roast of beef is also selling at a relatively low price at the present time."

Here's Recipe for Making Good Devil's Food Cake

BY IRENE STEYSKAL.

If a dogma of dietetics—that the food he eats determines what a man is—were the whole truth and nothing but the truth, then obviously this story should not be written.

But a sufficient number of examples contrary to the pet theorem of the home economics experts have come within our ken to convince us that only with modifications can it stand. To cite just two of many available illustrations, the coat pockets of a certain blessed old firebrand who prides himself on his grumpiness—though we have sometimes harbored suspicions concerning the genuineness of his rumblings—forever bulge with frivolous striped paper bags of lollypops while the sweetest little miss who trips down our street apparently subsists on dill pickles.

Gives Devil's Food Recipe.

Hence, freed of undue misgivings that we are about to negate the good work recently inaugurated by Mary Meade with her articles anent the making of angel cake, we offer a few suggestions on devil's food.

It is likely that the richest, lightest, most luscious devil's food cake you have ever tasted was made with sour milk. And don't forget that, for a perfect cake, a high grade of pastry flour is a prime requisite. Here is a recipe that should produce gratifying results:

DEVIL'S FOOD CAKE.
1½ cups sugar
2 eggs
½ cup butter
2 cups flour
½ cup sour milk
2 squares bitter chocolate
1 teaspoon soda
½ cup boiling water
1 teaspoon vanilla
Pinch of salt

Cream the butter well; add the sugar gradually. Stirring constantly, pour in the sour milk. Stir the soda into boiling water and pour into chocolate which has been melted over hot water. Stir well, and add the second to the first mixture. Sift the flour before measuring it. Sift the salt and flour into the cake batter and beat for two minutes. Beat the whites of the eggs until they are stiff, then add the yolks and beat together. Fold into the cake batter. Add flavoring. Bake in a moderate oven from 45 to 60 minutes.

Choose Your Own Frostings.

Either a smooth, creamy chocolate or a white butter frosting may be used. Or you may prefer serving your devil's food with whipped cream. But for a truly gala occasion a thick fudge frosting lends the festive touch. Try making it this way:

Place three squares of unsweetened chocolate and a cup of milk over a low flame. Stir constantly until the mixture is well blended. Add slowly three cups of sugar, a pinch of salt, and four tablespoons of corn sirup, stirring until the sugar melts and the mixture boils. Then cook, without stirring, to the soft ball stage. Take from the fire, add three tablespoons of butter and a teaspoon of vanilla. Permit the mixture to cool. When cool, beat until thick enough to spread.

"POTLUCK" MEAL INNOVATION DUE TO DEPRESSION

Guests "Chip In" with Part of Dinner.

BY FLORA MARTIN.

One thing the depression has taught us if we have learned nothing else from it is that we don't have to have the "fads and frills" to enjoy life. Back in the heyday when money came free and easily entertaining was carried on in as elaborate a fashion as possible and simplicity was more or less frowned upon. Now the tables have been turned and hostesses are devising new and novel ideas for parties which can be staged as simply and inexpensively as possible.

One of the best suggestions for a "depression" party is a "pot luck" dinner. Although it may not be Webster's definition of "pot luck," the idea of a dinner is to have each guest contribute to some part of the meal.

For instance, one hostess recently had six couples to such a dinner, the main course of which was beef stew. And what a stew it was—four steaming pots full that seemingly turned out an endless supply. Several went together in helping to prepare and also to pay for the stew and the rest joined in contributing other parts of the feast.

To make the meal as simple as possible and to save on dishwashing, the stew was accompanied only by olives, dill pickles, radishes, celery and, of course, bread and butter sandwiches. Coffee and generous slices of homemade mince pie topped off the dinner.

If you want to try your luck at a stew "pot luck" this recipe, which includes just about all of the vegetables imaginable, will suit your purpose. Of course, some of the items may be omitted if desired.

½ to 1 pound onions, according to taste.
4 turnips.
1 small rutabaga.
1 bunch celery.
1 bunch carrots.
1 pound green peas.
1½ pounds potatoes.
1 small can tomatoes.
1 cup of whole kernel corn.

Cut all of ingredients up into medium sized pieces. Then put from one to two tablespoons of butter into a pan, roll meat in flour and brown well in butter. Mix one tablespoon of flour with this mixture for thickening and pour one quart of boiling water over the meat, letting it simmer for one-half hour. Add onions, celery, turnips, and rutabaga and let cook for about 20 minutes. Then put remaining ingredients in and cook over a low flame for from three to four hours. After ½ hour of cooking salt and pepper to taste. If necessary, boiling water may be added from time to time to keep stew at proper consistency.

Germans Lead U.S. Workers in Consumption of Potatoes

On the average, German workers eat 24 bushels of potatoes to the person a year. The average person in the United States eats about three bushels of potatoes a year.

65 IOWA STATE MEN GO DOMESTIC AND FIND IT PAYS $10 A MONTH

Ames, Ia., Jan. 26.—[Special.]—Sixty-five men at Iowa State college have gone domestic in the interest of economy. They're making beds, helping prepare their own meals, and cleaning their quarters, and are making an average saving of $10 a month on board besides a saving on room rent.

This new means by which men can attend college, even though their funds are low, has been made possible by the opening of Oak lodge as a men's coöperative dormitory. But coöperative systems are not new to Iowa State, for before this year 160 women have been saving on college expenses by living at the Clara Barton and Alice Freeman women's coöperatives.

Mrs. Ella P. Gribskov, who has been dietician for the women's coöperative halls, is also dietician for the men's coöperative. Mrs. Madge McGlade, director of housing, is in general charge.

Domestic duties are divided among five committees—breakfast-lunch, dinner, two dormitory cleaning groups, and the "leisure" squad—which work in shifts.

Breakfast and lunch in the men's halls are served cafeteria style, with each man bringing his own equipment to the kitchen. Dinner is served formally.

HERE'S HOW TO KEEP HAMS IN GOOD CONDITION

Whole hams often are economical purchases. To keep cured hams in good condition, when the entire purchase is not used within a few days, a cool place partly protected from light and air is suggested.

Hams wrapped in muslin or parchment and hung in a cool place keep better than those stored in other ways. Airtight covering induces spoilage. The farm custom of burying hams in oats or salt is not desirable. In oats the ham may take on a musty smell and in salt the meat becomes excessively dry, salty, and tough.

LOOK OUT FOR THESE SYMPTOMS OF CONSTIPATION

Get Relief with Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

Headaches, loss of appetite and energy, sallow complexions, and sleeplessness are often warning signs of common constipation. Unless checked, constipation may impair health.

Today, you can get rid of common constipation by simply eating a delicious cereal. Laboratory tests show that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to further aid regularity. ALL-BRAN is also a good source of blood-building iron.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in leafy vegetables. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass. Gently, it clears the intestines of wastes. How much better than taking patent medicines.

Two tablespoonfuls daily will overcome most types of constipation. Serious cases, with every meal. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Enjoy ALL-BRAN as a cereal, or use in cooking. Appetizing recipes on the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

MOLEY CONFERS WITH STIMSON ON WAR DEBTS

Economics Likely Part of British Parleys.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 26.—[Special.]—The British government's conditional acceptance of the American terms for war debts and economic discussions in Washington next spring was discussed at length late today. Secretary of State Stimson conferred with Raymond Moley, Columbia university professor and official representative of President Elect Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Beyond stating no new note would be forwarded to Great Britain tonight, Mr. Stimson declined to comment. The understanding was that this country shortly will take up with Great Britain the arrangement of further preparatory details. While the British reply was not all that Mr. Roosevelt would have asked the indications today were that he was prepared to go ahead with the discussions and the British would be so notified.

Prof. Moley Is Reticent.

Prof. Moley left the secretary's office at 5:30.

"Will another note go forward?" asked a reporter.

"I cannot answer," replied the professor.

"Have you talked to Mr. Roosevelt since he received the British reply?"

"I do not know when he received the reply."

"Do you agree with Prof. Tugwell [Dr. Rexford G. Tugwell, Roosevelt economic advisor] that the foreign debts should be rationalized?"

"I have not read Prof. Tugwell's article."

It was learned later Prof. Tugwell had conferred with treasury officials.

U. S. Move Uncertain.

There were no indications today as to when this government would make its next move. In view of the fact that Hoover administration officials have taken the position that arrangements for the conferences should be made as quickly as possible, it is believed a new communication will go forward shortly.

There were indications that at today's Stimson-Moley conferences the question of bringing France into the economic and debt discussion program at some later date was discussed. Up to date, France has shown reluctance to make any initial move on her part to arrange for a conference. Administration officials believe that it will be impossible to obtain any definite permanent agreements with Great Britain unless France is counted in.

Two Features Included.

It was learned today that the American invitation to Great Britain, the details of which never were made public, suggested two series of discussions, one on war debts alone, the second on economic problems. The note stipulated that Great Britain must agree to both conferences if either was to be held. The Roosevelt administration would be willing, according to the invitation, to discuss debts with one representative of Great Britain and economic subjects with other British representatives.

In accepting, Great Britain gave notice of being prepared to go ahead with the debt conference, according to the American plan.

BRITAIN, FRANCE WARN PERU TO STOP FIGHTING

Washington, D. C., Jan. 26.—(AP)—At least two world powers joined the United States today in applying the Briand-Kellogg anti-war treaty to warn Peru against fighting with Colombia over possession of the Amazon port of Leticia. Great Britain and France sent notes to Peru similar in meaning to Secretary of State Stimson's communication of yesterday recognizing the justice of Colombia's case and urging acceptance of a peaceful settlement.

Although Peru has announced her compliance with a Brazilian formula for returning Leticia to Colombian sovereignty, she insisted on reservation and Peruvian nationals continued today in control of the town. They seized it last September in defiance of the 1922 treaty by which Peru acknowledged Colombia's ownership of the tiny Amazon port, before which Colombian forces reportedly have arrived prepared to oust the invaders.

Peru's attention was called to her obligations under the anti-war pact of Paris after a conference between Mr. Stimson and the ambassadors of Great Britain, France, Germany, Italy and Japan. The Lima government, which had sought league of nations support, received a setback today when the league sent a note asking that Leticia be returned to Colombia and that Peruvian military officials be ordered to take measures to prevent an outbreak of hostilities. Peru had complained to the league that Colombia was violating the covenant by applying force to dispossess Peruvian citizens who had taken over the administration of the disputed town.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Their contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resist a substitute. 25c at all stores. © 1931, C. M. Co.

BILL IN SENATE TO MAKE PUBLIC TAX RETURNS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 26.—[Special.]—Saying that he did so as the result of disclosures made by the senate stock exchange inquiry, Senator Peter Norbeck [Radical, S. D.], chairman of the inquiry, today introduced a bill to make public income, war profits, and excess profits tax returns.

According to the measure, its effect would be retroactive and returns would constitute public records, open to inspection under rules prescribed by the commissioner of internal revenue with approval of the secretary of the treasury.

"We have found so many forms of tax dodging practiced, and I am convinced the tax evasions are enormous," Senator Norbeck said. "I believe it would be much more difficult for tax dodgers to operate if the records were public."

City Employe's Wife Takes Poison in Police Building

Mrs. Rose Kephart, 37 years old, 7600 Aberdeen street, swallowed poison yesterday in the police headquarters building at 1121 South State street. Her screams after taking the potion were heard by her husband, Irven J. Kephart and members of the city's motion picture censor board, for which Kephart is operator. After an antidote had been given her Mrs. Kephart was allowed to go home.

MISS MARBURY LEAVES ESTATE TO LADY MENDL

New York, Jan. 26.—[Special.]—Lady Mendl, the former Elsie De Wolfe, wife of Sir Charles Mendl, is the principal beneficiary named in the will of her friend, Elisabeth Marbury, filed for probate late today.

Lady Mendl receives the entire residuary estate, of undetermined value; the testatrix' home at 13 Sutton place, together with its contents, and a contingent interest in her summer home at Mount Vernon, Me. She also will receive $25,000 upon the death of Alice Kusswetter, a servant, who will receive the income of this sum for life.

In leaving the Maine farm to Lady Mendl, Miss Marbury stated that it was her "earnest wish and desire" that her friends, Anne Morgan of 3 Sutton place and Anne Vanderbilt of 1 Sutton place, be permitted to have the use of the country place "for the maintenance and operation of the same as a home for working women."

100 Convicts in Chains Unhurt as Building Falls

Hanover Courthouse, Va., Jan. 26.—(AP)—One hundred Negro convicts, chained to their bunks at state convict camp, No. 12, near here, narrowly escaped death or serious injury shortly after 2 o'clock this morning when the building was blown down by strong winds.

U. OF I. TRUSTEES PRAISE WORK OF PRESIDENT CHASE

A resolution expressing the regret of the trustees of the University of Illinois at the resignation of Harry Woodburn Chase, who will give up the presidency of the university next July to become chancellor of New York university, was made public yesterday by Edward Barrett, chairman of the board.

"In accepting the resignation of President Chase," the resolution said, "the board deems it appropriate to couple with its avowal of regret an acknowledgment of its appreciation of the fine service her has rendered this body, the university, and the people of this state. He came to us three years ago with a constructive program of educational development, rationally progressive and feasible in essential principles, which he has carried toward completion with firm yet tactful vigor.

"He has demonstrated in character and conduct a capacity for cooperation with individuals and groups truly indicative of the highest executive ability. He has given the men and women of the state of Illinois, young and old, the type of leadership which we associate with the ideal university."

DIES IN BANK VAULT.

Hays, Kas., Jan. 26.—(AP)—Miss Mabel Holzapfel, 28, was found shot to death today in the vault of the Farmers' State bank at Oakley, where she had been a bookkeeper for ten years. The coroner, who called the death suicide, did not divulge the contents of notes written by Miss Holzapfel.

EXPECT 25,000 AT WORLD BRIDGE CONTESTS HERE

Experts Plan for Tourney Next Summer.

Plans for an international contract bridge tournament which will bring together a field of 25,000 players in Chicago next summer were made last night at the Palmer house at a meeting attended by Ely Culbertson, as representative of the United States Bridge association, and officials of bridge organizations in the central states.

Many of the bridge associations have been rivals in the sense that each named its own champion, but last night they agreed to work together to determine the country's best players. Chicago will become headquarters of the National Bridge association, rather than New York.

Chicago as "Bridge Capital."

Chicago's claim as the bridge capital of the country was upheld by the fact that western players hold a majority of the contract championships, according to E. M. Lagron, president of the Western Bridge association and bridge expert for W-G-N, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE radio station.

The international tournament will be the largest gathering of bridge players ever held and will require two weeks for completion, according to Mrs. Lesley Pope Cook, who will be in charge of preliminary arrangements. Mrs. Cook is manager of the Palmer House Bridge club. Dates have not been decided upon.

Bridge Experts at Meeting.

Those who attended the meeting were Mr. Culbertson, Mrs. Cook, Mr. Lagron, Robert Halpin, and Louis Haddad, Chicagoans who recently won the Miami pair championship; E. J. Tobin, president of the Chicago Whist association; Owen Gilman, Lewis Saxby, A. J. Mouat, secretary of the American Bridge league; C. B. Cook, Paul Parcells, and M. S. Reilly.

WINNIE WINKLE, THE BREADWINNER: Is There a Doctor in the House?

ALFRED B. MASON TAKEN BY DEATH AT 82 IN ITALY

Alfred Bishop Mason, 82 years old, a retired corporation attorney, died yesterday of influenza in Florence, Italy. He was the son of R. B. Mason, mayor of Chicago at the time of the great fire, and the uncle of Master in Chancery Roswell B. Mason.

Mr. Mason had lived abroad for many years. His wife, the former Mary Knight Wood of New York, was at his bedside when he died.

Mr. Mason was born in Bridgeport, Conn. His father was a descendant of Capt. Levi Mason of the revolutionary army, and his mother was descended from Stephen Hopkins, a signer of the declaration of independence.

As a young man Mr. Mason was a member of THE TRIBUNE staff, and later was active in the practice of law in Chicago. His books included "A Duchess and Her Daughter," "Walpole's England," and the "Tom Strong" series of books for boys.

Maj. Beet, Hall-Mills Case Figure, Is Dead

New York, Jan. 26.—[Special.]—Maj. Thomas Beet, veteran of the British Boer campaigns, later a private detective who "broke" the notorious Lampblack swamp murder case of 25 years ago and figured in the Hall-Mills case, was killed today in an auto collision in Keansburg, N. J. The Lampblack swamp case was the first to bring him to public attention. Helena Whitmore, wife of Theodore S. Whitmore, was murdered in 1907 in the Lampblack swamp near Harrison, N. J. The prosecution built up what seemed an impregnable case against Whitmore and his conviction was apparently assured until Beet produced evidence to show another person had committed the crime. Whitmore was acquitted.

Father Verdier, Paris Head of Vincentian Order, Dead

The Very Rev. Francis V. Corcoran, president of De Paul university, received word of the death yesterday in Paris of the Very Rev. François Verdier, superior general of the Congregation of the Mission, known as the Vincentian fathers, whose priests conduct the university and St. Vincent's parish in Chicago. Father Verdier, who was 77 years old, became superior general of the order in 1919 and had been a member for 58 years. He visited Chicago in 1922.

J. Perry Burrus, Flour Merchant, Dies at Dallas

Dallas, Tex., Jan. 26.—(AP)—J. Perry Burrus, 60 year old industrialist and former director of the United States Chamber of Commerce, died at a hospital today. He was born at Buncetion, Mo. His principal interest was in the flour milling industry. He was a director of the Missouri-Kansas-Texas railroad.

L. D. Baldwin, Methodist Church Board Member, Dies

Word was received here yesterday at headquarters of the board of education of the Methodist Episcopal church of the death in East Orange, N. J., of Leonard D. Baldwin, member of the board since 1912 and prominent in religious educational circles.

Lester C. Bissell, Dubuque Retired Merchant, Dies

Dubuque, Ia., Jan. 26.—[Special.]—Lester C. Bissell, 81, chairman of the board of directors of the H. B. Glover Co., died last night after a long illness.

MRS. BELMONT DIES AT 80 IN HER PARIS HOME

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Jan. 26.—Funeral services for Mrs. Oliver H. P. Belmont, who died here early today, will be held at the American cathedral Saturday at 11 a. m. The body will be taken to New York on the Berengaria, which sails Feb. 4, and a second service will be held there. Burial will be in Woodlawn cemetery in New York.

The former New York society leader was 80 years old. She had been weakened by two paralytic strokes, one last May and the other last November. Among the many messages of sympathy received today was one from the National Women's party of the United States, in whose activities she had played a leading rôle.

ALBERT R. FAY FUNERAL TO BE HELD TOMORROW

Funeral services for Albert R. Fay, 73 years old, widely known transportation man and formerly traffic manager of Swift & Co., will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow at St. James' Methodist Episcopal church, 46th street and Ellis avenue. Burial will be in Mount Hope cemetery.

Mr. Fay died in Pasadena, Cal., on Jan. 22, where he had spent his winters in recent years. He lived at 5555 Everett avenue. Mr. Fay had been in the employ of Swift & Co. for 42 years, and at the time of his retirement six years ago was in charge of all the company's shipping and transportation activities. Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Jennie L. Fay, and a daughter, Mrs. Helen F. Hunter.

Funeral Tomorrow for Mrs. Mahaffey, Teacher

Mrs. Frances Vance Mahaffey, a teacher in the Chicago public schools for forty-nine years, will be buried tomorrow in Mount Olivet cemetery, following services at 10 a. m. from St. Rita's church. Mrs. Mahaffey died Wednesday in her home at 6622 South Claremont avenue of a heart attack. She was born in Chicago in 1860 and was educated in the public schools. She resigned from the school system in 1926 on completing 15 years of service at the Whitney school. A son and two daughters survive.

M. Mowschine, Orchestra Leader to Be Buried Today

Funeral services for Michel Mowschine, for many years an orchestra leader in New York and Chicago, who died Tuesday in his home, 918 Airdrie place, will be held at 1 p. m. today from the chapel at 2911 Broadway. Interment will be at Waldheim cemetery. Mr. Mowschine was born in France and came to New York while still a boy, moving to Chicago in 1913. He is survived by his widow and two children.

Arthur Vorys, Politician and Insurance Man, Dies

Columbus, O., Jan. 26.—(AP)—Arthur I. Vorys, 76, national Republican political figure and prominent in insurance circles, died here today. He had been in failing health for nearly a year. He was Ohio manager for William Howard Taft in his first campaign for the presidency.

CHAS. A. STEVENS WILL GIVES SON A $400,000 TRUST

The will of Charles A. Stevens, founder and chairman of the board of Charles A. Stevens & Co., loop department store, was filed for probate yesterday with Oscar S. Caplan, assistant to Probate Judge Taylor. Mr. Stevens died on Dec. 24 at the age of 73. He lived at 399 Fullerton parkway.

Elmer T. Stevens, Mr. Stevens' only son, is made trustee and sole beneficiary of a trust containing 5,144 shares of common stock in the department store corporation. According to Attorney Oscar D. Stern, who filed the will, the stock is now valued at about $400,000. At the son's death, the trust is to be terminated and the proceeds divided in equal shares among all of Mr. Stevens' lineal descendants who are then living.

The remainder of Charles A. Stevens' estate, consisting of personal property valued at $80,000 and real estate valued at $20,000 is to be divided in equal shares among Elmer Stevens, his two sisters, Mrs. Alta Stevens Cameron, 25 East Division street, and Mrs. Hazel Stevens Soper of Lake Forest, and six grandchildren of the testator.

Herbert Saunders, Official of Rock Island Lines, Dies

Herbert R. Saunders, superintendent of the Chicago terminal division of the Rock Island lines, died suddenly yesterday in the Continental Illinois National Bank building. He was 67 years old and a native Chicagoan. He began his railroad career in 1880 as a yard clerk. He was made superintendent of the Chicago terminal division in 1921. He lived at 6429 Harvard avenue. His widow, a sister and a brother survive.

Frank Harris Abbott, Virginia Professor, Dies

Charlottesville, Va., Jan. 26.—(AP)—Frank Harris Abbott, professor of French for the last fourteen years in the University of Virginia, died today. Prof. Abbott was born Nov. 3, 1877, at Bellevue, Va. He taught French at the University of Chicago and Johns Hopkins before joining the Virginia faculty in 1919.

Dr. Harry D. Smith of Phillips University Dies

Full Century of Fashion to Be Seen Today

Antiquarians Hold Annual at Home Display.

BY RUTH DE YOUNG.

Today Chicago's Antiquarians—that distinguished society of women interested in jade and bronze, silver and lace—will review a drama with La Mode for its heroine.

The occasion is the annual at home of the society in McKinleck court east, at the Art Institute, and two sisters, Mrs. William Prescott Hunt and Miss Marie J. Rozet, have given the dresses and hats that generations of Rozets and Mandevilles have worn as the center of an exhibit of "precious things lent."

Bustles and hoops, puffs and plumes—they are a veritable "tree" of this old family that came west from Philadelphia in the '80s. More than this, the costumes and accessories are truthfully the history of a century, for, as one well known couturier has pointed out, "No matter what the prevailing influence, peace or war, austerity or dissipation, it has been faithfully and almost intuitively expressed in feminine fashion."

Costumes Take Form Again

Yesterday the old fashioned costumes were taking form again under the supervision of Miss Bessie Bennett who heads the decorative art department at the institute. Tissue paper and excelsior went into the making of alluring nineteenth century figures—a lovely belle of the 1850s, a bridesmaid of the mauve decade, and a grande dame who had to be decapitated because she didn't come up to Miss Bennett's rigid standards.

Mrs. Hunt and Miss Rozet have always collected. They were born into it. But among all the treasures they've stowed away in the big gray stone house their father, George Rozet, built a half century ago at 1006 North La Salle street, there's nothing more precious to them than these dresses and hats and coats.

Oldest among them is the white Chinese brocade dress with puff sleeves and tassels made from material brought from China in 1822 by Henry D. Mandeville, grandfather of Mrs. Hunt and Miss Rozet, when he went to the orient in a sailing vessel super cargo. The dress was made for Mrs. Mandeville, a petite lady to judge by the size of the gown.

There will be a miniature of Mr. Mandeville on a table this afternoon with the set of Canton china he brought back in his cargo on that trip to the far east. Rare pieces of blue and white, marvelously preserved.

Show Brown Brocade Bonnet

Minuets danced in days gone by will be recalled for the Antiquarians by the lovely redingote of pink satin brocaded with roses and worn by Mrs. Hunt when she led a cotillion at the old Auditorium for the benefit of the Thomas orchestra. And then they will see one of the brown brocade bonnets that ladies wore way back in 1830 to keep their coiffures in order. Made with stiffened reeds, it reminds one of an accordion. And it is said they are still in use in rural parts of Connecticut.

Round the sides of the room that is to be the setting for this afternoon's party will be cases filled with precious pieces representative of the cultural interests of other Antiquarians. The "sable" and the "verre de Nevers" of Miss Elizabeth McCormick. "Sable," Miss McCormick will explain, is beadwork, the smallest beads ever made. It was done only for a ten year period during the time of Louis XIV. The "verre de Nevers," on the other hand, are amusing glass figures that take their name from the small town in France where they were produced. Equally rare! The largest among Miss McCormick's depicts St. Anthony with his pig.

These—the "verre de Nevers"—Miss McCormick has given to the Antiquarians and they will keep them on display at the institute. For the society, as you probably know, was incorporated as a part of the institute when the members changed its name a number of years ago from the Decorative Arts society, that group founded long, long ago "for a cup of tea and a bit of embroidery."

Other Items to Be Seen

Then, too, the 18th century Battersea enamel of Mrs. Patrick A. Valentine, Mrs. J. Ogden Armour's famous St. Cloud scent bottle, Arthur Heun's "epergne," and the splendid examples of early American pewter treasured by Mrs. Potter Palmer—these are other exhibits for the enjoyment of the Antiquarians this afternoon.

Pouring at the tea table this afternoon will be Miss Marion McFadden, Mrs. Alfred P. Shaw, Mrs. Potter Palmer III., Mrs. Frederic Clay Bartlett Jr., Mrs. James M. Hopkins, Mrs. George T. Langhorne, Mrs. Phillip Miller, and Mrs. John R. Winterbotham Jr.

In the receiving line will be the officers—Mrs. Potter Palmer, president; Mrs. Joseph M. Patterson, vice president; Miss Marie J. Rozet, secretary; Miss Florence Dibell Bartlett, treasurer—and members of the directors' board, which includes Mrs. Chauncey McCormick, Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed, Mrs. Clyde M. Carr, and Mrs. Arthur Meeker.

Leaders of Mission Study Committee Will Confer Here

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Nationally known leaders of the layman's foreign missions inquiry whose report has stirred widespread controversy throughout Protestantism will open a two day conference on the subject today at the Hotel La Salle. Prof. William E. Hocking of Harvard university, director of the inquiry, will lead the conference.

Prof. Hocking closed a series of lectures at the University of Chicago on the subject last night. He was the Alden Tuthill lecturer at the Chicago Theological seminary for 1932. The conference beginning today will be held at the request of Chicago pastors headed by Dr. Ernest Graham Guthrie of the Congregational church.

Dr. Guthrie announced that Prof. Hocking will speak at the conference this evening. Tomorrow morning Prof. Rufus M. Jones of Haverford college, another member of the inquiry, together with President Arlo Brown of Drew university, Madison, N. J.; Edgar H. Betts, Troy, N. Y., manufacturer, and Charles P. Emerson of Indiana university will discuss the report.

'Old Gray Goose' First Designed in 17th Century

BY NANCY CABOT.

Dating back as it does to the seventeenth century, this quilt pattern, "Old Gray Goose," appropriately belongs to your collection of antique blocks. In its early youth it was pieced in many colors with a brilliant effect. Today, since we do not depend upon the scrap bag as our source of materials, the blocks will assume added distinction if done in two colors.

Though there have been other names, such as "Devil's Claws" and "Double Z," that have attached themselves to this same pattern, "Old Gray Goose" seems to have the strongest claim of ownership. The old song, "Go Tell Aunt Rosie, the Old Gray Goose Is Dead," was its inspiration.

For a pattern of the "Old Gray Goose" design, send 5 cents in stamps or coin to Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune.

Jewish Fraternal Groups of State to Meet in City

A conference of all Jewish fraternal organizations in Illinois to be held on March 26 at the Hotel Sherman has been called by the Union of Jewish Fraternal Orders in Illinois. An effort will be made to bring about a closer unity among the groups. The 170 lodges in the state, comprising a membership of more than 25,000 Jews, are asked to send five delegates each.

Chinese Silks Are Marvels of Hand Work

Lovely Embroidery Marks Costume Slips.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

You may think you know all about Chinese ladies, how they stay dutifully in their courtyards while their war lords disappear for weeks at a time defending that famous wall around the country . . . how they spend weeks learning to properly arrange a blossom or two in a vase, or how they burn clouds of incense to honorable ancestors, but do you know the exquisite embroidery that these small needlewomen produce?

There are a few places in Chicago where you can find this beautiful Chinese embroidery . . . one shop is especially proud of some Chinese silk slips and lingerie . . . the costume slips are worthy of loud praise because of the unbelievably low price tags and the exquisite embroidery. Don't get excited about the embroidery, for the designs are not the usual kind. You won't be presented with slips embroidered with fire breathing dragons entwined on the section that covers your chest, nor will you be stunned with long legged birds and bamboo trees of popular conceptions.

You will see breath taking, lovely small designs of tiny flowers and even smaller leaves, bow knots, hand hemstitching, and all the delicate French looking lingerie motifs that please the occidental female. You will find slips with designs embroidered at the top and another duplicated in the front at the lower edge just above the hem and yet another in back above the hem.

Millions of infinitesimal stitches, taken by hand, make these lovely costume slips. Even the shoulder straps are hand made. And the Chinese silk is incredibly soft and wears and wears and wears.

If you have been looking for good looking white silk costume slips you can find all kinds of white and flesh tinted embroidered models among this Chinese silk collection. Other pieces of lingerie, also embroidered by skillful Chinese fingers, are just as feminine and moderate in price . . . for instance, the night gowns and sleeping pajamas. Look for the peach petal pink sleeping pajamas that have been fashioned entirely by hand, demure, high collared things with matching frogs sewed to the pajama jacket and clever narrow cuffs turned back on the trousers.

Brocaded Chinese silk, just about the softest silk you can find, comes in all pastel tints and some unusually gay Chinese colors that you see in old Chinese prints. Look for the orange tinted brocaded lounging pajamas, the peacock blue affairs, and the pale lemon yellow tints, if you desire something different.

Unquestionably the white, oyster white, and pearl luster white brocades are the loveliest things you can buy . . . you will find perfectly delectable sleeping pajamas, nightgowns, and kimonos all made of these indescribable white shades, each tiny stitch a miracle of needlework.

If you want something different, something definitely feminine and distinctive and something amazingly low in price, shop for charming lingerie things made of long wearing soft Chinese silk, cunningly embroidered and fashioned by gentle, patient Chinese fingers that have been busy since childhood with needle and embroidery silks.

Society Folk Set Tables in Clinic of Home

"Now, I like that one, it's so complete," said one good soul who had a preview of the tables set by four well known hostesses and four popular bachelor hosts in a contest at the Sears Clinic of Household Science, and little did she know that the table she admired was one of the badly decorated ones.

Each entrant in the contest has set two tables, one smartly decorated and the other improperly decorated, and Miss Frieda Foltz, the program extension adviser of the clinic, says the smart ones are the most chic things imaginable and the bad ones the most dreadful, according to sophisticated taste at least.

There is to be a tea this afternoon at the clinic, 7 East Van Buren street, from 4 to 7 o'clock to exhibit the tables, and the winners are to be chosen by popular vote. In case of there being a tie or any controversy Mrs. Walter S. Brewster, Mrs. Howard Linn, and Mrs. John L. Cochran Jr. will be on hand to be the final judges. Pouring at the tea table will be Mrs. Robert McCormick Adams, Mrs. Chauncey B. Blair, Mrs. Melvin Brorby, Mrs. Paget Cady, Mrs. Kenneth Carpenter, Mrs. Neal Cowham, Mrs. Fletcher M. Durbin, Mrs. John Root, Mrs. Louis Manierre, and Mrs. Lyell H. Ritchie. Those who have entered the contest are Mrs. Ambrose C. Cramer, Miss Janet Fairbank, Lady Hastings, Mrs. Lawrence Williams, Richard A. Boaler, Walter Frazier, David Leavitt, and Arthur Meeker Jr.

Other members of the social world who have been setting tables for the public are some of those who are interested in things Mexican, and down at Field's there are some stunning tables decorated with Mexican pottery and glassware.

Mrs. Alfred A. MacArthur used as her centerpiece a large brown pottery bowl, flanked by two big long legged gayly painted wooden birds. The MacArthurs have a residence at Cuernavaca, and she and the children spend every winter there.

Mrs. Benjamin F. Affleck of Lake Forest set a very sophisticated table with a rough weave tablecloth of off-white with small black figures, service plates of off-black, blister glassware the color of a ripe eggplant, and a centerpiece consisting of a bowl of pottery gourds shaped like bananas, ears of corn, tomatoes in rich purples, deep reds and dull greens.

MINUTE MYSTERY CAN YOU SOLVE IT?

BY H. A. RIDLEY

DEATH CALLS THE HAND.

"One card," snapped dark, nervous Joe Salvi.

"Play these," quietly asserted big, granite faced Jake Schultz.

"Bet five hundred," growled the dark one.

"Raise it five," responded imperturbable granite face.

The four players who had discarded their hands unconsciously leaned forward in their chairs. There was an air of tenseness in the smoke filled room as Joe Salvi barked, "Call it—and by God——!"

With that the lights went out. There was scraping of chairs, curses, a shot, a shriek, then the sound of a falling body.

Jim Roddy, one of the four players, literally ran into the arms of Officer Ryan hurrying up the steps.

"Somebody's just plugged Salvi through the head. I'm going for a doctor. For God's sake, get up there!" he shouted.

As Ryan stepped into the room, gun in hand, the lights went on.

"What's goin' on here?" he demanded.

Prof. Fordney and Inspector Kelley stood in the room questioning the six players, two attendants, and the solitary onlooker.

Schultz was slowly explaining his part when John Barber, one of the players, interrupted with, "Listen, Jake, we ain't gonna get in wrong because of you, see!"

"Yeah! You had it in for Salvi!" broke in Roddy. "And——"

"What're you doing?" bellowed Kelley as Spike Morely, one of the attendants, put a piece of paper in his mouth and chewed it to bits.

The inspector jumped up with a roar as Hogan, the dealer at the time of the tragedy, slipped a card into the top of his trousers.

"Never mind, Kelley. Here's our man," said Fordney, placing his hand on the shoulder of the murderer.

WHO WAS HE?

Chicagoans Mix Work and Play While on Vacation in Phoenix

Meet at Home of Mrs. William Wrigley to Make Layettes for Social Service.

BY JUDITH CASS.

CHICAGOANS who are wintering in Phoenix are mixing work with play, our correspondent from there writes, and every Monday afternoon a group meets at La Colina Solina, Mrs. William Wrigley's residence atop a hill near the Biltmore, to make layettes for the social service center of Phoenix. Last Monday, the opening day, more than forty nighties, robes and bootees were made, after which tea was served.

Mrs. Wrigley has agreed to furnish all the materials if her friends will join her in the sewing, and those in charge of the social service center are optimistically hoping that the group will supply dozens of articles for the layettes the service needs.

At this week's meeting were Mrs. Wrigley's house guest, Miss Clara Lake; Mrs. Franklin H. Martin, who with Dr. Martin is a recent arrival at the Biltmore; Mrs. Edward F. Swift and her niece, Mrs. James Minotto, who lives in Phoenix; Mrs. Joseph W. Cremin and Miss Noel Cremin, Miss Nora Carney, Miss Mary Louise Anderson, Miss Jane Bell, Mrs. Biome Vose, Mrs. James Y. McMillan, Mrs. Joseph J. Bagley, and Miss Kathleen Bagley.

Miss Anderson Wins Spelling Prize.

A revival of the good old school days, when the three Rs were the important problems of life, took place recently at the Biltmore in Phoenix with Miss Carney as the school marm. In the spelling bee Miss Anderson, who has a most attractive house on the Biltmore grounds which she built two years ago, took first prize, and Miss Bagley second.

Edward F. Swift Jr. is at the Arizona Biltmore with his mother, and among other Chicagoans there are Mr. and Mrs. Louis A. Ferguson Jr.

Mrs. Joseph T. Bowen and her daughter, Mrs. Louise de Koven Phelps, will be members of the smart Chicago colony at the popular Arizona resort shortly, for they are leaving next Monday to occupy a cottage on the Biltmore grounds. Mrs. Oren E. Taft is leaving tomorrow to join Mr. Taft, who has been in Phoenix for several weeks. They plan to be there another six weeks.

Mrs. James R. Offield will depart on Sunday to visit her mother, Mrs. Wrigley, in Phoenix, where they will be joined the middle of February by Miss Betty Offield and Mr. Offield. Mr. Offield will return to Chicago in time to take his son, Wrigley Offield, deep sea fishing off the coast of Florida during Wrigley's spring vacation from his eastern "prep" school.

Date for St. Luke's Fashion Show.

Mrs. John W. Gary announced yesterday that the woman's board of St. Luke's hospital will hold its annual fashion show this year the afternoon and evening of Oct. 19. The revue is one of the important social events of each season. Mrs. Gary was reelected president of the board at its annual meeting on Wednesday.

What is to be the surprise at Mrs. Howard Linn's party tonight for Marjorie Goodman and Francise Clow? That is the question all the forty young people who are going to the party are asking themselves and each other. But no one knows, although every one is sure it will be something novel and interesting, for Mrs. Linn is noted for her originality and charm as a hostess.

The party will start with dinner at the Linns' Cedar street residence and then will come the surprise part of the program. Included on Mrs. Linn's invitation list are the guests Cyrus H. Adams III. had invited to a party he had planned for tonight for Miss Constance Hasler and "Jack" Simpson, for Mrs. Linn took over his party

A Job a Day

Every little improvement we give our home right now helps us—and the other fellow, too.

A golden time, these days, to reduce the depreciation from wear on your home—with cost of materials for house betterment scarcely two-thirds of what they were a year ago. Have you considered giving your bathroom walls a new treatment? There are a score of materials which may be applied to the old walls without removing the old plaster. And, of course, a simple gloss paint will freshen them wonderfully. Investigating possible treatments for your bathroom walls may surprise you with their variety and their lessened costs compared to costs of the last few years.

THE WHITE COCKATOO is the new Mignon G. Eberhart mystery—

ONE OF HER BEST—says Donald Gordon of the author whose first mystery was an international best-seller, whose second won the Scotland Yard Prize, whose books appear in nine different languages, who has never written a failure, and whose most brilliant, exciting, glamorous thriller is this breathless tale of the chill old French hotel and of the sinister white cockatoo, whose black eyes were to see murder stalk the lonely rooms, strike through the half-opened doors of the antique, incongruous, elevator; to watch the secret of the Napoleon clock, of the desperate woman with silver heels, of the whole pulsing tide of terror that swept lives and fortunes headlong before it. For thrills, excitement, adventure, don't miss this most satisfying thriller of the new year.

FOLLY ISLAND

By Wallace Irwin

SYNOPSIS.

Bart Burgess is marooned in a catboat on Peconic bay, fifty miles from his Long Island home in Wyattville. His companion, Ingalls Frederick Warren, spoiled child of a new made fortune, known as "Nosey Ingy," rows to town for a carpenter. A girl in a canoe invites Bart over to her family's island, but her small brother says their mother would have a fit. Bart senses a family secret. Ingy sends help and taxies home. Bart learns that the Bayleys have lived on the island fifteen years, but don't mix. The father travels. He invites the girl, Alice, to visit him in Wyattville. Less than a week later Trevor Burgess, Bart's father, dies suddenly from a heart attack. Bart finds himself the head of the house with his invalid mother to care for. Shortly after the funeral, Lora Hackett, distant relative and recent divorcée, calls on Bart. The family lawyer gives Bart a letter left for him by his father, in which he confesses to being a bigamist. The Bayleys of Folly island are his second family. He asks Bart, for his mother's sake, to guard the secret, and leaves a fortune to provide for the Bayleys. Bart calls on Mrs Bayley and finds her a lovely woman, not the harridan he expected. He returns two weeks later with the legacy.

INSTALLMENT XI.

A LOVELY WOMAN.

In the background stood a small greenhouse, and out of it came Mrs. Bayley, carrying a stack of flower pots.

"How do you do, Mr. Burgess." She took off a garden glove before giving him a hand which was slightly roughened by work, but very sensitive. He was relieved to see that she had gained her poise, her calm. Affably he said:

"I see you love gardening. My mother's a shark on flowers, and she'd admire this." Suddenly he thought of the too well ordered beds on the Wyattville estate.

"O, does she?" Graciously as a fine lady should speak. "I'm taking great pains with my irises." Pointing out long clusters of little rock irises.

"I see you love gardening. My mother's shark on flowers, and she'd admire this."

showing their white and purple plumes. Then, after a little pause, "Matthew was very fond of them. He was quite extravagant about plants. But he went in more for fall flowers. Dahlias."

"Mother's quite a dahlia shark," he said.

"I wish she could see mine in the fall." As though she had nothing else on her mind the strange woman gestured toward an earthy patch up the hill. "They do so well there. Last winter my husband brought me two dozen roots of the Watchung Sunrise. I have great hopes of them." With the gentle roll of her r's. Not quite English, not quite southern.

Watchung Sunrise. It had a familiar sound to him. Then he remembered the plants that had been in his mother's garden. They hadn't done well. Where had the roots gone?

"They're a trick dahlia," he said. "Mother couldn't make a go of them. Yours ought to take a prize if they do well."

A distasteful thought—the Watchung Sunrise in Mrs. Bayley's garden. And how much longer was she going on with this impersonal, somehow distressing chat about fall flowers?

"Maybe they're just for show," she said, and there was a revealing sadness when she added, "He so wanted to see them growing here."

They walked over to a garden bench; now she was a lovely woman, waiting for what he had come to say; but she was very much on her guard.

Bart had had time to make a fairly well rounded story, to remind her of the Arapahoe's sinking—the newspapers had been full of it a while back—and how only two of the lifeboats had gained the shore. He was glib, almost believing it himself, such is the charm of the lie. "And the body wasn't recovered."

"But he could swim well." She closed her eyes.

"The water was very cold." Then gently, to be rid of her questions, "We wouldn't have come to you unless we had been very sure."

"Thank you." For a moment she looked again at her hands. "It was so long since he wrote. He seldom waited so long." Then quietly she asked, "You're with Ryan and Wheeler?"

"No. I've come as a lawyer."

This was only half a lie; nearly two years at law school gave him a certain claim. And he thanked Hen Love for having given him the cue with the question, "Are you a lawyer from Philadelphia?" Philadelphia. He remembered how Mrs. Bayley had asked him the same thing, a minute after they met. Her eyes were on him, so sad, so searching, but he went on, "His memorandum instructed me to hold a hundred thousand dollars in trust for Alice."

"Of course, there would be a special provision——" She caught herself, bit her lip.

"But why should there be?" The instinct of a cross-examiner was upon him now. He must know.

"Well, she's the girl of the family." Hastily. "And Matthew always had her education at heart."

Too quickly explained. Then suddenly he attacked some secret weakness in the woman's armor.

"Mrs. Bayley," he insisted pleasantly, "because I'm a lawyer, maybe I have certain privileges—there are confidential matters you can discuss candidly with me." Then his question was pointed with a black suspicion "Is there anything connected with Matthew Bayley that you would care to——"

"Matthew Bayley?" Now there was disarming honesty in her wide gaze. If a look could tell anything, she knew no more of her husband's identity than her daughter did. But she was persistent, worried. "What about Matthew Bayley?"

"I'm sorry," he apologized. "What I really want to ask doesn't concern him directly. Only there seems to be some confusion as to when he came to Folly island."

"A question about our being married, you mean?" She was haughty now, rather forbidding, but worried. "Will it be necessary for me to show our marriage license?"

"Forgive me, Mrs. Bayley." Like a grande dame she was putting him in his place, but a certain Burgess stubbornness was urging him on. "I just wanted to make a record for our files. Were you married in Port England?"

A dot of hesitation, then, "Yes."

"I wonder if you could tell me the date, approximately."

"Nineteen years ago——" Her gently rolling intonation stopped suddenly, and under her serene mask he saw the lie. A lovely woman, Trevor Burgess' letter had said. Yes, she was that. A fugitive from justice. Then in a flash Bart remembered what the carpenter had told him at Port England. How she had come there to join her husband, bringing her baby.

"I'm glad you told me," said Bart slowly, "because the people at Port England seem to think——"

"What do they think?" sharply.

"That you've only been here fifteen years."

She sat perfectly stony. His heart was pounding like a broken piston, but he managed to make his voice calm.

"Because this is confidential, Mrs. Bayley, why can't we be candid?" He was jumping wildly to the conclusion which he now felt was the true one. Leaning toward her, he forced down her reserve with the question which must be answered. "Isn't it true that Alice isn't Matthew Bayley's daughter at all?"

An aching pause, a half second, a year, the woman searching into him. Then——

"Yes." A short, agonized cry. She shook herself together by an effort of her strong will.

Studios Hunt New Talent to Bolster Films

Want Young People to Be Made Stars.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 26.—Young Carl "Junior" Laemmle, who bosses the making of films at his father's studio (Universal) at Universal City, says that one big trouble with the movies is too many stars who are getting along in years. He says that there will be fewer knocks and less red ink for the films in 1933, if between twenty and forty new stars are created.

If Hollywood can't produce that many new stars it will be necessary for producers to turn to the stage and if the stage can't fill the bill there will have to be a search for talent all over this and foreign nations.

Laemmle says that most of the outstanding acting performances in 1932 were given by actors in their thirties and forties and by actresses in or near their thirties.

What Junior Laemmle says is the key to much recent activity by film producers who have imported a score or more of British actresses and actors in 1932—most of them going to Fox and MGM studios—and who have picked up a number of collegians and former Little theater players from New York, Pasadena, and elsewhere.

It is, in general, the same idea that Producer Sam Goldwyn was expressing when he recently announced a quest for seventy-five new beautiful film faces and what Paramount was trying to do when it combed the key cities for its "panther woman" candidates.

Having enjoyed Christmas by the family fireside, Douglas Fairbanks is checking out again Monday for the far places. "Where you going this time?" a pal asked Doug. "First, I'm going to St. Moritz; I want to learn skiing."

Fairbanks wanted to take Mary with him, but she won't be through with "Secrets" until March 1, and she may then go to Europe with a congenial little group including Countess Frasso, Gary Cooper, and others, it was said at Mary's offices today.

Clara Bow will remain in Europe for some time after Rex Bell returns here to go ahead with his picture contract in February.

Somebody either misunderstood Maureen O'Sullivan, according to the Irish girl, in putting out that story about Maureen's being fed up with Hollywood and ready to retire to a quiet life in Erin. "I'm not fed up," the O'Sullivan girl says, "and I'm not leaving Hollywood, and I didn't say it." She is bound by contract for a couple more pictures at MGM.

when she discovered that he and Miss Hasler and Mr. Simpson were engaged for the night of her affair.

Max Eastman, the poet-philosopher who is to lecture tomorrow in the Town Hall series at the Drake hotel, is to be the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher M. Durbin. He is to arrive today, and Mr. and Mrs. Durbin are not going to plan any entertaining for him until they learn how long he will be able to stay with them.

Emerson house will benefit from Mr. Eastman's lecture, the subject of which is to be "America's Changing Ideals."

The Durbins' daughter, Mrs. Sartell Prentice Porter, is expecting a former Vassar classmate, Miss Mary Ann Chamberlin of Cleveland, to stop off for a visit with her today on her way to Arizona.

300 Reservations for Musical.

More than 300 reservations have been made for the musical to be given this morning at the Woman's Athletic club by Janet Fairbank and Amy Neill. The program will begin at 11 o'clock and will be followed by the usual luncheon.

Among those who are planning to take parties are Mrs. Henry Veeder, Mrs. John J. Cummings, Mrs. Edwin P. Dewes, Mrs. Edward K. Welles, Mrs. Royden Keith, Mrs. Alfred Tyler, Mrs. Harry B. Clow, Mrs. Edwin W. Sims, Mrs. Edwin M. Hadley, Mrs. Francis Neilson, Mrs. Willard W. Jaques, and Mrs. Louis E. Leverone.

The American Friends of China announce that Dr. David A. Brown will be unable to arrive in time to lecture on "Changing Conditions in China" at the organization's luncheon meeting on Monday at the Palmer house, and in his place Sir Frederick Whyte, political adviser to the Chinese government, will speak on the same subject.

Besides Sir Frederick and Col. George T. Langhorne, who will preside, those at the speakers' table will include Graham Aldis, Lucius Teter, Henry Field, John Payne Kellogg, Dr. Berthold Laufer, Russell Tyson, Walter S. Lichtenstein, Arthur Evans and Clifton Utley. Lady Whyte will sit at a table with the 10 women who are to be hostesses at the luncheon.

Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Morton are leaving for Florida in ten days. They will be back in Chicago at the end of two months. Miss Suzette Morton will return in July from her studies at the Sorbonne, in Paris.

F. H. Rawsons to Go to Coast.

The Frederick H. Rawsons of 1550 State parkway are hoping to get away within the next fortnight for a short vacation on the west coast. They plan to spend most of their time in Los Angeles. Undoubtedly they will find time for some fishing, especially Mrs. Rawson, who is known as an accomplished fisherwoman.

Mr. and Mrs. James Waller Rogers of 25 Scott street will return this week-end from a trip to Bermuda with Mr. and Mrs. Edwin M. Chapman of Westport, Conn.

Mrs. Heaton Owsley, who spends so much of each year away from Chicago, has no definite plans for traveling this year. She has been at the Ambassador hotel since she returned several weeks ago from a motor trip through the south and intends to remain here for most of the winter, with the exception of a trip to New York in February.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Thorne will depart around the first of February for a month of winter sports in Canada. They have not decided on their exact destination, but will stop at places where the skiing, skating, and tobogganing are good in the frozen country around Quebec. Their baby daughter will stay with Mrs. Thorne's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stevenson.

Mrs. W. A. Yager to Attend Wedding.

Mrs. William A. Yager will go to Buffalo next month for the marriage on Feb. 15 of her nephew, Guy A. Thomas Jr. of Minneapolis, to Miss Jeannette Underhill of Buffalo. Mr. Thomas is a Williams man and has many friends in Chicago. Mrs. Yager is planning to go on to Washington and New York before she returns home.

Stuart G. Shepard of Geneva, N. Y., is in town for a few days visiting Hugh McLennan of the Lake Shore Drive hotel. Mr. Shepard used to live in Chicago.

Mrs. Hugh J. McBirney will leave Chicago tomorrow and sail from New York next Wednesday on the Europa for her annual trip abroad. She will spend the greater part of three months at Geneva, Switzerland.

Miss Caroline McNair and her father, Frank McNair, are sailing Feb. 18 on the new S. S. Rex to spend five delightful months in Egypt.

Mrs. Herbert Farrington Perkins has gone east to make the acquaintance of her new grandchild, the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Earle P. Bliss [Margaret Perkins] of New Weston, Mass. The baby, who is to be christened Carlton Merrill Bliss, was born on Dec. 24. He has two older sisters.

Betty Durham to Graduate.

Miss Betty Durham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond E. Durham of Winnetka, will finish her four year course at Vassar the beginning of February. Her studies were interrupted in September, 1929, when she made her debut at a garden party given by her parents.

Though her plans for the spring and summer are still indefinite, she is hoping to sail for Europe shortly after her final examinations. Mr. and Mrs. Durham enjoyed all the festivity of a Vassar commencement last June, going east at the time that most of Betty's friends were graduated.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. McNear have returned from a five weeks' trip to California. They had been visiting their daughter and son-in-law, Lieut. and Mrs. Warren Towle, at March field, Riverside, and the Towles' small son.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick T. Vaux are to leave tomorrow for their annual stay in Florida, where they combine business with pleasure by inspecting their citrus groves.

In May Mr. and Mrs. Vaux will make their yearly trip to London, unless their daughter, Mrs. William de Burgh Whyte, and her family can be persuaded to come to Chicago. Mrs. Whyte is prominent in British society and active in the American Woman's club. Her daughter, Miss Amicie Whyte, was presented at court last June.

Chicago Alumnæ of Brown university will have their president, Dr. Clarence A. Barbour, as their guest at a dinner tonight at the Chicago Athletic club. After Dr. Barbour's address, movies of last fall's Brown-Yale and Brown-Harvard football games will be run off and the award of the club's scholarships discussed. Among those at the speakers' table this evening will be Col. Noble Brandon Judah, Wallace R. Lane, Chester A. Cook, William D. Reichmann, F. Donald Bateman, Elmer Stevens, Lester L. Falk, Sherman M. Strong, and Everett R. Cook.

Ralph G. Johnson is president of the club, George W. Podd vice president, Earle V. Johnson secretary, and F. A. Brown treasurer.

The weather being what it is, the ice carnival planned for this evening at the Country club of Evanston has been called off, and instead there will be dancing and games indoors.

Funds from Jubilee Ball to Help Church Prepare for Fair

Friends of the Paulist Fathers have arranged a jubilee ball to be given in the Congress hotel on Feb. 4, the proceeds to be turned over to the Fathers for the renovation of historic St. Mary's Catholic church, 9th street and Wabash avenue.

Because of its proximity to A Century of Progress, St. Mary's expects to receive thousands of Catholic visitors this summer. More than that, this is the centenary year of the church and the diamond jubilee of the Paulist Fathers. Friends hope to put the church in proper condition with the proceeds of the ball.

St. Mary's was founded in 1833 after a petition, written in the little building belonging to Jean St. Beaubien and signed by French, Irish, and German Catholics, was dispatched to the Rt. Rev. Bishop Joseph Rosati of St. Louis, requesting a pastor for "this new and flourishing city." The first structure was at State and Lake streets and built at a cost of $400.

Mrs. Walter J. Cummings is chairman of the jubilee ball. Among a list of 300 patrons and patronesses are Gov. Horner, Mayor Cermak, Judge and Mrs. Francis Allegretti, Col. and Mrs. A. A. Sprague, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hart, Mr. and Mrs. A. Czarnecki, Mr. and Mrs. Britton I. Budd, Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Kelly, and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph M. Cudahy.

Sports Sweater from French Salon Reminiscent of Revolutionary War

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—Knitted clothes keep their important place in sports fashions. Parisiennes, in fact, like to wear knitted dresses, jackets, and sweaters when they go shopping or walking in the Bois, and this keeps the dressmakers on the move to give the product of the knitting needle fresh chic from day to day.

The talents of such great dressmakers as Lucien Lelong being turned to knitted clothes, a new kind of sweater jacket has appeared recently. It is inspired by the fitted coats of military men, and is shown in our sketch.

Lelong, who created this sweater, makes it of the bright red that British officers wore in the revolutionary period of American history. It is hip length and fastens straight down the front on invisible hooks and eyes, just to the waistline. There is a standing collar of navy blue, and navy blue knitted bands down the front. Just to the waistline these bands are crossed by bright red lacings, similar to those that function on men's shoes, and below the belt the bands are threaded with red braid. It is this that gives the jacket its particular chic.

There is a belt of red leather at the waistline, made in ridges like a cartridge belt, and with a steel buckle.

Changed Style of Thinking Acts as Tonic

Takes Years from Woman's Face.

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

She had reason, if any one ever had, to be sour—and look it! She was the victim of an invalid parent of exorbitant demands and no gratitude in her system. One day she said: "I'm going to make a new person out of me. I probably won't see you for a couple of months. Then you'll see the difference."

A couple of months later I met her. She'd made good her promise. And the woman who greeted me was easily ten years younger in appearance.

In explanation she said: "I just changed my style of thinking!"

Maybe that's what's wrong with a number of our faces. They need to be treated to a new style of thinking. We can get so sour looking on the old indulgencies. Of course, some women victims of unhappy mental habits need a vacation, a change of scene before they can get a release. They may be trying to do too much. Ragged nerves result from long, continued strain. And the world can be pulled all out of gear with nerves directing the motion.

Now, the way to change the style of thinking is not to say, "Here, thoughts, you're going to be changed." Unless you're a very strong minded sister that won't work. You must direct the thoughts into new channels. But before you can do that you must get out and see new sights and do different things.

You can't coop yourself up in a house or office day after day with yourself and expect your thinking style to improve much. You have to feed yourself a new "dish" of thoughts. A couple of them. How you should go about this is your business.

It's a chance, in fact, for you to give your thoughts a new turn, just figuring out how. The main thing is to get off the indignities, the injuries, the wrongs, and the misunderstandings that are souring the face now and substitute something easier for the face to work on.

One trick that can be recommended is to relax the muscles as you go about your tasks. You can't think nearly so mean with relaxed face muscles as you can with them all set taut. When you feel a spell of tenseness and sourness coming on drop your chin—and RELAX!

Gentle Music of Bygone Age Pleases Critic

Ancient Instruments Are Heard in Court.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

For those who started going to concerts yesterday morning and kept it up till last night there was music of the widest possible variety in manner, mood, and spirit. In the morning the Casadesus Society of Ancient Instruments appeared in the gold room of the Congress hotel playing a program of music of a bygone age upon instruments which have long since disappeared from general use.

It was graceful, gentle, aristocratic music, played in a most exquisite fashion. Mme. Regina Patorni-Casadesus is a great artist on the clavecin, an ancestor of the piano. But for that matter, so is Marius Casadesus on the quinton, and Henri Casadesus on the viole d'amour, ancestors of the violin and viola of today. There was also a viole de gambe, which has grown up into the violincello, and a basse de viole, of low tone but smaller than the present string bass. These, however, appeared only in the ensembles, not as solo instruments.

The tone of the organization is gentle, slightly nasal, and of no great variety in color, but so lovely in the old music written for these instruments that the program was one of the delights of the season.

In the evening the steel fingered Serge Prokofieff appeared once again with the Chicago Symphony orchestra in the triple function of composer, pianist, and conductor. Several important matters, however, were presented before his appearance.

When Mr. Stock came to the stand he turned to the audience and said, "Ladies and gentlemen, permit me to say that we in this part of the house want to play a tusch, a fanfare, for the first time to a man whom you all know, revere, and love, and who today celebrates his ninetieth birthday. Mr. John J. Glessner."

For years Mr. Glessner has been a member of the executive committee of the Orchestral association, for years also one of the orchestra's stanchest friends. The fanfare was played rousingly, and the audience stood at attention. Whereupon Mr Stock passed to the program, Dvorak's "Othello" Overture and the Chausson Symphony, one of the loveliest symphonies in the entire répertoire.

Mr. Prokofieff repeated his stunningly brilliant performance of what Rudolph Ganz calls the "Emperor Jones" Concerto, Prokofieff's fifth. It is effective as he plays it, and treating the piano, as he does, as an instrument of percussion raised to a high power. But one doubts whether many other pianists will take it up.

As conductor he introduced for the first time in Chicago what he calls Four Portraits and a Denouement constructed from his opera, "The Gambler." Like his ballet, "Chout," the music is highly colored, direct, and at times impassioned. Unlike "Chout," it has no note of gayety. Of course it is a different sort of piece. At the same time it shows Mr. Prokofieff as a composer of rather striking ability.

Italian groups will be the guests at the weekly meeting of the Chicago Friends of Music in Orchestra hall this afternoon. Giuseppe Castruccio, consul general of Italy, will speak. Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank, vice president of the Friends of Music and chairman of the Foreign Language group, will be in charge of the meeting.

Chap Expects Kiss After the Second Date

Acts Injured When Girl Refuses.

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"I met a girl at a party, took her home and made a date for the following night. She seemed sociable. But the next night after we returned from our date she refused to kiss me goodnight. I know she isn't what we fellows term a 'wet blanket,' but just a girl who doesn't like to be mauled.

"Well, I put on a long face and looked the picture of wounded pride. She asked me if I was angry. I told her I was not angry, but hurt. She gave in and let me kiss her. But that doesn't remedy the wounded feeling. I won the argument, still she did not kiss me because she wanted to—but because she thought I'd be angry if she didn't. That hurt deeper than the refusal itself. Mr. X."

So that's the way you boys train the girls, "Mr. X." And then you are the first to yap about their letting every Tom, Dick and Harry kiss them! It means they're scared into it. They don't get another date unless they submit to the unwelcome advance. For shame, you big babies!

Why should a girl want to kiss a boy she met only the evening before? We would think she'd want to know something about a young man before she gave him a chance to go around telling how easy she was. Even then we'd take her aside and tip her off to the advantage of being sparing with her favors. Yeah—and we're not talking out of the Victorian side of the mouth, either! We'd give her the benefit of what we have learned from you young ones, yourselves. Which is quite a good deal, "Mr. X."

It strikes us that the picture of wounded pride might better adorn the face of a young man who thought he was pursuing a girl difficult to catch and it proved not so. There can't be much of a conquest in having a pair of lips served up to you before you've had a chance to know anything about the girl.

We don't sympathize much with your deep hurt, "Mr. X." If you're that much of an egotist the incident should do you some good. You must have an amazing conceit to put on an act like that just because the girl didn't fall on your neck for joy of meeting you.

In other words, "Mr. X," we just think you need a little growing up before you are the perfect article for whom girls fall on sight.

THE STAGE

The Chicago Operetta company's revival of "The Desert Song" has been postponed for a week in order to permit the management to discover a first class tenor of dashing personality fitted for the rôle of a lieutenant in the Foreign Legion who masquerades as a chieftain of the marauding Riffs. Charlotte Lansing, heroine of the original "Desert Song" production, will be the vivacious Margot of the musical romance.

Therefore "The Song of the Flame," the company's current bill, will continue its performance at the Civic Opera house for another week.

"The Du Barry," an elaborately staged operetta with Grace Moore as its star, will end its successful run in New York tomorrow night and start on a tour that should bring it to this city inside of a month. The itinerary, according to present plans, is Philadelphia, Washington, Cleveland, and Chicago. This production is a modernization of Carl Millocker's work and its score represents that Viennese composer of the 1880s in his brightest manner. C. C.

Child's Habits Are Subject of Pamphlets

Information of Great Value to Parents.

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

The series of leaflets published by the White House conference on child health and protection which is to be described today is on the subject of "Habits." The series consists of five interesting talks in five pamphlets of less than ten pages each.

This all absorbing topic of habits has been treated under five different headings—each in one leaflet, of course. The first is called "What Do Parents Need to Know?" It gives briefly a background of knowledge that parents need for the establishing of good habits.

The second is called "Habits That Make or Mar." Its subtopics cover freedom from strain and conflict, right health conditions, providing right stimulus, pleasant associations, and learning.

"Habits of Sleep and Repose" are taken up in the third leaflet in this habit series. This is the briefest of the leaflets and lays down a general foundation for the establishing of these essential routines.

The fourth leaflet in the "Habit Series" is concerned with the subject of eating. It is called "Habits of Eating" and stresses the importance of constructive methods of avoid the formation of undesirable eating habits.

The fifth leaflet deals with "Habits of Independence."

The leaflets in this series cost 10 cents each and are obtainable from the White House Conference on Child Protection, Interior building, Washington, D. C.

Mother of 7—Still Young

THE woman who gives her organs the right stimulant need not worry about growing old.

Her system doesn't stagnate; her face doesn't age. She has the health and "pep" that come from a lively liver and strong, active bowels.

When you're sluggish and the system needs help, don't take a lot of "patent medicines." There's a famous doctor's prescription for just such cases, and every druggist keeps this standard preparation. It is made from fresh laxative herbs, active senna, and pure pepsin. Just ask for Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin. Take a little every day or so, until every organ in your body feels the big improvement.

The next time you have a bilious headache, or feel all bound-up, take this delicious syrup instead of the usual cathartic. You'll be rid of all that poisonous waste, and you haven't weakened the bowels. You'll have a better appetite, and feel better in every way. The constant use of cathartics is often the cause of a sallow complexion and lines in the face. And so unnecessary!

Would you like to break yourself of the cathartic habit? At the same time building health and vigor that protects you from frequent sick spells, headaches, and colds? Get a big bottle of Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin today. Use often enough to avoid those attacks of constipation. When you feel weak and run-down or a coated tongue or bad breath warns you the bowels need to be stimulated. Give it to children instead of strong laxatives that sap their strength. It isn't expensive.

MANAGEMENT

The current economic assault upon industry and business has demonstrated the wisdom of this now historic policy of The Western and Southern Life Insurance Company of strengthening reserves and building up surplus for the protection and security of our policyholders. Our 1932 statement strikingly reflects the result of this policy. We have closely adhered to our policy of safety and protection of policyholders through integrity and stability of reserves and ample surplus. It is our purpose to continue this proven course which insures the absolute safety of every policyholder.

All real estate of the company has been depreciated below present values, and all mortgage loans to positive and certain values. All bonds are carried at their amortized value, with not a single default, and consist solely of Government and high-grade municipals, which, together with our cash, practically equal the entire capital and surplus, thus creating a most liquid condition.

Rigid economies and strict adherence to these practices during 1932 have resulted in a matchless condition, which for quality and character of reserves, liquidity of resources and financial strength is unexcelled if equaled by any life insurance company in the United States.

Life insurance written at all ages and amounts from birth to age seventy.

Premiums can be paid weekly, monthly, quarterly, semi-annually or annually at the convenience of the insured. Among the lowest guaranteed life insurance premium rates of all United States Companies.

Protection to policyholders at lowest cost to them is our constant endeavor.

All policies contain guaranteed cash, loan, paid-up and extended insurance values.

SPLENDID OPPORTUNITIES are afforded in our life organization to young men of education and ambition. Fifty-two weeks' employment each and every year. Communicate with any district office.

GAMES TODAY.

1:30 p. m.—Scoville vs. Hall.
3:00 p. m.—Kieckhefer vs. Thurnblad.
8:15 p. m.—Cochran vs. Denton.

RESULTS YESTERDAY.

Layton, 50; Reiselt, 36.
Thurnblad, 50; Hall, 49.
Cochran, 50; Jackson, 26.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Welker Cochran, the balkline star, played three cushion billiards last night so brilliantly he had a crowd of fans at the Wabash recreation rooms dizzy. When he beat Clarence Jackson, the solemn old fellow from Detroit, 50 to 26 in 40 innings, he sailed back into a tie for the lead in the world's championship tournament.

After the spectacular victory Cochran found himself in a deadlock for the lead with Jay Bozeman, a fellow Californian. The ghostlike figure stalking up and down the hallway and rapping noisily on the door of the throne room was Johnny Layton, 10 times a world's champion, who by an easy 50 to 36 victory over Otto Reiselt in the afternoon had climbed into third place.

Title Westward Bound?

Despite Layton's late challenge and the possibility of the world champion Augie Kieckhefer retaining his crown by some sort of a miracle, the tournament depesters have about come to the conclusion the title is to go to California and will be carried to the Pacific slope either by Bozeman or Cochran.

Each Californian has lost but one game in five starts and the students of billiards who drape themselves around the rim of the tiny amphitheater at each session say that it isn't in the books that both will lose two games during the remainder of the tournament. That would have to happen before either Layton or Kieckhefer could pass them. Each has only four more games to play.

The success of Cochran and Bozeman has been a great shock to the old time billiard fans. They are about ready to rip their dope books into shreds and toss the pieces to the side of the road. Cochran was a 15 to 1 shot when the tournament opened, while the folks who play the odds on the difficult angle game quoted 20 and 25 to 1 against Bozeman.

Jumps Into Big Lead.

Cochran all but swamped Jackson last night. In the first seven innings he made 22 billiards, while Jackson could get but five. At the end of the tenth inning he was leading, 26 to 5.

About that time Jackson began playing a safety game. He saw to it that the ivories were left in the most difficult positions possible from which to make three cushion shots. Some of the sparkle was taken out of Cochran's game. He did not shatter any records, but it was easy for him to stroll along, make a billiard here and there and win in the 40th inning. Jackson had the long run of the game, a cluster of nine which came in the 32th inning, but even this rally failed to make the game interesting.

The score by innings:

COCHRAN — 2 1 5 3 6 3 4 0 2 2 0
3 0 4 1 1 1 1 0 4 2 0 1 1 1 —
50. High run, 6. Innings, 40.

High run, 9. Innings, 40.

Layton was in front of Reiselt throughout the game. He again found fault with the way the balls were rolling, and in the 15th inning halted the game and demanded that a new set of ivories be put into play.

The score by innings:

LAYTON — 2 0 2 3 3 2 1 2 0 2 1 1
0 0 1 1 0 0 1 4 2 0 2 2 2 0 0 5
0 0 2 0 0 0 0 0 2 1 5 4—50. High run, 8; innings, 37.

REISELT — 1 1 1 2 1 0 0 0 1 2 0
0 2 0 1 0 1 1 0 3 2 0 0 0 0 3
3 3 0 0 0 1 0 0 0 0 0—36. High run, 6; innings, 37.

Hall Is Mystery Man.

Allen Hall lost his sixth straight game to Arthur Thurnblad yesterday afternoon, 50 to 49, and became one of the great mysteries of the tournament. Hall has the second best average of the tournament. He has averaged almost a billiard an inning in 266 innings. Only Layton is leading him. Yet he hasn't been able to win.

When the 43d inning opened Hall had Thurnblad beaten by a score of 49 to 43. He had been playing a remarkable game and it didn't seem possible that Thurnblad could catch him.

Thurnblad did catch him. He made one startling shot after another in the 43d round until he had clicked off a cluster of seven and the game was over, Thurnblad winning, 50 to 49, in the most thrilling uphill fight of the tournament.

The score by innings:

1 1 0 0 2 1 3 0 0 0 1 0 1 0 3

ALL THIS TALK ABOUT LEGS IS BORING FONSECA

They're Only 33 Years Old and Still Good.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Manager Lew Fonseca, of the White Sox, has served notice on baseball commentators that he desires them to cease making bum cracks about his legs—the muscular condition of his legs, he means, not being sensitive about the shape of same.

Following the definite announcement that Boss Lew is to be the regular first baseman of the Sox the coming season, sundry slighting comments were made about his underpinning. These comments went back to the days when Fonseca had just signed up with the Sox, early in 1931. Lu Blue was going great guns on first at the time, so Fonseca was assigned to play second base. Then he was moved to the outfield, the reports going out that infielding was giving him misery in his legs.

It now appears that it wasn't legs that ailed Lew but that he was upset as the result of a collision with Eddie Morgan when Eddie and Lew were teammates at Cleveland.

Lew Wants to Prove It.

In a letter just received from Fonseca he asks that it be made clear to the fans that he is as sound of limb as ever he's been in his extensive career as a major league ballplayer. To emphasize his contention, he offers to put on a series of sprint races with certain gents he names—gents who have been doing very well in baseball without much mention being made to the condition of their legs.

From other sources it has become known that Fonseca is concentrating on his legs in his winter drills in California. Vice President Harry Grabiner, who was in California until last Dec. 1, says that Lew has been challenging all the mountains in central California and even before the turn of the new year was able to walk up all kinds of major league mountains without the aid of an alpenstock and with nary creak in ankle, knee, or pelvis.

Just a Boy of 33.

It further is pointed out that Fonseca has not reached the age where his legs should try to lag behind him. He is 33 years and six days old today. There are two other major league managers who play first base and both are older than Fonseca. Bill Terry of the New York Giants was born Oct. 30, 1898, and Charley Grimm has been on this earth since Aug. 25, 1899. Terry has been in organized baseball for 19 years, Grimm for 17, and Fonseca for 13 years.

Fonseca has been rejoicing about the fact that he would have a small but capable squad, but yesterday there was evidence of the usual loading up with rookies or at least persons with slight chance of making the grade. Carl Boone, a 27 year old free agent pitcher, and a college catcher named Wax were signed, according to the announcement made yesterday at the Sox headquarters here.

M'NAMARA, HILL WIN CLEVELAND 6 DAY BIKE RACE

Cleveland, O., Jan. 26.—(AP)—Reggie McNamara and Norman Hill, the American team, won Cleveland's first six day bicycle race tonight, withstanding a last lap challenge by Saveer Van Slambrouk and Freddie Zach, the Swiss pair, who were second. Points acquired in the sprints determined the outcome.

It was the 89th race in which McNamara has taken part. Charley Winter and Dave Lands, the German sprint stars, were third.

Nobriga, Hawaiian Hurler, to Play with Cardinals

HONOLULU, Jan. 26.—(AP)—Ned Nobriga, former University of Hawaii pitcher, said today he would accept a contract offered him by the St. Louis Cardinals, National league club, and expected to report March 1. Nobriga, 22 years old and six feet two inches tall, is high school athletic director of Hawaii island and since being graduated from the university has pitched in the Senior league here. He weighs 190 pounds.

Art Shires and Mrs. Shires Say Separation's Off

Arthur [The Great] Shires, former White Sox first baseman now with the Boston Braves, who recently announced his voluntary release from Mrs. Shires, has changed his mind, as has Mrs. Shires.

This was revealed yesterday at a reconciliation between the couple in the office of Emmet F. Byrne, Shires' attorney. Two days ago, Shires announced that he and his wife, the former Elizabeth Greenabaum, University of Wisconsin co-ed, had agreed to a mutual separation. That's out now, assert both of them. They will leave shortly for Art's home town of Italy, Tex., and will go from there to St. Petersburg, Fla.

NASHVILLE TEAM ENTERS GOLDEN GLOVES TOURNEY

It's South's First Bid for Tribune Ring Honors.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Nashville, Tenn., will send a team of amateur boxers to the Golden Gloves Tournament of Champions at the Chicago Stadium Feb. 27, 28, and March 1. The Nashville Golden Gloves tournament will be sponsored by the Nashville Evening Tennesseean.

Frank C. Waldrop, managing editor of the Evening Tennessean, is enthusiastic over the prospects of the amateur boxing tournaments in Nashville. The city has a great number of excellent amateur boxers and Waldrop believes a team will be chosen which will give the boys of the central states a race for championship honors.

First in South.

The inclusion of Nashville in the out of town sections marks the first time a Golden Gloves tournament has been held in the south. The addition of Nashville along with Indianapolis and Cleveland, which are appearing in the Tournament of Champions for the first time this year, should increase the caliber of the competition and from this field it is hoped a squad of boxers will be selected which will defeat the New York Golden Glovers in the sixth annual intercity fights at the Stadium on March 29.

It will be necessary to limit the out of town centers this year to 23. This number of championship teams means that 23 boys in each of the eight weights will come to the Tournament of Champions. The champions of the recent Catholic Youth tournament also will compete in the Tournament of Champions and the four Chicago sectionals will qualify eight boxers in each weight.

32 Fight in Each Division.

This will provide a total of 32 boxers in each weight, a perfect number for tournament elimination. If 32 compete in each weight, all winners in the Tournament of Champions will box three times. The semi-finals and finals of the tournament will be held March 8. All rounds will be two minutes.

The Novice Golden Gloves tournament is distinctly a Chicago tournament. While the tournament will be held in conjunction with the eliminations in Chicago's Open division, the novices will not fight against either the Chicago qualifiers in the Open division or against the champions from the out of town sections.

Novice Finals March 1.

It is the purpose of the tournament officials to qualify only one boxer in each weight in each of the four Chicago Novice sectionals. In other words when the Tournament of Champions opens there will be 32 novice boxers who will fight against each other during those three days. The finals of the Chicago Novice tournament will be held on March 1, the final night of the Tournament of Champions.

Plan National Crew Regatta at Los Angeles

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 26.—(AP)—Action was started here today to stage a national collegiate rowing championship regatta over the Olympic course in Long Beach early in June in an effort to fill the gap left by the cancellation of the Poughkeepsie meet. Information from reliable sources was that civic organizations of Los Angeles and Long Beach were considering underwriting such an event for $50,000.

Under the proposal five or six of the leading eastern crews would be guaranteed expenses for a western trip. The three western schools participating in rowing would complete the entry in the two day water carnival over the 2,000 meter course where California won its second Olympic title last summer.

Coast Schools Favorable.

The University of California at Los Angeles, dipping its oar into rowing for the first time next spring, would be the host, inasmuch as that institution has chosen the Olympic course as its home site. Spokesmen said California and Washington universities already have reacted favorably to the idea.

A telegram was sent to William Bingham, graduate manager of Harvard, today asking him to get the reaction of the eastern schools on the plan of staging the national championship in the west for the first time.

HARVARD IS DOUBTFUL.

Cambridge, Mass., Jan. 26.—(AP)—William J. Bingham, director of Harvard athletics, tonight said he would sound out eastern rowing colleges on th. Los Angeles proposal to stage a national championship regatta on the Olympic course at Long Beach.

He declined to make further comment, saying it was a confidential matter, but intimated that Harvard would be unwilling to cross the country to compete in such an event.

Rudolph Boosts Lead in Cue Match to 400 Points

New York, Jan. 26.—(AP)—Winning the seventh and eighth blocks today, Erwin Rudolph of Cleveland took a lead of nearly 400 points in his pocket billiard match with Andrew Ponzi of Philadelphia. The score was: Rudolph, 1,000; Ponzi, 619.

FIGHTING CHEF

Frank Crotty, a chef at Thompson's restaurant at Clark street and North avenue, will fight in The Tribune Golden Gloves tournament as a representative of the Belle Plaine Athletic club.

SHADE UNABLE TO REMEMBER 'RIOT'; GETS OFF

New York, Jan. 26.—[Special.]—Dave Shade, former contender for the middleweight boxing championship, and as recently as ten days ago, at the age of 36, able to stand off, for a time, nine policemen and three ambulance attendants, appeared in Morrisania court today in connection with the encounter. He received a suspended sentence.

He was charged with disorderly conduct, and he pleaded guilty. He had gone into a speakeasy, he said, on the afternoon of Jan. 18, and had a few drinks, and then been short changed. A fight started over that, and the next thing he remembered was when he woke up in the observation ward at Bellevue.

Among the things that he did not remember were a fight with one policeman and an ambulance attendant at 107th street and Jerome avenue, the Bronx; another in the High Bridge station with six heavyweight patrolmen; and yet a third, also in the station, with nine policemen and the three ambulance doctors. He lost all three decisions, but he did his best, considering that he had already been well beaten in the speakeasy.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 26.—(AP)—Ottawa, spurred by the play of Alex Connell, former Detroit goalie, came from behind tonight to tie Detroit 1 to 1, in a National league hockey game before 8,500.

Connell turned back Detroit in the first period, only Johnny Gallagher, Detroit defense man, beating him on an assist by George Hay and Larry Aurie. The Senators came back in the second period to tie the score Cooney Weiland counting on an assist by Hec Kilrea. Play was even for the remainder of the match. The overtime was slow.

CHET WYNNE.

Michigan State Seeks Wynne as Grid Coach

Lansing, Mich., Jan. 26.—[Special.]—It was reported on the Michigan State college campus today that Chet Wynne, football coach at the Alabama Polytechnic institute for the last three years, will succeed James Crowley as head coach at Michigan State.

Wynne, whose Alabama Poly eleven was unbeaten last fall, was here today being shown about the campus by Ralph H. Young, director of athletics. Young admitted Wynne is one of the candidates being considered to succeed Crowley, who resigned to go to Fordham. Young also said Wynne would be interviewed by members of the state athletic board of control.

Meets Faculty Members.

A conference with President Robert S. Shaw preceded the athletic board interview. Wynne was being introduced to faculty members and made acquainted with the institution's athletic plant.

Wynne, it was pointed out, would be a logical choice for State, as he would continue the Notre Dame system inaugurated by Crowley. Wynne coached at Creighton university, Omaha, Neb., before going to Auburn, where his contract expires in June.

Brings Auburn Back.

At Creighton he developed consistent winners, one of his teams defeating State while Director Young was coach. When he went to Auburn, Alabama Poly had sunk to the depths athletically. Wynne promptly began developing a team which in the last year whipped Duke, Florida, Georgia, Georgia Tech, and Tulane. Hitchcock, one of his half backs, was considered the best in the country.

Wynne said he must return south tonight or tomorrow, as spring practice starts at Auburn Monday.

Another Income Tax Lien Filed Against Hornsby

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 26.—[Special.]—Louis Becker, collector of internal revenue here, today filed a fourth lien of $18,141 for federal income taxes against Rogers Hornsby, former Chicago Cub manager who will play with the St. Louis Cardinals this year. The government alleges the amount was not shown in Hornsby's income tax for 1930. The total of the four liens, including interest and penalty fees, is $39,424.

New York, Jan. 26.—(AP)—Chicago's Blackhawks defeated the New York Rangers, 3 to 1, tonight, throwing the Rangers into a three-way tie with Detroit and Boston for first place in the American division of the National Hockey league.

For two periods play was methodical and spiritless but the third period developed some tense competition. With Chicago leading 1 to 0 on Pudge Mackenzie's goal in the first period, the Rangers cut loose in the final period in an attempt to achieve a deadlock and were outscored, 2 to 1.

Lolo Couture added a second goal before Ossie Osmundson finally drove in a protested counter past Goalie Chuck Gardner. Then, with Taffy Abel in the penalty box, Johnny Gottselig broke away from a final Ranger rush and scored a third Blackhawk goal unassisted.

Third Line Scores.

The game started in a rather deliberate fashion with the teams showing great respect for each other. Couture did a lot of puck carrying for the Hawks and a couple of Cook-Boucher forays gave evidence of working, but the only shots in the early minutes were long ones.

Murdoch led the first effective raid but was stopped by a crowd of Blackhawks in front of the net. A minute later a pass from Somers gave Dillon a wide open shot, but Gardner rushed out and spilled him as he tried to make a feint before shooting.

The third lines put on an ineffectual exhibition for a while, then broke loose with a pair of fine plays and a Chicago goal. Pettinger bounced a two foot shot off a goal post and Keeling missed the rebound. On the return play, a three man pass and McFadyen's feint lured Aitkenhead out of place and Mackenzie snapped a short backhand shot into the open net in 18:08.

Hawks Are Booed.

The start of the second period brought the slowest hockey seen here in weeks. Chicago smothered the Ranger attacks and did its shooting from mid-ice. A change of forwards brought more speed.

The Cook-Boucher line attacked and Bunny Cook was wide with a hurried backhander after Gardiner had been lured out. The Hawks were booed as they shot the puck down the rink several times and the period ended without a score.

The Ranger third line began the third period with a strenuous rush, and there was a bit of roughing as Jenkins and McFadyen smashed their way back.

Couture and Thompson broke from a strong Ranger raid just after the star lines appeared and scored on a rather surprising play. Couture took the puck well down, passed back to Thompson, and slipped past the Ranger defense to take a return pass and beat Aitkenhead, giving the Chicagoans a 2 to 0 lead.

Hawks Are Penalized.

A few minutes later the Rangers scored on a four man rush. Bill Cook sent up a long pass and Osmundson made the goal on a headlong dive through the Chicago defenders. Gardner protested futilely that the puck had bounced in off Osmundson's chest.

The Rangers kept four forwards on the ice, and Johnson occasionally went down with them. Abel was banished for tripping Siebert, and the Rangers sent in five forwards. Gottselig then snatched the puck out of a throng, outskated his pursuers, and scored easily in 18:16.

SPRINGTIME IN WINTER PUZZLES GEORGIA HUNTERS

Dogs Flush Quail in Drill for Trials.

BY BOB BECKER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Radium Springs, Albany, Ga., Jan. 26.—The cardinals are whistling at the pointers galloping through the cover for quail; the frogs are croaking a spring chorus from the ponds; bluebirds are broadcasting their plaintive notes, and even the jonquils have opened to make the month of January down here look as if it were sitting right in the lap of spring.

While the weather man has been giving Chicagoland a mild winter with above normal temperatures, down here the confusion is even worse. It is spring here in the heart of winter and no wonder that quail shooters look twice at the calendar to make sure it really is the hunting season.

Dogs Practice.

Quail are plentiful. The boys are finding more coveys in a day than they averaged last season, due to an ideal spring for nesting. But not all of the setters and pointers romping across the meadows, through the peanut fields and in the pine woods are doing their stuff solely for upland hunters.

With the southern amateur field trials scheduled to start Feb. 20 some of the owners are working their dogs to put the finishing touches on them before they go into competition. And if there is any one bird dog trial which requires that an entry know how to handle plenty of birds, it is this southern trial. Last year on one day the pointers and setters competing for high honors found more than 40 coveys.

Rain Spoils Hunt.

We were scheduled to follow a brace of good bird dogs on a hunt today but a heavy rain upset our plans. Circulating around with some of the Georgia sportsmen we found all of them keyed for the forthcoming trials which will bring together some of the best dogs in the country.

Two adjoining estates owned by William G. Potter, president of the New York Guaranty Trust Company of New York, and Judge R. W. Bingham, owner of a Louisville newspaper, will provide the quail country for the dogs. Approximately 35,000 acres of protected hunting land are available in these two preserves, a good example of why the south can usually out bid the north for field trials.

And That Barbecue.

The situation is the same in Tennessee, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama. All have ideal field trial grounds, large in acreage and over run with quail. Any northern sportsman will find these southern trials a great experience. Many fast dogs, good horses to ride, expert judging, an abundance of game and picturesque southern barbecue at noon are just a few of the attractions which make the event a hit with the northern visitors.

DE PAUL RESUMES DRILL TODAY FOR NORTH CENTRAL

Following a 17 day layoff for scholastic examinations, the De Paul university basketball team will resume training today. It plays North Central college at Naperville Monday night. De Paul is undefeated and will be seeking its eighth consecutive victory.

Triumphs have been gained over Beloit, which defeated the University of Chicago, and Western State of Kalamazoo, which holds two decisions over Michigan, now tied for second place in the Western conference.

Coach Kelly plans to use two sophomores in his starting lineup against North Central. Both will appear at forwards. They are Francis Linskey and Bob Sand.

HORSE STYMIES WOOD'S MACHINE; TRIP IS HALTED

Dallas, Tex., Jan. 26.—[Special.]—Craig Wood, the giant professional of Deal, N. J., who has led the parade of money winners in this winter's golf campaign almost without interruption, was halted by a new kind of stymie today—a horse.

En route to Miami, Fla., Wood was driving between Phoenix, Ariz., and El Paso, when the horse suddenly appeared from nowhere and Wood's car struck it. Old Dobbin went into space, while Wood's car left the road but remain upright. He paused here today to have the car repaired.

Century of Progress Five Plays Mandels Tonight

The Century of Progress basketball team will play Mandel Brothers at White City tonight. In another game Carson Pirie Scott & Co. will play Walter Shaeffler's Englewoods. A third game brings together Schuessler's A. C. and the Santa Maria quintet.

George Shroebree vs. Jack O'Brien [4].
Art Mitchell vs. Little Pal [4].
George Jonasen vs. Eddie Jacobs [wrestling].
Rudy Kay vs. Al Wozniea [wrestling].

Harry Dublinsky, west side boxer, who is listed by the N. B. A. as the third best lightweight in Illinois, signed yesterday for two matches, one against Eddie Cool at Philadelphia Monday and the other against Tony Falco at Pittsburgh on Feb. 6. He will leave for Philadelphia tomorrow. Dublinsky has indicated in three bouts this year that he is after Tony Canzoneri's title. On Jan. 2 he decisively defeated Prince Saunders at the Cicero stadium. Then he caused something of an upset when he stopped Frank Bojarski, Pittsburgh southpaw. In his latest victory he beat Lou Terry at St. Louis Tuesday.

Frankie O'Brien is punching hard in boxing drills at Kid Howard's gymnasium for his 10 round bout with Kid Leonard at White City Monday. After Mitz Minikel, Milwaukee heavyweight, knocked down Rowe Zehms yesterday O'Brien sparred with Minikel, whom he dropped with a left to the chin. Mickey Patrick, East Chicago, Ind., light heavyweight, and Willie Oster followed Minikel, going two rounds each with Frankie. Gus De Salvo, Milwaukee welterweight, replaces Bill Hall against Dick Sisk in a supporting contest on the card.

Johnny Pena, New York featherweight, and Jackie Sharkey of Minneapolis, Minn., will sign today for a 10 round bout at the Washington Boulevard auditorium on Feb. 13. Pena has started workouts at a loop gymnasium. Sharkey will arrive Sunday to begin preparations.

The bout will head Frankie Harmon's second show, the first being scheduled for Feb. 6 when Varias Milling and Paul Dazzo meet in the 10 round windup. Milling returned yesterday from Detroit, where he won a bout Tuesday.

Johnny Coulon will present a professional card at the Rainbo Fronton, Clark street and Lawrence avenue, tonight with Einar Hedquist meeting Bill Hall in the six round main event. Mickey O'Shea will seek his fourth straight victory in a four rounder against Jackie Parker. A five round bout, two four rounders and two wrestling exhibitions will complete the bill.

Max Baer, Livermore, Cal., heavyweight, will go on an exhibition tour, starting March 1 at Portland, Ore., in preparation for his contest with Max Schmeling in June. The tour is to wind up in April when Baer will go into rigid training. Jack Dempsey, promoter of the bout, and Joe Jacobs, manager of Schmeling, are expected to arrive Sunday to confer with C. C. Fitzmorris, who will represent George Getz, chairman of A Century of Progress sports committee, relative to making Chicago the site for the match. Getz is in Florida.

Thornton at Kankakee, 7:30 p. m.

Leadership in both weight divisions of the Suburban and Catholic High School Basketball leagues will be at stake tonight as the teams start the second half of their schedules.

In the Suburban league Morton and Evanston will clash to break a tie for the lead in the lightweight division. Both teams are undefeated. Oak Park's hold on first place in the heavyweight class will be threatened when it meets New Trier on its own court. Oak Park has won four games while New Trier has won three and lost one.

Two games in the Catholic league hold the spotlight because of their bearing on the standings.

The west section lightweight division will have an undisputed leader after tonight's game between St. Mel and St. Philip. St. Mel has won three and St. Philip two games. Neither team has been beaten. Another west sectional leadership will be at stake when St. Ignatius and St. Patrick heavies take the floor. They are tied with two triumphs each.

In the only league basketball game yesterday Morgan Park lightweights scored an easy 41 to 18 victory over Calumet. Hall sank six baskets for the winners. Lineup:

Greens 'Farm' for Golfers to Carry On

Central states golfers who are particular about the condition of their favorite courses received a belated Christmas gift yesterday with the announcement that the Midwest turf garden on the Everett, Ill., estate of A. D. Lasker, where a number of important problems in greenkeeping and general maintenance have been solved in the last few years, will continue in operation for 1933, at least.

This was revealed at a special meeting yesterday of the Midwest Greenkeepers' association, which was notified by the United States Golf association of the plan to keep the Midwest garden going for another year. Regret was universal at the annual greens section meeting at Everett last fall when the U. S. G. A. announced its intention of abandoning the project because of economic difficulties.

Keepers Are Pleased.

Chicago greenkeepers yesterday expressed their satisfaction that the work of the little outdoor laboratory at Everett will be allowed to continue, for it has been a constant source of information to the majority of them.

Coincident with the continuance of the Midwest turf garden was the announcement that C. E. Tregillus, superintendent of the Lasker estate and secretary of the Midwest Greenkeepers association, had been appointed to serve on the advisory committee of the greens section of the U. S. G. A. The midwest group's meeting, presided over by Ralph N. Johnson of Medinah, president, was taken up largely with plans for the seventh annual convention and educational conference of the National Association of Greenkeepers of America, which will open at the Sherman hotel Sunday and continue through Friday in connection with the golf show.

Many Addresses Planned.

During the convention addresses will be made by Ganson Depew and Dr. John Monteith Jr. of the U. S. G. A. greens section; Dr. C. M. Harrison of the University of Chicago; John McGregor of Chicago Golf, president of the national association; Ralph Johnson of Medinah; Ed Dearie of Ridgemoor; D. W. Danley of Glen Oak; and C. W. Johnson of Sunset Ridge. Harry E. Radix, president of the Chicago District Golf association, will be the principal speaker at the annual banquet Thursday night.

Curb Passes and You Will Slow Up Football—Kipke

Ann Arbor, Mich., Jan. 26.—[Special.]—The suggestion that changes should be made in football rules which would curb forward passing, brought a quick answer today from Harry G. Kipke, coach of the Michigan teams that have relied so heavily on the overhead weapon. Kipke is a member of the coaches' committee in which the suggestion was made.

"The plan to place a 15 yard rather than a five yard penalty on a team which has made a second incomplete pass will slow up the game," was Kipke's comment.

"Stronger defenses are gradually cutting down the effectiveness of the running attack. What is left then, but the pass or the threat of a pass to keep the opposition guessing? Passing has been effective here at Michigan, but it also has been a big factor in many major games; for example, Notre Dame's games with Army, Southern California, and Northwestern, and also the Rose Bowl game."

Kipke declared he favored a moratorium on rule changes for three or five or as many years as desirable, as long as the game is interesting.

VIRGIL LICHT, GOPHER GUARD, IS REINSTATED

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 26.—[Special.]—Virgil Licht, star guard of the University of Minnesota basketball team, who was dismissed last week by Coach Dave McMillan on the charge that he had broken training regulations, was reinstated today.

Licht's return to the Gopher quintet was attributed to the pleas of his teammates. Licht and Capt. Brad Robinson of the team, who is a fellow townsman of Licht's from Baraboo, Wis., visited McMillan at his home today and said that the rest of the team desired the veteran's reinstatement. Licht made an apology to McMillan and appeared at the practice session to make a bid for his old job.

HANFORD RIDES THREE WINNERS AT HIALEAH PARK

Widener's Finite Takes Lake City Purse.

Miami, Fla., Jan. 26.—[Special.]—Jockey Buddy Hanford and Trainer Hirsch Jacobs scored a triple at Hialeah Park here today. Hanford winning with Miss Corinne, Bank Shot and Wishing Star. The two last named were saddled by Jacobs who made it three in a row for himself by sending out Recede in the nightcap.

George D. Widener's Finite, now eight, and a gelded son of the Fina and Last Straw, was the winner of the featured Lake City purse. Bobby Laishman brought the old fellow, which once was one of the most formidable sprinters in training, home first in a field of six. Ormesby was second, beaten a length but five lengths before Siskin which was just up to land the show.

The field was completed by Hey There, Protractor and Cornelia Clara, which finished as named, Finite was the favorite, returning $5.10 for $2.00 and clicked off the six furlongs in 1:12 4-5. He had up 111 pounds, top weight of the field and also carried by Siskin.

Siskin delayed the start somewhat and was placed on the outside because of his actions. When the barrier rose he was caught flatfooted and did not get away.

Fronton and Krone Clash Over Lease

Doc Krone, Chicago wrestling promoter, will have no more of the Rainbo Fronton as a site for his shows, despite the efforts of officials of that structure to force him back there. Krone made that plain last night as he reviewed the details of his recent differences with the Fronton.

Krone stated that his next show will be held at the 202d Coast Artillery armory, Broadway and Thorndale avenue, on Monday night, with Joe Stecher and George Zaharias in the main event, notwithstanding the efforts of receivers for the Fronton last night to win him back. Those efforts, Krone charges, also carry threats that Fronton officials will attempt to prevent his staging the show Monday.

Krone Is Surprised.

Krone signed a lease with the Fronton last fall, giving him exclusive rights to the building for wrestling shows. Last night Krone said the Fronton had broken its "exclusive" lease with him by renting its arena to Joe Molitor for a show last Wednesday. Krone sought a new arena for his shows and found it at the Broadway armory.

Last night Krone produced a four month contract to present mat programs at the armory, signed by Capt. Kirby M. Quinn, custodian of the armory. Krone said he would proceed with his show Monday despite the threats of Fronton officials.

Wrestling Is Business.

"I was told by one of the Fronton receivers that if they had to bring pressure to bear upon the governor of this state they would see that the show at the Broadway armory does not go on. I did not cause the Fronton people any trouble when they violated our contract, but considered that the lease was automatically canceled. I am in the wrestling game as a business, and, as such, was forced to hunt another stand," he said.

Farrell, Marks Lead Field for U. S. Skate Title

Oconomowoc, Wis., Jan. 26.—[Special.]—With only one day remaining before the men's and women's national championships Saturday and Sunday speculation is rife regarding the chances of various stars.

In the men's division the race for the championships appears fairly even, although James Webster of St. Paul has trained primarily for the defense of his championship and will be hard to beat. Two Chicagoans, one the veteran, Oneil Farrell, member of two Olympic teams, and Wilbur Marks, a youngster who has graduated into the senior class this year, will be his chief opponents. Marks, a Senn High school boy, won the national championships as a junior. Last year he won the intermediate championships. Marks has been at Oconomowoc skating outdoors for two weeks.

More than two hundred skaters have entered the various events and most of them are now at Oconomowoc. Special trains will run over the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad from Chicago tomorrow, Saturday, and Sunday.

Loyola Plays Mexico City Five Tonight

Mexican and American basketball will stand comparison in Chicago tonight for the first time when the Fal team of Mexico City meets Loyola university at the Loyola gym. The game will start at 8:15 o'clock.

The visitors, amateur champions of Mexico, are on an international tour, playing 32 games in the United States with leading college, university and amateur teams. So far they have won 4 out of 12 games.

What the Mexico City players lack in height is more than made up by their speed, according to Coach Len Sachs of Loyola, who watched them work out yesterday. Borja, 6 foot 2 inch center, is the tallest man on the squad. The rest of the team averages 5 feet 8 inches. Loyola's starting lineup averages six feet.

Your HAIR can be Healthy with the 60-Second Vitalis Workout

50 SECONDS TO RUB. Massage Vitalis into your scalp—hard. Feel that exhilarating tingle? That tells you Vitalis is waking up your scalp—and your hair!

10 SECONDS TO BRUSH. Comb your hair. Brush it—briskly. Notice that lustre! No "patent-leather" look, however. And your hair will "stay put" all day.

ASK YOUR BARBER

No one can tell better than your barber about the condition of your hair. Don't ignore expert advice. When he says "Vitalis?" you'd better say "Yes!"

A man couldn't ask for anything better than Vitalis. It's a man's hair preparation!

Take 60 seconds, just twice a week, to massage Vitalis into your scalp. It will be vibrantly a-tingle.

Your scalp loses the tight dryness which threatens your hair. And your hair will be free from loose dandruff, forerunner of thinning hair.

Necessary oils are restored to hair as well as scalp. And your hair, when thoroughly brushed, looks rich and

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Domestic stocks of wheat are disappearing at a more rapid rate than anticipated, despite the limited exports, according to an analysis of the situation as of Jan. 1 made by Nat C. Murray, the Clement, Curtis & Co. statistician.

"There is apparently an unaccountable increase in food consumption as compared with last year, or feeding of wheat to live stock is much in excess of the amounts given by my correspondents," said Mr. Murray. "Total stocks in all positions on Jan. 1 as indicated by latest returns, including the supply in the large mills which were not included in my previous estimates, show an aggregate of 617,000,000 bu, compared with 673,000,000 bu on a like basis last year.

Estimate of Requirements.

"An official estimate that domestic requirements for the United States for the 1932-'33 season would be 660,000,000 bu, compared with 729,000,000 bu in 1931-'32, may prove to be too small by 40,000,000 bu. Baring unexpected developments the carryover on June 30, 1933, may be 15,000,000 to possibly 40,000,000 bu less than was on hand at the close of the previous crop year," he said. "Much will depend on whether the government has overestimated the spring wheat crop, as the figures are commencing to suggest."

He regards it as possible a large acreage of wheat both in the northwest and southwest was not harvested for grain owing to low prices, and this may be partly responsible for the apparent discrepancy which exists between trade figures and the official returns on the 1932 yield.

More Feeding to Live Stock.

A factor that has tended to increase feeding of wheat to live stock, he says, is the prolonged drought in the southwest. In the latter section it has been the practice to pasture cattle in the wheat fields. This season growth was limited over a wide area and farmers probably have been forced to supplement supplies of rough feed with a grain ration. This is especially true in the western half of Kansas.

While there was scattered commission house buying of wheat at the start yesterday, which lifted prices fractionally to the best figures since Jan. 13, the aggregate trade was not large, and any tendency to advance was quickly checked by selling which some operators regarded as hedging operations. The finish was about the bottom, with net losses of ¼@⅝c, with May at 48c; July, 48@48⅛c, and September, 43⅝c. Liverpool finished ⅛@⅝c higher, with a better demand for cash wheat a factor, while Winnipeg was ⅝@⅞c lower in Canadian funds. Buenos Aires lost ¼@½c for the day. Reports of dust storms from western Kansas and the Texas panhandle failed to stimulate any buying of wheat futures of consequence.

U. S. Corn at Discount.

American corn continues to be quoted at a discount under the Argentine, Danubian and South African varieties in Europe, but no sales could be confirmed yesterday. An increase in country offerings to arrive offset a better shipping demand and futures closed ¼@⅝c lower. May finished at 26⅝c; July, 28⅝c, and September, 29¼c.

Trade interest in oats was limited, with early sales by cash interests absorbed by scattered commission houses, and the finish was ⅛c lower at 17⅛c for May. There was no trading in July. Barley was up ¼c at 28c for May. Rye was off ⅝@½c with wheat, with the May finishing at 34¼c, and July at 34⅛c.

RESERVE BANKS REDUCE SALES OF U. S. BONDS

Report Holdings Cut Only $16,000,000.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 26.—Federal reserve banks cut their selling of government securities last week to less than half the rate which they had maintained for the previous two weeks, the federal reserve board announced today.

The reserve system sold $15,000,000 of governments last week, reducing their total holdings to $1,763,000,000. All the banks except the one at Dallas, Tex., participated in the selling. In the preceding week, the banks sold $34,000,000 of governments and the week before $39,000,000.

Member Balances Drop.

Battered by the selling of the reserve banks, by the exportation of $10,000,000 of monetary gold and by the outward flow of $9,000,000 into circulation, the reserve balances of the member banks dropped for the second consecutive week to a total of $2,512,000,000.

The loss of $10,000,000 in gold last week was the first that the American gold stock has sustained since the gold run of last summer ended on June 15. Since that time, $657,000,000 of gold had flowed back to this country before the loss of last week broke the chain of importations. Despite last week's loss America still holds $4,556,000,000 of gold.

Reserve Guided by Gold Flow.

Knowing that gold was being shipped abroad and that money was moving from the banks into circulation, the reserve banks deliberately trimmed down the volume of their selling, it was said. When they embarked upon the policy of selling three weeks ago, the reserve banks were depending upon the influx of gold and the return of money from circulation to hold up the excess reserves of the member banks.

If the movements of last week continue, it is possible that the reserve banks may abandon temporarily their policy of selling and should the excess reserves be reduced heavily by the outward flow of gold and money, the banks may even begin buying again, it was said.

Maintaining of large excess reserves is considered vital by the reserve banks. It is from these reserves that funds will be drawn for commercial loans and investments when credit conditions thaw out, and nothing will be done to seriously impair them.

MONEY CIRCULATION UP

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 26.—A further unseasonable advance of $9,000,000 in the volume of money in circulation occurred this week, following a rise of $13,000,000 last week, the report of the Federal Reserve system, covering the week ended on Wednesday, showed today. In the face of this rise in circulation at a time when money is ordinarily flowing swiftly back to the bank, the reserve system allowed a smaller amount of its holdings of United States government securities to mature without replacement than it had in the two preceding weeks.

The weekly report showed evidences of a minor tightening in the position of the member banks, due to withdrawals of deposits in some sections of the country in connection with recent bank failures.

Member bank borrowings from the reserve banks, which have been falling steadily for months, rose $16,030,000 in the week and member bank reserve balances, which recently rose to record high figures, declined $32,000,000 on top of a fall of $29,000,000 a week ago.

Reserves deposited by the reporting banks with the Federal Reserve bank were down $71,000,000 in the week, while demand deposits rose $26,000,000 and time deposits fell $43,000,000. The excess of reserves over reserve requirements amounted to $239,000,000, against $312,000,000 last week and $356,000,000 two weeks ago.

Overall Factory Adds 225 Workers at Gadsden, Ala.

Gadsden, Ala., Jan. 26.—(AP)—Orders sufficient to guarantee full time operation until June were announced today by P. R. Labuzan, president of the United Overall company. He said 300 employés were placed on the pay roll today. The plant has been operating two to three days a week with 75 employés for some time.

National Steel's Net Profit for 1932 Called $1,660,000

New York, Jan. 26.—National Steel company's net profit for 1932, Wall street bears, approximated $1,660,000, or slightly in excess of last year's dividend disbursements of 75 cents a share on the capital stock.

Capital Dole Another Plan for Recovery

This is the fifth of a series of ten articles reviewing the attitudes toward the solution of the depression held by business leaders, financiers, and economists in the United States today.

BY REUBEN D. CAHN.

Col. Malcolm C. Rorty, formerly an executive of the American Telephone company and latterly vice president of the International Telephone and Telegraph company, has a plan to bring back prosperity by paying a dole to those who spend capital now. He would have the country buy back its prosperity.

The scheme is based upon inducing private builders to build now by giving them a reward for doing so, but leaving it to them to find funds for financing their operations.

The plan is quite fantastic, and would not be mentioned here except for the fact that it is being given careful consideration in some quarters. One of these days it may be given the kind of a congressional tryout that was accorded "sixteen to one" early this week.

How the Scheme Works.

The plan assumes that what is needed is something that will increase expenditures for capital purposes. To bring that about funds raised in a special way would be paid to those who spend money now for construction purposes. Originally Col. Rorty proposed that the dole fund be raised by a general sales tax, at a rate that would produce a sizable amount in a year, say a half billion dollars. Latterly it has been suggested that the money be obtained by a bond issue.

Each year's dole to builders fund would be apportioned on a monthly basis. During April, for example, the government would announce that fifty million dollars would be given away to those who would immediately start to build houses, factories, office buildings, and the like. Any one contemplating the expenditure of money for capital purposes would file with the government a bid for a portion of the federal bonus, stating the percentage they would require to proceed with a construction project now.

Lowest Bidder Gets Bonus.

Those offering to spend their own money for the smallest bonus percentage would win a portion of the national bounty. Payment would be paid upon completion of a building, provided the construction was started by a certain date and completed by a certain date. The competition of firms for a portion of the bonus would stimulate building construction and other capital spending, and thus prosperity would be brought or bought about.

"The present depression," says Col. Rorty, "appears to be in process of demonstrating that a critical point may be passed in the decline of business activities below which opportunities for enterprise, in effect, almost cease to exist, and ease of credit fails to bring its normal prompt response in renewed activities. If the existing efforts at stimulation fail of adequate effect, as it now begins to appear that they may, the surest counsel of defeat will be for the adoption of makeshift or half way measures and the truest caution will lie in an adequate boldness."

Foresees Government Profit.

He even argues that the government would be justified in going into his plan from a profit standpoint. "There can be no balancing of the budget if business continues a downward trend; whereas any successful stimulation of business at moderate cost to the government should very promptly show a net profit through increasing tax returns."

"Furthermore," says Col. Rorty, "if there is not a prompt adoption of some positive plan the budget will very probably be disrupted in toto through raids on the treasury for bonuses, doles, and heavy progams of public works. Some substantial sums very certainly will be disbursed; the only real problem is to direct the expenditures into the most effective channels."

KEESHIN RENEWS FIGHT TO SECURE TRUCK CONTROL

J. L. Keeshin, president of Keeshin Motor Express Co., Ltd., stated yesterday that his company has filed an appeal with the Illinois commerce commission against its action in denying the request of Keeshin Motor and Interstate Trucking for certificates of convenience and necessity to operate as common carriers.

"The railroads do not want regulation of the trucks; they want strangulation," Mr. Keeshin asserted.

"We still want to conform with public sentiment by placing ourselves under state control," he continued. "We shall continue our efforts to secure certificates of convenience, but in the meantime we shall continue to operate as contract carriers."

Surgical Firm to Build Big Chicago Plant

BY AL CHASE.

One of the world's largest manufacturers of surgical dressings, Johnson & Johnson, of New Brunswick, N. J., is to erect a big manufacturing plant in Chicago which will involve a total expenditure in land, buildings and equipment of well over three quarters of a million dollars. For several months the concern's representatives have been looking for a site and it is expected that a final decision will be announced shortly.

The latest location under consideration is at the intersection of McCormick boulevard and Oakton streets, in Niles Center, not far from the Petrolager Laboratories, Inc. A site in the Central Manufacturing district also is under consideration. For a time industrial property in Bellwood was considered.

Employ Several Hundred.

The new midwestern plant will be the company's only major manufacturing unit in the United States outside of the big establishment in New Jersey and a smaller subsidiary at Chicopee Falls, Mass. It will serve the entire midwest as well as the far west, according to present plans. Several hundred men and women will be given employment.

The board of directors of Johnson & Johnson have approved the plan for a big plant in the Chicago area but have not yet O. K'd a site. The building, it is expected will cost half a million dollars, and the intricate machinery which turns out surgical dressings that are not touched by hand, will represent probably $300,000 more. The cost of the site, of course, has not yet been determined.

Several Foreign Units.

The company's capital stock is made up of $1,600,000 8 per cent cumulative preferred and $16,500,000 of common stock, all of which is closely held.

REPUBLIC STEEL STARTS WORK ON $1,000,000 ORDER

Youngstown, O., Jan. 26.—(AP)—Republic Steel corporation today began work on a $1,000,000 order of 14,000 tons of electrically welded eight inch pipe for the Phillips Petroleum corporation for a 210 mile crude oil pipe line from Oklahoma City to one of its refineries.

The order will require capacity operation of one of Republic's three electric weld mills for a month.

LOUIS YAGER ELECTED PRESIDENT OF CHICAGO UNDERWRITERS' BOARD

Louis E. Yager was elected president of the Chicago Board of Underwriters at the annual meeting of the organization, held yesterday. Mr. Yager, who is connected with the general insurance agency firm of L. E. Yager & Co., with offices in the Insurance exchange, has been vice president for the last two years.

The board has been in existence for 84 years, operating under a perpetual charter granted by special act of the state legislature in 1861. The organization, which has over 5,000 members, operates the fire insurance patrols, which protect all forms of property against damage by fire, water, and smoke while a fire is in progress.

Other officers elected include: Vice president, Charles Buresh of Fred S. James & Co.; treasurer, Robert M. Magill of Wiley, Magill & Co. New members of the executive committee are: P. B. Hosmer of Hosmer & Co.; M. C. Aleshire of Parker, Aleshire & Co., and J. S. Goodwin of the London Assurance.

Jay S. Glidden, who has been associate manager of the board, was elected manager, succeeding Ernest Palmer.

OVERSUBSCRIBE U. S. BONDS 31 TIMES; MILLS ASSAILS PADDED BIDS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 26.—Secretary of the Treasury Ogden L. Mills tonight announced that the $250,000,000 issue of 2½ per cent treasury notes maturing Feb. 1, 1938, had been oversubscribed 31 times, total subscriptions aggregating more than 7 billions, 800 millions.

Of these subscriptions, 123 millions represent exchange subscriptions, in payment for which treasury certificates of indebtedness maturing Feb. 1 were tendered. Such exchange subscriptions were allotted 62 per cent.

Because the huge oversubscription, Secretary Mills declared that the treasury may change its method of floating issues to prevent padding of subscriptions by prospective buyers.

"The great volume of subscriptions is due in large measure to the fact that many subscribers are deliberately applying for amounts far in excess of their requirements, anticipating that under the treasury's percentage allotment they will receive a reduced amount approximating their actual needs," Secretary Mills explained.

"This practice of padding has steadily increased until it has now reached such proportions that the department must consider measures to deal with it in the interest of both subscribers and the treasury," he declared.

URGES IMPORTED GOODS BE TAXED ON GOLD BASIS

An appeal for emergency legislation which will stop the dumping of products in Illinois and other middle western states from foreign countries which are off the gold standard and whose currency has depreciated as much as 50 per cent in some cases was made yesterday in a statement sent by the Illinois Manufacturers' association to the house ways and means committee at Washington.

The statement calls attention to the widespread unemployment in Illinois which it says is being aggravated by the importation of foreign goods at prices with which domestic manufacturers are unable to compete. Emergency legislation to counteract the influence of depreciated currency, it is stated, will restore the tariff balance as it existed previous to the departure of these countries from the gold standard.

Attention is called to the bill offered by Congressman Hill, now before the ways and means committee, which provides that if there is depreciation of 5 per cent or more in the currency of a foreign country below the standard valuation of such currency there shall be levied upon articles imported from such country a compensating tax equal to the amount of the currency depreciation.

SOME RAILWAYS' EARNINGS BETTER FOR DECEMBER

New York, Jan. 26.—(AP)—Improvement in December, 1932, net operating income over the same month in 1931 was reported today by a few railroads.

Reporting roads included the following:

	1932.	1931.
Pennsylvania	$1,768,768	$2,265,161
New Haven	943,363	1,469,370
Lackawanna	435,104	543,363
Missouri Pacific	252,664	620,643
Boston & Maine	700,909	732,230
Texas & Pacific	307,548	448,291
Maine Central	146,877	55,230
Delaware & Hudson	30,933	180,644
St. Louis Southwest	*12,483	300,978
Central of New Jersey	133,515	1,458,168

Fifteen of the first twenty reporting carriers had larger net railway operating income than in December, 1931. Total net railway operating income of the twenty roads was about $11,737,000, compared with $11,206,000 a year ago.

Sends 5 Calves to Mart; All He Gets Is $1.98 Freight Bill

McGregor, Ia., Jan. 26.—[Special.]—August Werger, a farmer here, shipped five calves to Chicago. Instead of receiving a check for the veal he received a bill for $1.98. The cost of freight, feed, and commission amounted to more than the veal brought.

George A. Eddy Is Elected Head of Goss Press Co.

George A. Eddy has been elected chairman of the Goss Printing Press company, according to an announcement by that company yesterday. Martin W. Brueshaber, who started with the company 38 years ago as an apprentice machinist, has been made president.

Fair Visitors' Reservations 25% of Rooms

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Bookings at Chicago loop hotels by convention delegates who will visit the city during the World's Fair have already reached 25 per cent of the available capacity, J. K. Blatchford, secretary of the Chicago Hotel association, disclosed yesterday.

Bookings are being made daily, and it is expected that reservations will show increase substantially in the next few weeks.

There is no danger, however, that any visitors to the city during the fair will be unable to get hotel accommodations, according to Mr. Blatchford.

The Cousins Are Coming.

Including hotels, apartment hotels, boarding houses and small rooming houses, the city can easily provide accommodations for half a million visitors, he said. This does not include the visitors such as cousins, uncles, aunts and in-laws who will look up their relatives in the city. The latter class, of which great numbers are expected, will be provided for with cots, floor beds and davenports if they are lucky. If not, they can easily find refuge in any of the thousands of moderate priced rooming houses in the city.

To substantiate his assertion that there will be no shortage of rooms Mr. Blatchford pointed out that the number of hotel rooms and suites available for rent in Chicago has reached the huge total of 83,000. In 1833, a hundred years ago, there was only one public inn in Chicago, he said. At the time of the 1893 fair Chicago boasted 50 hotels.

Rooms in Each Section.

In the loop and near north side area there are now 30,000 hotel rooms and apartments. On the far north and northwest side there are 16,000 rooms, and on the south side 13,000 rooms.

Hotel owners believe that the fair business will bring at least $75,000,000 in revenue from the delegates to 1,500 conventions which will meet here this year. This figure is based on the estimated attendance of 1,500,000 to 2,000,000 of convention delegates made by the Chicago Association of Commerce. Each delegate is expected to spend $50 on a three day visit.

LOREE ASSERTS HE WON'T HEAD N. Y. CENTRAL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 26.—Leonor F. Loree, president of the Delaware and Hudson company, who threw a bombshell into railroad and financial circles yesterday by his announcement that his company had acquired a 10 per cent interest in the capital stock of the New York Central Railroad company, today denied reports that he would become chairman of the latter company and also to express confidence in the Central's management and the general business outlook, as well.

By the latter part of this year, when seasonal impetus is lent to industry as a whole by the crop movement, he felt that economic conditions will definitely begin the long upward climb toward improvement, unless some unforeseen and adverse developments intervene and cloud the outlook.

"I have the greatest confidence in the present management of Central," Mr. Loree said today.

PRICE NOT CHIEF NEWSPRINT WOE, SAYS TRADE CHIEF

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Que., Jan. 26.—H. H. Stevens, minister of trade and commerce for Canada, speaking at the annual convention of the Canadian Pulp and Paper association, today pointed out newsprint in 1914 was $38.80 a ton; today it was $43.40 and looked at as a ruinous price.

This, he said, is despite mergers, doubling of man production and other progressive steps aimed at a better financial return. He said something other than price was wrong with their industry and told them to get busy and find it.

Advises R. K. O. Receivers to Delay Taking Charge

Newark, N. J., Jan. 26.—(AP)—Merritt Lane, as counsel to receivers of Radio-Keith-Orpheum, today stated he had advised them not to take physical possession of its assets in this state until after Vice Chancellor Alfred A. Stein rules Tuesday on an order to show cause why the receivership should not be made permanent.

COURT NAMES RECEIVERS FOR PARAMOUNT CO.

Corporation Agrees to Action.

New York, Jan. 26.—(AP)—Receivers in equity were appointed today for the Paramount-Publix corporations, largest company in the motion picture field. Difficulties resulting from high priced leases made during boom days are said to have been the background of the receivership.

ADOLPH ZUKOR.

The receivers named by Federal Judge William Bondy were Charles D. Hilles and Adolph Zukor. The action was taken upon the petition of the Broadway and Twentieth Properties, Inc., a California concern which is a creditor to the extent of $29,166.

Attorneys for Paramount-Publix agreed to the receivership at a conference in Judge Bondy's chambers. In their answer they acknowledged allegations that the corporation lacked liquid assets to meet current obligations.

A joint bond of $50,000 was required of the receivers.

Assets Total $166,000,000.

The petitioning creditor set forth that the corporation has assets of great value, the holdings of the parent company and affiliates totaling more than $166,000,000.

In another action, Judge Bondy appointed the Irving Trust company as receiver in bankruptcy for one subsidiary, Publix Enterprises, Inc. This company filed a voluntary petition setting up liabilities of $41,214,407 and assets of $23,864,076.

Earlier an involuntary bankruptcy petition was filed in behalf of Reuben Gelford, I. Riseman and M. Yellou, holders of a total of $4,000 of Paramount's 5½ per cent bonds due in 1950.

It was alleged that the corporation, while insolvent on Dec. 10, 1932, "with intent to prefer M. E. Comerford above other and like creditors, transferred to the Comerford Theater properties of substantial value."

[This petition was filed with the United States District court clerk, the customary procedure. The second petition ignored the usual channels and was carried directly to Judge Bondy. A federal judge is empowered to receive such petitions.]

Subsidiaries Unaffected.

The Paramount-Publix directors met shortly after the receivers had been appointed and decided to support the new equity petition and to contest the bankruptcy move.

In a statement given out after the meeting the directors said that Paramount Productions, Inc., Paramount Pictures Distributing corporation, and Paramount International corporation, subsidiaries, "are not in any wise affected" by the receivership.

"The business of these producing and distributing subsidiaries is profitable," said the statement, "and they will continue to manufacture and distribute quality motion pictures under the same management and personnel as heretofore."

The directors, in their statement, said they had decided "in view of the corporation's inability to meet obligations presently outstanding and others shortly to mature" that "the interests of the creditors and security holders would best be served by the appointment of a receiver in equity."

"The corporation is not insolvent," said the statement, "and intends to contest the involuntary petition in bankruptcy which has been filed against it. . . .

Theater leasing difficulties are said to have been in the background of the receivership.

GENERAL TIRES' OPERATING NET TWICE 1932 TOTAL

General Tire and Rubber company's operating profit in 1932, before depreciation, interest and special reserves was $1,448,872.70, or more than twice the 1931 figure of $587,187.65. The company's operating profit for 1932, before special charges—$1,075,546.89—was more than four times the 1931 operating profit, before special charges—$262,503.77.

The company's ratio of current assets to current liabilities was increased from five to one in 1931 to more than seven to one in 1932, President William O'Neil's report showed.

Out of the company's net profits in 1932, $117,091.75 was paid out in common and preferred dividends.

Chicago Cash Grain Group Elects Officers

M. L. Vehon, who has headed the Chicago Cash Grain association for the last two years, was reelected, and J. F. Murphy of the Bartlett-Frazier company, was elected vice president and Frank Haines of J. H. Dole & Co. was reelected secretary. An entirely new set of directors was selected.

American Tobacco '32 Net Estimated at $40,000,000

Dow, Jones & Co. estimates American Tobacco company's 1932 earnings at $40,000,000 net after charges, or about $3 a share on the combined common and common B shares. This would compare with $56,183,385, or $9.07 a share, in 1931.

British, French Bankers Want Return to Gold

[Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, Jan. 26.—Prediction that the British pound eventually would be linked to gold was made today by Sir Harry Goschen, chairman of the National Provincial bank, to the shareholders.

"I am certain," he said, "that no move in the direction of stabilization should be attempted until such safeguards are devised as will, humanely speaking, prevent any recurrence of the events of 1931.

"I need hardly remind you that restoration of some stable international monetary standard is all important from the viewpoint of world trade."

Offers Advice to U. S.

On the latest invitation to a war debts conference in Washington, Sir Harry said:

"When the American people and congress can be cured of the excessive nationalism that makes them shut out other people's goods with a prohibitive tariff and compete with other people's shipping with vessels subsidized at the expense of the American taxpayer, and at the same time demand the payment of debts, a payment which they now make impossible, a new day will have dawned for America, her debtors, and her customers."

Sir Harry warned against upsetting the Lausanne settlement and putting the "financial relations of the European nations into the melting pot."

[Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.]

PARIS, Jan. 26.—Reestablishment of the world monetary system on a gold basis and progressive abolition of trade barriers through concerted international action were advocated today by Clement Moret, governor of the Bank of France. He made his annual report to the stockholders.

Throughout last year, M. Moret declared, the bank's constant effort had been exerted to maintain free play of the gold standard and stability of the franc. Though gold withdrawals from France have begun and France's total holdings of gold and exchange have diminished for the first time since 1928, this is in conformity with the workings of the gold standard and need not give rise to apprehension, in his opinion.

Recalls Big Gold Removals.

"You will remember," he said, "the Bank of France refrained from disposing of its holdings in dollars during the autumn of 1931 when the United States was obliged to face important withdrawals of foreign capital. Throughout this last year the bank has acted with the same prudence."

Of tariff walls, quotas, etc., he said: "Progressive abolition of these different obstacles constitutes the first condition to reestablished confidence. But any isolated attempt to accomplish this will be doomed to failure. On the eve of the conference at which economic and financial questions interesting to all nations equally must be discussed it appears more important than ever to recall that the remedy for the present difficulties cannot result from anything but concerted action by all countries."

PUBLIC SERVICE OF INDIANA PAYS DIVIDEND OF $1.50

Directors of the Public Service Company of Indiana have declared the regular quarterly dividend of $1.50 a share on the $6 cumulative preferred stock, payable Feb. 15 to stock of record Jan. 31. The company is a part of the Midland United company chain, formerly under Insull management. George F. Mitchell, president of the Peoples Gas company, has retired as a director of the company, it was announced yesterday.

RAWSON TO QUIT AS RECEIVER OF CITY RAILWAYS

Retains Post with First Nat'l Bank.

Frederick H. Rawson, chairman of the board of the First National bank, will resign today as receiver of the Chicago Railways company, owner of the north and west side street car lines, it was learned last evening. Mr. Rawson will submit his resignation to Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson.

Mr. Rawson has been in poor health since last August, and while he has improved recently, he intends to go to California soon for a rest. While he refused to discuss his resignation, it is understood that he feels that some one should replace him as receiver in order to keep in closer touch with traction affairs than he will be able to do during his absence. He will continue in his position at the First National bank.

Receiver Since 1927.

Judge Wilkerson, it is understood, has been told of Mr. Rawson's intention of resigning, and is expected to name his successor soon. He appointed Mr. Rawson one of the three receivers for the street car company when it went into a federal court receivership on Feb. 1, 1927.

Mr. Rawson is the only one of the three receivers who now survives. One of his associates, John J. Mitchell, the banker, was killed in an automobile accident in October, 1927, and the other, Henry A. Blair, president of the company, died Feb. 15, 1932. Neither of these vacancies was filled.

The Chicago Railways company went into receivership after it had been unable to retire its bonded debt, which matured on the day that the receivership proceedings were started.

Control in Four Companies.

The Chicago street cars have been operated for more than a decade under unified management as the Chicago Surface lines; the actual control rests in four different companies. The Chicago Railways company is the largest of these, receiving 60 per cent of the net operating income of the surface lines after payments into the city traction fund.

The traction unification ordinance of 1930 provides that the city shall issue a new franchise to the Chicago Local Transportation company whenever it obtains control of the surface and elevated railroad companies, but the merger negotiations are yet to be completed. Since 1927, when the old twenty year franchises of the street car companies expired, they have been operating on month to month permits granted by the city council.

SECORD TAKES OFFICE AS HEAD OF DRUGGISTS

George L. Secord was installed as president of the Chicago Retail Druggists' association last night at a meeting and entertainment held by the organization in Hotel Sherman. Other officers installed are Bernard Weinshenker, 1st vice president; Joseph Allegretti, 2d vice president; John Myers, 3d vice president; Herman J. Holthoefer, secretary, and Charles A. Storer, treasurer.

Directors of the association for the coming year, who also took office last night, are: O. U. Sisson, E. V. Seibert, William P. Knoche, J. H. Lindahl, L. T. Ford, J. Hrejsa, J. Antonello, W. A. Harris, and John Schwaba.

RAILS STRONGER, BUT MOST STOCKS DRIFT LOWER

Kreuger & Toll Trading Features Market.

BY FRED HARVEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 26.—Stock movements were draggy and uninteresting today. The carrier group made a show of moderate strength, but elsewhere the trend was toward easier levels. Turnover was a little heavier at 85,000 shares or thereabouts.

The more important news items of the day such as publication of the names of banks and insurance companies receiving help from the R. F. C. and announcement of the suspension of a half dozen members of the exchange for "tips" to employés of the exchange were passed up as being of no particular market significance. Strength in bonds was offset by moderate weakness in wheat.

Heavy Trade in Kreuger & Toll.

A feature of the earlier dealings was the unusually heavy turnover in the certificates of Kreuger & Toll, which are to be stricken from the trading list at the close of business next Monday. An initial sale of 40,000 units at an eighth of a point started things going. So lively did the pace keep up that transactions in the issue up to noon had accounted for nearly one-fourth of the market's total. Sales slowed down somewhat in the afternoon, but the turnover footed up to 153,400 at that, which gave the issue quite a whirl as trading goes these days. The run of liquidation cost the certificates just half of their remaining value, the price dropping from an eighth to a sixteenth of a point.

Tobacco shares exerted an unsettling influence, particularly the American Tobacco issues which were under weight of popular disappointment over the company's failure to declare the usual $1 extra dividend at its board meeting yesterday. Both classes of the stock yielded a point on the first sale and the B shares later gave up nearly 3 points additional. The recent slash in cigarette prices was blamed for the "conservatism" shown by the board. Liggett & Myers issues were also under considerable pressure.

Another conspicuously weak group was the alcohol stocks. Reports of an impending price cut and the unseasonably warm weather of the past few days counted against them.

Montgomery Ward Rises.

An individual feature was the brisk trading in Montgomery Ward shares. The bulk of demand in this big mail order issue was said to be originating in Chicago and was ascribed to anticipation of a comparatively good showing in the company's earnings for the last quarter of the old year. The issue closed at 14¼, up ⅜.

Activity in the carrier group was featured by buying in New York Central, which bounded ahead for more than a point before it ran into profit-taking. Delaware & Hudson, which figured in yesterday's news so prominently owing to its acquisition of a substantial interest in Central, was under further pressure, however, and gave up nearly another point.

Pivotal issues such as American Can, American Telephone, Case, and the like held within a narrow range but the close found most of them selling below yesterday's final prices.

ATTACKS CURBS ON INVESTMENT IN GLASS BILL

New York, Jan. 26.—(AP)—Savings banks and insurance companies were called on by Francis H. Sisson, president of the American Bankers' association, tonight to oppose the investment restrictions in the Glass banking bill.

Describing the proposed restrictions as "both novel and highly experimental," Sisson told the eastern regional savings conference that their effect would be "to renounce investment banking rather than regulate it."

"The serving of the long term capital market is by its very nature intimately related with the short term capital market," he said, "and it seems to me highly unwise and dangerous to try to divorce them by legislative fiat.

"If investment banking in some of its phases has not been infallible in the past, it should be regulated; but nothing is to be gained by wrecking so vital a part of our economic machinery."

COTTON SUPPORT LIGHT; PRICES AVERAGE LOWER

Cotton markets were up slightly at the start because of steadiness in Liverpool cables and a fair run of buying orders. Prices had a moderate rally but ran into selling orders, which caused a recession and the finish was easy. Net losses on futures in Chicago was 3@5 points, and other markets were off 4@8 points. Spots declined 5 points in New York to 6.20c; New Orleans and Galveston, 6.05c, and Houston, 6.00c. Liverpool closed unchanged to 2d higher. In the late afternoon trade was especially light.

Liverpool was a moderate seller. Cooperative brokers bought December, while there was scattered outside liquidation by holders of March contracts, their offers being absorbed by large spot houses. Switching of trades from March to December was a feature, the spread being 58 points.

The trade is kept nervous by legislative developments at Washington, which tend to restrict large operations of a speculative character. Exports are running ahead of last year. Weather through the south was unsettled. Prices follow:

HOGS RECOVER LOSS SUSTAINED SINCE MONDAY

Top Sales Equal Highest Since November.

The hog market yesterday underwent a complete change and recovered all the losses registered since Monday. Th rally improved the position of prices 5@15c in the various classes, with top sales equaling the highest marks since Nov. 28. Fancy 170@200 lb averages advanced the top 15c to $3.50, while the general average came up 10c to $3.25. The market was not lacking in support, notwithstanding the sluggish condition of the wholesale trade.

Buyers showed their eagerness for numbers right from the start, with large local houses pressing hard in the better grades for a good quota of "quality" offerings, which are not as plentiful as they were a few weeks ago. Stock to sell at $3.25 and above came in for the biggest price gains, particularly those weighing 250 lbs and under. Extreme weights and packing sows advanced the least.

Weather conditions have been against the pork trade, and packers have frozen much of the surplus that accumulated in an effort to avert further declines in the wholesale trade.

Cattle Slightly Higher.

Yesterday's 5,000 cattle found a slightly improved market. Business in the extreme weights dragged again, but better action featured the medium and lightweights, with spots slightly higher. Five yearling steers averaging 933 lbs sold at $7.00, while the top for load lots stopped at $6.85, this price fetching 1,040 lb averages. Few exceeding 1,200 lbs in weight sold above $5.00, while the majority of the 1,300@1,700 lb averages continued to drag at $3.75@4.50, the lowest levels in the memory of most traders.

Late Wednesday a load of 1,905 lb steers cashed at $3.65. Most steers and yearlings averaging under 1,100 lbs are closing strong to 25c higher than a week ago. Heavy beef cattle show losses of 25@40c since a week ago. Cows and heifers enjoyed a little more action and in places sold slightly higher yesterday. Big weights are steady with a week ago.

Lambs Decline Again.

Influenced by a lower wholesale market yesterday, lamb prices fell mostly 25c, showing 75c@$1.00 decline in two days. Most slaughter lambs brought $5.50@5.85 to packers, a few to city butchers and shippers reaching $5.90. Heavy lambs cashed slowly around the $5.00 line. From the highest point in two months early this week prices have dropped to the lowest level since middle of December. Some heavy lambs hit a new low for the winter.

CASH LARD DELIVERED ON SALES FOR JANUARY

Deliveries of 200,000 lbs of cash lard on January trades were made early a. redelivered, causing an unsettled market for a time with a weak undertone despite higher prices for hogs. There was moderate trade in deferred futures, but the undertone was weak. January closed 10c lower and more deferred delliveries were off 2½c for the day. Cash lard was $3.87½ for regular, with loose $3.30 and leaf $3.25. Exports of lard were 71,500 lbs. Liverpool was 8d lower on spots and unchanged to 3d lower on futures. Cash lard trade was light and there was very little business on in dry salted meats, bellies holding at $3.87½. There was no future trading in bellies.

Court Orders H. L. Clarke to Appear in Bankrupt Suit

Referee in Bankruptcy Garfield Charles yesterday ordered Harley L. Clarke, public utilities official, to appear Feb. 11 for examination in regard to a debt of $39,000 to the Power Door company, a bankrupt concern. Charles was informed by Frank R. Leonard, counsel for the trustee, that Clarke owes that sum on the purchase of $94,000 worth of the stock of the company. Leonard said he has already instituted a suit in the Municipal court for the collection of the debt.
